can be leased by anyone interested in carrying on the work there.
Mr. Orr said that he had samples of the ore found at the mine and that he would welcome inquiries of any parties interested in the organization of a company to prospect in the Black Mountain mine. "I have several samples at my home and I have a man working at the mine for others, if you are interested, please see me," Mr. Orr declared.
An expert mineralogist is to be called to inspect the mine to see if the modern methods will enable prospectors to get the gold from the Hornblaine rock, in the immediate future.

BREVARD WOMEN TO ATTEND D.A.R. MEET

oration of the first president, on whom an address will be made by Mrs. E. L. McKee, of Sylva, first woman state senator. She will be introduced by Dr. Alice M. Baldwin, dean of women at Duke university.
Gov. O. Max Gardner will be the main speaker on the opening night's program. Invited to bring greetings are Dr. W. P. Few, president of Duke university; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; and Henry L. Steves, of Warsaw, national American Legion commander. A reception will follow, given by the hostess chapter.
After an executive board meeting and luncheon Tuesday morning, the conference will be opened at 2:30 that afternoon, followed by a drive through Duke university and a tea at the Woman's Union given by the university. The next afternoon there will be a drive through the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, with a tea at the home of President Graham and his sister, Mrs. Kate Graham.
Breakfast conferences will be held Wednesday, with business sessions during the day. At a noon memorial service, special tribute will be paid to the late Miss Lida T. Rodman, of Washington, past state regent. Committee reports and reports of officers will feature the morning session, and election of a new recording secretary, registrar and librarian will feature the afternoon meeting.
The chief speaker Wednesday night will be Senator Cameron Morrison, state president of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mrs. Ralph Van Landingham, of Charlotte, vice president general and chairman of the patriotic education committee, will speak on patriotic education and show lantern slides of Crossroads school. An address on Crossroads will be made by the school president, McCoy Franklin.
An appropriate musical program has been arranged, under the direction of Mrs. Cheek, for presentation at various intervals during the three-day conference. It is expected that the gathering will be one of the most interesting in the history of the patriotic society.

BLUE DEVILS SHOW BIG IMPROVEMENT
Coach Tilson's Blue Devils quintet has been improving steadily with its basketball prowess and the games held during the past few days, which are probably the last of the season revealed a much better form than was exhibited during the early games.
The Blue Devils defeated the Mills River team, Brevard All-Stars and Valley Hill during the past week in splendid manner.
Miss Macfie's girl's team trampled through the Fassifern girl's team for unusual wins in two games, one at Fassifern and one on the local court. They also defeated Mills River and Valley Hill during the week.

FOR SALE—at sacrifice: Child's iron bed, dining room table, chairs, Mission living room furniture, ice box, kitchen table, breakfast table and chairs, cooking utensils. Must be sold by March 7th. Dr. J. F. Zachary, Maple Street.

GIRL SCOUT CAMP IS PLAN OF LEADERS

At a meeting of workers in the Girl Scout movement held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. L. Newland, plans were formulated for a Scout encampment this summer for the girls in this county who are members of the organization.
Plans now call for the camp to last ten days to two weeks with competent leaders, nurse and physician in attendance. At this encampment the Girl Scout activities pertaining to outdoor life will be taught and other merit badge requirements covered. Miss Bertie Ballard will be in charge of the camp, together with her several assistants.
At present there are 48 Scouts in the county, with troops at Brevard and Pendose. Hundred per cent attendance of the Scouts is being sought by the leaders. This will necessitate a large expense, leaders say, but they are going forward with plans, believing that there will be community cooperation shown that will enable them to carry on.
Scout leaders are Mrs. Hinton McLeod, Mrs. Ina Rustin, Miss Fleeto Freeman, Miss Bill Aiken, Miss Ethel McMinn, Miss Lillian Jenkins, with Miss Bertie Ballard as associate leader. Members of the community committee are Miss Jeannette Talley, Mrs. C. L. Newland, Mrs. Carl McCrary and Mrs. S. R. Jones. Committee in charge of arrangements for the encampment are Mrs. McCrary, Miss Aiken and Mrs. Jones.

