

CARR LUMBER CO. MAKING BIG OFFER

Announcement made by the Carr Lumber company in this newspaper today should prove of great interest to all farmers in Western Carolina who need to build new barns, cribs or houses where rough lumber will answer the purpose. Or it may be repairs and additions that are needed. The big lumber company at Pisgah Forest is offering lumber at $6 and $8 per thousand feet, at Pisgah Forest and it goes without saying that many people will take advantage of this offer. It provides lumber for needed buildings and repairs at such low prices that almost anyone can now obtain the necessary material for their needs.

The condition of L. A. Singletary and Mrs. Rebecca Glenn continues improved, according to reports received from hospital authorities on Wednesday.

REV. W. WEST HEARD AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Walter West, pastor of the Albemarle Methodist church and son of Rev. J. H. West, filled his father's pulpit at the Brevard Methodist church, Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. West preached on the 13th chapter of I Cor. choosing as his text, "Now abideth Faith, Hope and Love, but the greatest of these is Love."

HICKORY NUT GAP OF YESTERDAY

By REV. IRA C. SWANMAN

"Oft in the stilly night
Ere slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond Memory brings the
Of other days around me."

These beautiful lines of Sir Thomas Moore have a perennial charm that will forever keep them alive in the affections of lovers of poetry, but from time to time they acquire a special meaning for the individual, as in our own case a veritable flood of pleasurable thoughts surge o'er us, when, in The Tribune, we see from time to time little items about friends and scenes in Hickory Nut Gap, for so long a time our "stamping ground."

While still a student in the theological seminary it was my blessed privilege to minister, during the summer months, to several little flocks in Polk, Rutherford, and Henderson, but for the present we shall confine our remarks to events that centered around Bat Cave, near which place was located the quaint little Chapel of the Transfiguration. In the year 1914 this place of worship was located some distance above the confluence of Grassy Creek and Broad River, (we believe this bit of geography is correct), at the first big bend in the road, and on the quiet Sabbath evenings that characterized the period preceding the general use of automobiles, thither resorted a goodly company of men and matrons, boys and girls, and of the latter may we speak particularly for many of them came from near by Camp Minnehaha, adding that urban touch that contributed so much towards making the rustic edifice what Isaiah envisioned when he wrote, "My house shall be called a house of prayer for all people."

These lovely young ladies from The Camp were firmly imbued with the good old doctrine that "handsome is as handsome does" and, in consequence, assume the always arduous task of keeping the church building presentable, and they frequently decorated the chancel with woodland flowers and trailing vines, artistically arranged in such manner as to create the impression that one was in an exquisitely beautiful sylvan cathedral. The foliage just spoken of was, of course, placed well above the head of the regular "preacher," but one Sunday—horror of horrors!—a tall visiting clergyman unexpectedly put in his appearance, a man whose stature exceeded beyond measure that of the regular "supply, and—yes, you have guessed correctly, hirsute ornamentation was at a premium, which is to say, he was somewhat bald, quite somewhat, in fact—and, of course, the inevitable happened. As he stood there preaching beneath the trailing arbutus (or whatever it was) a tiny little tendril trailed down just far enough to simulate the effect of a hungry fly making a perfect "three point" landing. No record was kept of the number of times the reverend brother "swatted" that imaginary "fly" but, as the little boy said, "It was pretty plenty." Nevertheless, the congregation displayed marvelous courage and fortitude, repressing all desire to giggle or smile, and nothing untoward on its part occurred to mar the dignity of the service.

Perhaps our readers, at least some of them, have been wondering why no credit has been given Miss So and So for her faithful services as organist, but there was no Miss So and So at the organ; our organist was a man, none other than Mr. "Chat" Valentine, engineer in charge of the old Hickory Nut road, which was then in process of construction, and let it be said that Mr. Valentine's presence conferred a double blessing, for not only did he furnish splendid music, but, as he himself said, his charming wife and all the little Valentines constituted quite a sizeable congregation in themselves.

Much water has passed over the great wheel of Time since that beautiful summer of 1914 but nothing can efface the happy recollections of those simple but beautiful services held at close of day in that hallowed spot, and even now in Memory's ear we seem to catch the echo of the vesper hymn, and he hear the sweet voiced children, the venerable ancients, the young men and maidens,

PENROSE TAKES GAME FROM ROSMAN SATURDAY

Saturday was the day for Penrose to tramp on Rosman for a league victory in the score of 7-4 on the Penrose field. Rosman pitcher, White, was out and Penrose catcher, Hamlin, also had vacated. Penrose took advantage of some of Staton's wild pitches and by other means after the second inning gained and held a lead to win. Williams for Penrose struck out 12 and Staton for Rosman 10. Penrose had seven hits to Rosman 11. C. Fisher and R. Fisher Rosman, had two-base hits and Paxton a triple. Penrose made two errors to Rosmans one. In all it was one of our most interesting games.

Score by innings:
Penrose 002 010 13x—7 7 2
Rosman 100 100 002—4 11 1
Penrose field Saturday.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT ENON STARTED SUNDAY

Revival services began Sunday night at Enon and were going good Monday night. Rev. Bragg, pastor, is doing the preaching. Already there have been several professions and two additions to the church. There is good interest and attendance.

At the morning service Sunday, delegates were appointed to the association to be held at Oak Grove Church near Quebec. N. L. Ponder, T. F. Middleton, Carl Talley, Randall Lyday, Herbert Williams, Mrs. A. F. Mitchell and Miss Leslie McGuire were named to represent the church. Church Clerk, J. R. Brown, Treasurers, T. F. Middleton and Carl Talley. B. Y. P. U. director, Miss Garnett Lyday were busy Sunday afternoon preparing a letter of report to the association.

