nesday, April 13, when, string music, speeches and debates will feature the program. At this time Prof. Glazener will announce the outlined program of work and the committees in question.

A large number of farmers placed orders with Prof. Glazener Wednesday evening for Lespedeza seed. Mr. Glazener declared to the Brevard News that ten acres of Lespedeza seed are being planted this year in Transylvania county to every acre that was planted in 1930, that ratio being even greater in Little River township.

Some suggestions for the women to work on in the townships.

1. Encourage the Live-at-Home program in each community by

a. Better gardens and over a longer period of time, also try a few new vegetables.

b. Wherever possible let each woman start with one or two settings of eggs and of the adopted breeds, which are Barred Rocks and White Leghorns.

c. Each woman is encouraged to keep records on her garden and poultry as these records will help to reveal the true value of home garden and chickens.

d. Work to have more home conveniences.

2. Try to organize a woman's club in each community to study and do home demonstration work.

3. Establish reading circles, in order to get more good books, magazines to read in the homes.

4. Assist the rural teachers in getting speakers for the health week and the putting on of a good health program for the public.

5. Encourage the housewives to can and dry fruits and vegetables enough to at least supply the family needs for winter.

6. Encourage the grading of all vegetables and other products offered for sale. This will make selling easier and the demand for grade products will increase.

7. When possible and practical insist on home produced products from our merchants. They will have to supply demand therefore let the women create the demand for home grown products.

8. The women should assist in trying to double the value of our livestock and other farm products. In butter fat we should strive to reach the average for the regions.

9. Encourage the improvement, care and protection of public property such as our rural school buildings and grounds. Strive to create a school ground beautification campaign.

10. Each township to organize, elect officers, committees and make out a program of work to suit that particular community, yet in keeping with the county program. Elect delegates to the county convention or general meeting to be held in Brevard every three months. These delegates to report the community program, the progress made and the outstanding needs. An arrangement of this kind would enable the representatives to the Regional council in Asheville to give a true report of the progress and needs of the entire county.

March 30th, 1932.

The Auto Sales Company,
Brevard, N. C.

Dear Mr. Smathers:-

For the past several years I have been owning and driving Chevrolet cars. I am now driving my sixth Chevrolet, having bought new cars each time. I have used them for pleasure and business cars and have found that the Chevrolet will stand up to the severest test, giving the most economical and satisfactory service of any car on the market in the price range.

In purchasing my next car there will be no hesitancy in making up my mind as to what make of car to buy—it will be a Chevrolet.

With best regards to you and best wishes for the success of the Chevrolet car, I am

Very truly yours,

FRED JOHNSON.
