

DR. C. E. CUNNINGHAM DR. ANDREW J. LYDAY
AND C. L. NEWLAND WAS COUNTY'S GREAT
HEADING MOVEMENT PIONEER PHYSICIAN

county. Dr. W. M. Lyday immediately announced, when informed of the desire to dedicate the hospital to the memory of his father, that he would equip and furnish a ward to contain some half dozen beds. Indications have been made that other citizens, and groups and organizations would be glad to furnish a room in the hospital.

Four generations of Lydays have served humanity in the medical profession. The old pioneer, Dr. Andrew J. Lyday, his sons, grandsons and great grandsons, have been and are now practicing medicine. Dr. W. M. Lyday is now one of the outstanding physicians of the county; death removed a few years ago Dr. Ell Lyday, a brother, who was one of the best loved men of his day. Naming the new hospital "The Lyday Memorial Hospital," in commemoration of the great work done by the old pioneer and his descendants, is pronounced by all citizens to be one of the most beautiful tributes ever paid a citizen of the mountain section.

With all the summer camps in operation here, and with the hundreds and thousands of summer visitors, added to the county's fine citizenship, the community's greatest need is that of a well organized and operated hospital. Announcements that this need is to be filled will prove most interesting and pleasing to all citizens of the county.

of him that he was not only physician for physical ills, but was the adviser to the families in whatever their troubles might be. Of course there were no hospitals, and the doctor had to go to the homes of the sufferers, where he diagnosed the case, wrote the prescription and filled it himself from his supply of drugs and medicines which he carried with him. His stock was replenished at stated intervals in the wholesale drug stores of Greenville, S. C.

Dr. Andrew Lyday performed the first operation in this section with the method which was then new, that is by giving anaesthetic. It was a thigh amputation, and created tremendous discussion at the time. As physician, friend and citizen, Dr. Lyday's life left its imprint upon this whole section. His life was so interwoven and intertwined with the people of his day, that his influence is to this day felt throughout the community in which he lived and labored and loved.

The great good of his life's work was not the only heritage left by Dr. Andrew Lyday. He left a fine family whose influence has grown into a tremendous factor for good over a large part of the country. In 1859 he married Miss Elizabeth L. Clayton, and to them twelve children were born—six sons and six daughters. Three of the daughters and all six sons are still living, and in addition to these sons and daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Lyday, there are 63 grandchildren, 76 great-grandchildren and 18 great-great-grandchildren.

In this mad age of speed, jazz and discontent, impatience, rivalry, envy and restlessness, the citizens who settled this great mountain region, and established here the civilization which should be enjoyed by the present generation, there would be, it is safe to assume, more thorough appreciation of the manifold conveniences at the beck and call of all the citizenship. Dr. Andrew J. Lyday, and all the men and women of his day and generation served for the sake of service itself. They faced great obstacles and overcame tremendous handicaps and fought through great difficulties. Life, to men like Dr. Lyday, was to serve. Death came to him while in actual service, attending the sick. It was a great life—likewise it was a great death, to step from his actual duties here across the River that leads to eternal rest which this county's first physician had so richly earned.

WOMAN'S BUREAU TO SUPERVISE WORK

Plans were perfected for beautifying and improving the vacant lot at corner of Caldwell and Jordan streets and other glaring spots of the town, by the ladies of the Woman's Bureau when members of that organization met at the Chamber of Commerce room, Monday afternoon in regular monthly session. Work is expected to start in the near future with Mrs. C. E. Orr chairman of the vacant lot beautification committee and her co-workers, Mrs. Wm. McK. Fetzer, Mrs. C. C. Yongue, Mrs. J. C. Wike and Mrs. Oliver Orr in charge. The Bureau plans to operate an exchange bazaar during the summer months, Mrs. B. F. Beasley being chairman of the committee leading the work. It is planned for ladies of the Bureau to furnish the articles for sale; the Bureau getting 10 per cent and the contributor the remainder. The exchange sale is open to all the ladies of the town.

The Bench committee including, Mrs. W. E. Breese, Mrs. C. E. Orr and Mrs. Roy Long was requested to investigate the matter of placing benches along the business streets of the town for the benefit of tourists, benches to be made by local carpenters.

