Reinstatements

To every financial secretary—We have been having too many suspensions this year. I want each of you to make special efforts to see every suspended member on your books and try to reinstate them this month.

Wadesboro, N. C.
September 2, 1932.

Mr. W. H. Grogan, Jr., Dist. Mgr., W. O. W., Brevard, N. C.

My dear Grogan:

As you know, we are planning for a great occasion here on Friday, October 7th, for the Piedmont (and Daniel Boone) District Convention, Field Day and Gala W. O. W. and W. C. Celebration. We want the greatest gathering of W. O. W. and W. C. ever had in North Carolina and we want the friends of your Western District to be with us.

We expect to repeat what we had last September except the Park Dedication. The program will begin at 9:30 A. M., for the Uniform Rank, band concert at 10:30, street parade at 11, first convention session at 11:15, stunts, features, prizes, drills and the big fish supper at The Woodmen Community Park at 6:30 tickets to be 50c each and on to the free street dance at 8:30. A great public program to make it a gala occasion amid carnival spirit.

Of course, we shall expect you here without fail but now I want you to help me get a crowd from your section. Please urge the membership to attend the all-day program. I shall mail you, later, an item for the Brevard News and will thank you to get it published in all other papers in your territory possible. WE MUST PUT THIS OVER WITH SUCCESS from the standpoint of attendance and with membership campaigns leading to the day here. I know you will do your part.

With continued good wishes to you and yours, I am
Fraternally yours,
BARRINGTON T. HILL.

PISGAH FOREST NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnett received word from their son Mayo, of Hagerstown, Md., that he had an operation at the Hagerstown hospital on his leg, where he received injuries several years ago. His many friends here hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. G. Parker, Miss Dollie Allison and Mr. Nelson Bowen were Wednesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zachary at North Brevard.

S. T. Townsend and Sid Barnett made a business trip to Greenville last Tuesday.

Mr. Lance Carter who is employed on Mills River spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. James Carter.

Mrs. Pinkney Morris is suffering with flu.

Miss Mildred and Mr. Max Butler of Mills River spent Sunday with Mrs. James Carter and family.

Mrs. Jack Arrington is on the sick list.

Mr. Joe Bradley and Mr. Oliver Buckner of Beech were recent guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Dewey Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Ray of Little River spent Sunday afternoon with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hedrick.

Mrs. Stepp and daughter of South Carolina are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnett.

The ladies regular weekly Prayer Meeting of the Baptist church was held at the home of Mrs. James Carter Thursday afternoon.

We were kept rather busy Wednesday afternoon following the eclipse and keeping tab on the thermometer. Much interest was felt and we could see citizens going hither and yon with their smoked glass.

Mrs. O. S. Braddock and son, Spencer, Jr., of Jacksonville, Florida were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Trost.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatter Campfield have moved into the Glade Creek section.

We have had several good rains which were needed badly in this section.

The Pisgah Forest nine defeated Penrose on the latter diamond Saturday afternoon. Hendersonville defeated the local team Labor Day 6-5 at Hendersonville.

REPUBLIC OF CUBA... OUR NEIGHBOR

(By Lorenzo Delgado)
(Student in the Brevard Institute)

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by a native of the Republic of Cuba, who is a student of the Brevard Institute. It is reproduced here just as it was written and will be found of considerable interest since Cuba is our next door neighbor, though so little is known about this country.)

The characteristics that a missionary possesses should be in harmony with the country to which he is sent. Each country has its own characteristics, customs, and traditions. It is difficult to speak, therefore, of one type of missionary. In consequence, before a missionary is sent to a country, the mission board should have a thorough knowledge of the customs and practices of that country and also an understanding of the psychology of the people. In order to determine, therefore, the type of missionary who ought to be sent to Cuba, a study of that country must be made.

ORIGIN: I am not going to undertake a detailed study of that epoch in which the three caravels, "La Santa Maria," "La Pinta," "La Nina, 55 sailed from the port of "Palos de Moguer" in Andalusy, under the great admiral Christopher Columbus, reaching what is today the Republic of Cuba. What I want to make clear is the fact that the origin of the Cuban people is purely Spanish and not Indian. The Indians, because of the proximity of other islands and because of their knowledge of the sea, which they had gained from fishing, found it easy to migrate from Cuba when they met with mistreatment. The Cuban people do not have, like others of the American Continent, Indian blood flowing through their veins; the Cuban people are purely Spanish origin.

EFFECTS OF INHERITANCE: The Cuban people, because of the fact that they are purely of Spanish origin, have the heritage of Spain. Just as the religious heritage is evident in this country today, just so was Cuba's religious heritage evident in her life. When in their own country, a group of Englishmen were prohibited from practicing their own religion, a part of that group came to America on that well known vessel, "The Mayflower." The religious seed planted by them, germinated in America with so much strength that there are today evident proofs of the ideas brought by them more than three centuries ago. The Spaniards did not go to Cuba because they did not have freedom to practice the Catholic Religion, but the Catholic Religious Spirit of the first men who reached the island was perpetuated until recently.

TITLES OF NOBILITY: The Spaniards brought to Cuba the fascination of nobility. By means of journals the political life of Spain was kept alive in the colony. Many causes moved to the ideas of liberty, and after two wars against the Mother Country, the first of 10 years, (1868-1878), and the second of three, (1895-1898), came independence and finally the Republic of Cuba. When the Republic was established, all possibilities for the winning of titles of nobility were disposed of.