Mrs. J. R. Osborne and Mrs. Garland Green of Shelby were guests this week of Mrs. Madge Wilkins here and of Dr. Joe Osborne at Rosman. Mrs. Osborne is the mother of the latter three.

KING'S CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stamey had a very large crowd of 15 visitors from South Carolina Sunday.

Mr. A. P. Stamey and his little dog killed a rattlesnake near his house recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reese visited their daughter, Mrs. A. P. Stamey Saturday.

Lee Pearson has a fine crop this year on King's Creek.

Miss Maggie Bell Stamey visited Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell Sunday.

Mr. Joe Pickelsimer visited Mr. Lee Pearson Monday evening.

Miss Maggie Stamey visited Mrs. Pearl Owen, Monday of last week.

FARM QUESTIONS

G. What are the best varieties of Irish potatoes for the fall crop?
A. As a general thing, the Cobbler and Early Bliss should be used because they mature early. However, the McCormick or Lookout Mountain variety is very popular in piedmont Carolina because of its hardness and heavy yields. The quality of this variety is rather poor.

Q. For the past two years my dewberries have been injured by a disease known as anthracnose. What can I do to control this?
A. Cut off all the canes at or just below the surface of the soil immediately after the berries are harvested. Burn these canes as soon as they are dry. Plow under the leaves left on the ground. When the canes are tied to stakes next March or April, spray the plants with a 2-3-50 Bordeaux Mixture and again after the plants have bloomed. This should control the trouble.

Continued dry weather has cut the bean and potato crops in Mitchell and Yancey more than 50 per cent. Price, too, has been low and growers will get just enough to pay the cost of harvesting.

all joining with one accord as they softly sing:
"Jesus, tender Shepherd hear me;
Bless Thy little lamb tonight;
Through the darkness be Thou near me; Keep me safe till morning light."

Road Contracts of Nearly Million Dollars Let By Highway Officials

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—North Carolina has let highway contracts amounting to nearly one million dollars, and work will be started within the immediate future. So far, most of the contracts let are in the Eastern part of the state. Other counties are sending representatives to Raleigh in droves, urging that road work be started in the counties so represented.

The state had to let these contracts according to the specifications of the federal government, as it is federal money that is paying the bills. No one man will be allowed to work on these jobs more than 30 hours in any one week, thus scattering the jobs to more men. There is also a minimum wage that is to be paid for skilled and unskilled labor that must be paid by each contractor. It is also understood that ex-service men are to be given preference on all road work done by federal aid.

The following contracts were let Tuesday:

GARREN REUNION

Both the North and South Carolina branches of the Gravely family gather at Rocky Bottom, S. C., for their annual reunion, Sunday, August 28.

All members of this large and widely known family are urged to be present with well filled baskets for the picnic spread which will be held at the noon hour.

MILK GOATS TO BE ON THE MARKET HERE SOON

Frank Fenwick claims to be the possessor of one of the few milk goats of this section of the country. This type of goat being radically different from the usual species found in the mountain country. The goats milk is said to be the richest of all milks and is a very popular food for babies.

Mr. Fenwick has a Billy Goat of the milk goat species and he plans to raise the goats to commercialize the milk products.

GRAVELY REUNION

Members of the Garren family and their friends will celebrate with a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barton, Sunday August 28.

All of the branches of the family together with their friends are invited to bring picnic basket lunches and join in the reunion.

Currituck County farmers made their first cooperative carlot shipment of watermelons last week. The shipment was handled by the Currituck Mutual Exchange.

75 QUILTS SPREAD IN BREVARD SHOW

Approximately seventy-five quilts and spreads were entered by forty people in Brevard's first Quilt Show which was held last Friday and Saturday afternoon in the Woman's Exchange Building. The show was given by the Woman's Exchange Bureau who had offered seven prizes of a dollar each for the best entry in each division. Many visitors called during the two days the quilts and spreads were on display.

Prizes went to the following: Best antique quilt, Mrs. O. H. Olney; best silk quilt, Mrs. Mary Hamlin; best patchwork quilt, Mrs. R. H. Morrow; best applique quilt, Mrs. O. L. Erwin; best crocheted spread, Mrs. R. H. Morrow; best candlewick spread, Mrs. Sam McCullough. There was no entry for the best crocheted afghan.

Judges acting for this contest were Mrs. G. W. Fisher, Mrs. J. H. White, Mrs. Deland, Florida and Mrs. Perry Thomas of Louisville.

GREAT REVIVAL BEGINS AT ZION HILL CHURCH

A packed and overflowing house greeted Rev. A. L. Vaughan Sunday evening when he opened his two weeks' revival meeting at the Zion Hill church of Tuxedo. He will be assisted in the meeting by the pastor of the church, Rev. W. H. Jones.

According to Mr. Vaughan services will be held twice a day; in the morning at the 11 o'clock hour and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Vaughan closed his meeting at Lake Toxaway Baptist church Saturday evening after two weeks of magnificent work which is said to have revived the church to a large degree. He was assisted in this meeting by Rev. S. B. McCall.

Mr. Vaughan admires the Lake Toxaway people very much, he having been heard to remark Monday that they were on top of the world.

TWIN CUCUMBERS ADDED TO THE COCKEYED CONDITION.

Now comes Dr. C. J. S. Parsons, of the beautiful Sapphire section, with a set of twin cucumbers in support of the contention started by R. E. Mackey that the whole world is cockeyed. The cucumbers are perfect specimens of the finest of the fruit, vegetable, or whatever it is one calls cucumbers. They are grown together from end to end, being joined by the slightest kind of growth, but both cucumbers are perfectly formed. The two weighed two pounds and six ounces, and are on display at the office of The Brevard News.

Miss Myrtle Dilliard and Miss Elizabeth Charies were visiting in Franklin last week.
