LOYALTY TO TRANSYLVANIA
CITIZENS MARKED HERE.

This county has gained some reputation as containing some pretty hard fighters in local affairs. In fact, some people have declared that there is too much spirit of this kind here. But be that as it may, and we're not saying these critics are right or wrong, there is one fine spirit always in evidence in this good little old county.

It matters not how hard one group here may fight another over local affairs, when it comes to a Transylvania county man against the outside world, every man here will line up immediately for the local man. We have witnessed this splendid manifestation of fine citizenship on many occasions.

Just now we are thinking of the splendid work being done by the county's citizens for the selection of Lewis P. Hamlin for District Attorney to fill the place made vacant by Charles A. Jonas, rejected by the United States Senate. Without any thought of past political alignments of local nature, the men and women have lined up behind Mr. Hamlin in most splendid manner. The local bar association, whose president, Wm. E. Breese, is chairman of the opposite political party to which Mr. Hamlin belongs, is doing great service for Hamlin in his efforts to obtain the coveted place.

It is characteristic of this community to stand for a Transylvania county man when he goes up against the outside world, and it is a mighty fine community trait.

OUR OLD FRIENDS ARE BEING CALLED HOME.

And now Uncle Jasper Orr is gone. We have recorded the news of the passing of so many friends during the past few years that much of the joy in publishing a newspaper has been removed. The death rate among our older citizens—men and women who have had all to do with the making of our community—has been especially high of recent time. We know, of course, when men and women reach the ripe old age of three score and ten, twenty, thirty, that their places over there have long been prepared for them and their friends on the other side have been patiently awaiting their coming.

Yet we sorrow at their going. They have meant so much to the community that something seems to have been taken out of our life when they leave us.

Look on every side, and one sees the evidences of the active life and loyal work of Uncle Jasper Orr. The same is true of the life and work of all others of the older group who have laid down the working tools of life as they were called from labor to eternal refreshment.

We who are younger look upon the passing of the older citizens with sorrow and regret. We forget, it seems, that with each passing year we, too, are growing older, and ere we know it the time comes when another generation will be looking upon us as the older citizens, standing by, awaiting the summons to come to us even as that summons is now calling so many of our beloved citizens into the New Land.

May we not improve our time and opportunity while the years go by? Can we not look into the face of enfeebled age and see therein the reflection of our own faces as they shall appear ere we are aware of its nearness? The long shadows of age that have cast their long lines down the pathway of our old friends will soon be falling across ours.

What are we doing? Are we spending our time in personal improvement, as so many of our older friends have done, so as to be ready when the call comes to receive the sweetest of all benedictions in the whispering voice of angelic tone: "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord"? Or do we waste the golden opportunities as we indulge in trifles, in discord, in hatred, envy, jealousy, spite?

Uncle Jasper Orr is gone. Soon, very soon, it will be You, and You, and You—the warning comes to us.

B. Y. P. U. COURSE IS MOST SUCCESSFUL

The B. Y. P. U. study course which was held at the Baptist church during the week of March 21, through 25, was entirely successful, according to Ralph Ramsey, director of the B. Y. P. U. work.

Ramsey said that 50 persons completed the study course during the week.

The instructor for Seniors union was Rev. Paul Hartsell; for the Intermediates, Mr. Ramsey, and for the Juniors, Miss Marjorie Garren.

PROF. BUSH WRITES LETTER OF INTEREST

Dear Patron of the Rosman School:—With the spirit of friendliness which has characterized our every transaction with you we are again calling your attention to some of our pupils who are not studying hard enough. Students do not have sufficient time to adequately prepare their lessons at school. Home work must be done in every subject to insure satisfactory marks. If the promotion of your child is in grave danger please require your child to study more at home. If your child has failed to make the passing mark on any subject this may be due to a lack of study, or too many outside engagements, irregularities in attendance, or to some cause which may be removed. I suggest that you talk this matter over with your child. The teacher will be glad to give the child make-up work at any time to help pull him up to passing grade.

You have done well to bear the expense of your children's schooling this year. You are to be congratulated. We have one more month of school. I hope that you can send your child to school every day this last month. For commencement I hope you will be as economical as you can insofar as clothing is concerned. Let your children wear the clothing which they already have to commencement. It has been hard on you to send your children to school this year, and we have done our best in every instance to make situations which were conducive to your child's learning.

You have given us your hearty cooperation, for which we thank you; with your continued loyalty to the school there is no reason why we cannot have a good commencement—being a successful school year.

G. C. BUSH, Principal.

WITH THE COUNTY'S
COLORED PEOPLE

(BY J. M. HARRIS)

CHURCHES

Easter was a high day among the colored churches. All rendered Easter programs.

SCHOOLS

The schools are now looking toward closing exercises. At Rosenwald school, Brevard, Tuesday night, April 21, the first through the sixth grades will hold their exercises. On Thursday night, April 21, the seventh through the ninth grades will hold their exercise.

MAXWELL HERE TONIGHT

W. C. Maxwell, of Greenville, S. C., noted lecturer, magic and picture show man will give his magic and moving picture show at the Rosenwald school tonight.

CIGARS AND FUR COATS

Some colored people must change their way of thinking and living.

If the colored people of this country are to escape starvation and rise out of poverty into comfort and ease, they must change their way of thinking and living.

Not long ago a young colored man was seen in an office looking for a job. He was well bedecked with jewelry and fine clothes, and while waiting for his turn smoked several high priced cigars.

A young colored lady on the same errand was all diked up in a fur coat that cost into the tens of dollars, and while waiting in the employment office all of her talk was about new hats and spring coats.

Think of this type of young man and woman in a poverty stricken group.

This undesirable attitude toward life results in bad outcomes for the race. Colored people must learn to THINK.

WAYS RESIGNS

Raleigh, March 30.—Rev. Warren W. Way, for 14 years rector of St. Mary's school, Raleigh, the largest Episcopal school for girls in the United States, has resigned to re-enter parochial work, his resignation, accepted by the trustees, becoming effective after the present school year. No successor has yet been named.

Keep Your

On This Spot

Each week there will appear in this corner of the Editorial Page of The Brevard News a little message that will interest you.

THIS WEEK

We want to call your attention to the fact that YOU live in Brevard—Of course you knew that all along—or did you?

There are people here who STAY in Brevard and LIVE in other towns—In which class are YOU?