After the business session, Mrs. Roy Long read one of Edgar Guest's poems, "In A Garden."

Lucky Fisherman With 9 Fine Trout

Jess A. Galloway, above, Transylvania county register of deeds, won a prize that many fishermen dream of last week when he caught nine speckled trout beauties in a mountain stream near Brevard.

Laurels for fishing prowess go to Jess A. Galloway, Transylvania county register of deeds, who Thursday afternoon crowned himself with glory when he caught nine speckled trout beauties in a fisherman's paradise near Brevard, totaling 111-2 pounds.

Six of the trout were 17 inches in length while one was 13 inches long and two were 12 inches in length. It is believed that the fish were three years old.

Mr. Galloway, an ardent and skilled fisherman, landed the nine prizes within one hour and a half from the moment he first dropped his hook. The nine specimens were perfect examples of a fisherman's dreams and Mr. Galloway explained that there were many more in the streams, where he caught the prizes, yearning for a hook to bite.

The mountain streams in Transylvania county abound with such fish, and although it is unusual for speckled trout to reach 17 inches, fishermen this year believe them to be greater size than usual in the local streams.

Mr. Galloway, register of deeds here for the past term has announced his candidacy for reelection. He spends his leisure time wading the mountain waters, fishing for such prizes as he caught Thursday.

Since the fishing season opened April 15, the streams of Transylvania county have given up a very small percentage of the fish within them although a large number of local and visiting fishermen enjoy their favorite sport each day.

A large number of fishermen have reported large catches and it is the general opinion among fishing circles that the water prizes are running in unusually large numbers and of greater size this year than ever before.

Such veteran fishermen as J. W. Smith, Brevard barber, and the three Simpson brothers, George, Orville and Leonard, of the Simpson barber shop, Claude Glazener, of Rosman, and "Doc" Galloway report prize catches for the early season.

should not extend the time. In my opinion, it may be best for the financial condition of the county to proceed with the sale on the first Monday in June, but after talking with a large number of the citizens of the county and being well aware of the financial condition of the county, I believe it would be for the best interest of the people of the county to extend the time, as there is no money in the county at present. I am therefore going to assume the responsibility and advise the Board under the present conditions to extend the time.

If the President of the United States and his Advisors by and with the consent of Congress see it proper to extend the time for Germany and other debtors of the United States to have an extension of time in the payment of their debts to the United States and to give said debtors a Moratorium, I think that an extension of time would also be beneficial to the citizens of this county. Yours truly, W. E. BREESE, County Attorney

PROPERTY NOT TO BE ADVERTISED UNTIL NEXT FIRST MONDAY

A letter to the Board from W. E. Breese, County attorney was read, in which he suggested that the tax sales be postponed.

The letter read: Board of Commissioners Transylvania County Brevard, N. C. Gentlemen:

In reference to extending the time for advertising property for delinquent taxes, I will say as follows: I have written to the Attorney General and he gives me no definite answer but says that it is my duty to advise the County Commissioners as to what they should do in the premises, but he adds that the next legislature can validate any sale that is continued, as same has been done in the past. Mr. Chas. M. Johnson of the Local Self Government Commission says we

The Industrial committee led by Mayor Ralph Ramsey was instructed to confer with Hendersonville Chamber of Commerce officials to work out plans whereby the two organizations might work together for the welfare of both towns.

The road committee led by Duncan MacDougald was instructed to lead the work in regard to repairing the golf course.

The tourist committee with John W. Smith as chairman was instructed to hold a meeting and have a discussion of all plans suggested at the mass meeting and work out plans for the development of them.

A. H. Kizer, county accountant and one of the most enthusiastic citizens at the meeting suggested a plan that may be developed into a plan of action to bring countless tourists to this county. Mr. Kizer believes that if two men were to make a tour of several of the larger cities of Eastern America, talking camp that a large number of people could be induced to spend their summer's here. He said that if the campers were enrolled at the local camps, their parents would follow and spend their summers in the county also.

It was also suggested that the Post Card day be held again this season and that the members be encouraged to send ten each.

By popular consent it was voted to hold a second mass meeting Friday May 7 at the court house and all citizens interested in the welfare of this town and Transylvania county are urged to be present.