POSTER CONCERN IS FORCED TO PAY UP

At the beginning of the fiscal year for the Town of Brevard, on July 1, 1931, there was a deficit of $61,000.00. By dint of conservative government and much sweating of blood, the Town Fathers managed to reduce this deficit by several thousand dollars at Feb. 1, 1932, making the deficit be only $58,712.50. Last Saturday morning Chief Freeman and Mayor Ramsey, with the assistance of a bill poster, managed to take off $19.85, leaving to total deficit standing at $58,692.65.
It seemed that an out of town bill posting concern had been smearing up the local scenery with beautiful and appropriate signs depicting "they satisfy," "I'd walk a mile—," etc. for a period of three years, and it was very evident that this same out of town bill posting concern had no intention of paying the Town of Brevard any privilege tax, as is the custom with all other concerns, both home folks and out of towners.
Numerous requests had been made to the bill poster by City Clerk Harry Patton that he remit the usual $5.00 per year license fee required under the town ordinance for one operating such business in the corporate limits of the best town in the world, but these requests were either forgotten or ignored.
Came a whisper to the powers that be last Saturday morning that a new cover was being put on the bill boards on North Caldwell street, and forthwith Chief Freeman ambled down that way and came back to the mayor's office with a gentleman of color who was doing the work.
Next step was to call the manager of the concern and tell him something like this: "This is the mayor of Brevard speaking. We have your man here and are holding him until such time as we receive fifteen dollars to cover a three year license for bill posting, and four dollars and eighty-five cents for costs in the case." The unfortunate man is the case was lodged in the jail for a short while to await the royal decree of CASH which would release him.
In less than half an hour, Ralph Duckworth, of the house of service, The Transylvania Trust company, called the mayor's office and said: "We are crediting the Town of Brevard's account with $19.85, from Mr. . . ."
And thus was the deficit cut.

STACEY WADE OUT FOR COMMISSIONER

Stacey W. Wade, former State Insurance Commissioner, has declared he is in the race for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State in the June Primary.
A native of Carteret County, Mr. Wade was twice elected as State Insurance Commissioner. He resigned in 1927 to devote himself to private business. He has made his home in Raleigh and Durham for many years.
"I have lost none of my faith in North Carolina," Mr. Wade declares. "We have been hard hit by the depression, but we shall come out of it as we have come out of others in our history, and we shall achieve even greater things than we did in the past. North Carolinians have lost none of the heroism that have carried them through vicissitudes and misfortunes."
Mr. Wade called attention to the fact that few states have as diversified resources as North Carolina and none of them a greater history. North Carolina has been to the front in every war, he explained, and in peace they have done their full share toward making this the greatest nation in the world today.
Raleigh, Mar. 2.—North Carolina's highway system and park roads can be put in excellent shape with the aid of the $132,500,000 emergency appropriation in the Lindsey Warren bill now apparently sure of passage in Congress, Chairman E. B. Jeffress states.

HOPE ENTERTAINED THAT OFFICES WILL REMAIN IN BREVARD

ices, it was also voted by the commissioners, would be furnished free in the court house.
It is the belief of the citizens who have been in communication with officials of the highway department that this will be the permanent location of headquarters. Chairman Jeffress has not as yet made public announcement as to his decision in the matter.
Much road work has been done by the highway commission since last July, and citizens generally have been loud in their praise of the cooperation given Transylvania by Chairman Walker and his department.
Raleigh, March 2.—Presentments against eight Wake county magistrates have been made by the Wake grand jury, charging irregularities and laxness in the conduct of their offices, following several days of hearings of magistrates the past week. The presentments were sealed and indictments will not be issued by Solicitor J. C. Little until another meeting of the grand jury March 7, the names of the eight magistrates meanwhile remaining secret.

RALEIGH OFFICIALS AT ENON MEETING

Col. J. W. Harrelson, director of the Department of Conservation and Development, and C. H. England, State Game Warden, were in Brevard Wednesday evening, meeting with the citizens of the county in efforts being made to establish a game preserve. The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Enon school house, and a large number of citizens attended. Plans were discussed for establishing the preserve embracing large boundaries on both sides of the French Broad river. As the meeting was being held during the evening, The Brevard News is not able to give details of the gathering in this issue, the paper being on press at the same time the meeting was being held.
The state officials met with several citizens of Brevard Wednesday afternoon, and talked interestingly of the great work being done by the state in protecting game and fish. T. G. Miller, with assistance of other citizens, planned the meeting.

The Cabinet

It Plays An Important Part And Is Truly The Backbone Of Proper Refrigeration

Would you install an excellent 16 cylinder motor in a delapidated carriage? Of course not—neither would you handicap good refrigeration mechanism by installing it in a poor cabinet.

Kelvinator's cabinet division has been operating since 1881, 51 years—During this time they have learned how to produce cabinets combining attractiveness and long life. Gracefulness and refinement of designs makes Kelvinator an added attraction in your home. Highest quality materials and sturdy construction makes Kelvinator a life time investment. The same care of design and construction is found in the cabinet as in the mechanism that cools the cabinet.