PROFESSIONAL DEGREES: The idea of winning a title of nobility was substituted by the desire for and acquisition of academic titles. There were two main reasons for this. First, "The action of inheritance which we have already seen." The Cuban, seeing that he could not be called earl or marquis, wanted to be called doctor. Second, "The Economic Factor." In as much as there were only a few university graduates many years ago in the isle, the possession of a professional degree was a sure means of acquiring a good position with economic advantages. This justified the series of sacrifices of many families to give to their sons a professional degree. The popular stream toward studies became so intense that the government has taken measure to stop it. In fact, the Cuban people, because of the ease that they have had in making a living (as the fertility of the soil makes easy the obtaining of products,) have been careless and indolent, taking measures to check their evils only when these were of general character. Nevertheless, even bearing in mind this condition of the people, intensified in their statesmen by the special conception that they have of the character of their office, the government has taken measures to limit the number of professional degrees.

I had interviews with professors and students of the University, about the excess of professional degrees in the island, before the government limited their number. While the professors argued that the right to study ought to be absolutely free and that afterwards the apt ones would eliminate those who were not; the students, under the program of studies then in force, expressed that the excess of professional degrees would bring about a lowering of the reputation of the degrees, and they would rather see the doors of the University closed.

Spent Over $500 On Hospital Bills

Topeka, Kans.—Mrs. Cora Morey who resides at 21st and Minnesota Sts., Topeka, Kansas, said: "Sargon has done me so much good that I am actually afraid to stop taking it; I feel I should take at least a few more bottles to be sure of being entirely well. I know my husband spent $500 in the year before I started taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills—on hospital bills alone—and that does not include doctor bills."

LONG'S DRUG STORE
Brevard, N. C.

I am going to give an illustration that, while it may be an exaggerated statement, will show the cultural average in Cuba:

A farmer from one of the interior farms of the island, was asked by another:—"How many sons do you have, Paul?"

"I have four" answered the first—"The oldest is a doctor; the second is a lawyer, the third is a dentist, and the fourth . . . the fourth I could not send to the University, because there are so many years required for a degree, but I made him a school teacher."

"Well, what do you do, Paul?"—"I am still farming and supporting these four sons, because they cannot make their living." The fact, I repeat, is the popular stream toward the conquest of academic degrees, has raised the intellectual level of the country.

ACTION OF THE TROPICS: The effects of the tropical climate may be observed not only in the agricultural aspect by the facility of the cultivation and by the exuberant vegetation, but also in its influence upon the characteristics of the Cuban. This tropical climate tends to make him merry, careless, and indolent, because he trusts in the natural resources, which are easily obtainable; it acts on his temperament making him passionate, and upon his intellect by quickening it. This last effect of the tropical climate is not stated as a result of my own observation, but it has been taken from sociologists of well known ability.

ACTION OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH: The Cuban had, many years ago, a Church, "The Catholic," but the questionable conduct of her ministers caused the Cuban to leave that church, his only one in that country.

The majority of people loathe the exploitation by the ministers to a greater extent than they do the indifference of the ministers. Now the majority of people are without religion, and they do not like to hear about it.

SEVENTH GRADE LIVES STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

Last week the seventh grade elected the officers for the first term of government. The following officers were elected:

President: Quinton Crane; vice president, Nath Passmore; secretary, Donald Nelson; blackboard committee, Tom and Archie Whitmore.

Boys' hall monitor, Hovey Waldrop; girls' hall monitor, July Jordan; boys' playground monitor, Nath Passmore, Tom Glazener and Lamar Whitmore; girls' playground monitor, July Jordan; window shade monitor, Alfred Gillespie; bulletin board monitor, Ruby Love and Connie Whitmore; door monitor, Auburn Waldrop; room monitor, Hazel Moore and Ruby Love; room librarian, Hazel Moore.

The regular class meeting will be held every Friday from 3 to 3:30.
HAZEL MOORE, 7th Grade.

A VISITOR.

Mr. Jones, the county superintendent, visited the Rosman school Friday. We are always glad when Mr. Jones comes to visit us. We hope he will talk to us some morning in chapel. We always enjoy hearing him talk.
CAROLYN GARREN, 7th grade

SCHOOL GROUNDS CLEAN NOW

The trash has been picked up off the school grounds and the grass mowed again. Before it was mowed we would lose our baseballs, and would spend most of our recess in hunting for them. But now it is clean and we hope it will stay clean.
RUBY LOVE, 7th grade.

THE ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Yesterday afternoon the eyes of millions of people were turned toward the sky to gaze at the eclipse of the sun. The eclipse was caused by the passage of the moon between the earth and the sun.

The pupils in our room smoked glasses, then went outside to look at the sun. We enjoyed the study of the eclipse of the sun very much.

MARIE WALDROP, 6th grade.

CLASS NEWS

In our class there are twenty-nine boys and thirteen girls. We have already elected class officers, which are as follows.

President . . . . . Jack Nelson
Vice President . . . Frank Whitmore
Boys' Monitor . . . . Ralph Jarrett
Girls' Monitor . . . . Tobitha Waldrop
BURLEY HOLDEN, 5th Grade

WATCHING THE SUN

Wednesday we all smoked a piece of glass to look at the eclipse of the sun. Mr. Kimzey let us go out to see it come on. I saw both the sun and the moon. The sun looked like a ball of fire in the sky; the moon was dark and looked like half of a ball.
MARY WHITMIRE, 5th Grade

WHAT AM I

I am little, but I am very useful. Uncle Sam cannot run his business without me. I am licked, stamped, and treated cruelly, yet I carry messages to all parts of the country. I used to cost two cents, but now it takes three cents to purchase me—I am a three-cent stamp.
EVA ISRAEL, 5th Grade

FIRST GRADE

Nell Waldrop insists that the first grade should have a spelling match. She says that she can spell any word if the teacher will tell her how. Charles Henry: Teacher may I take my new book home to-night, I want mother to hear me read?

THE ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

The sun was in eclipse today. I looked at it through a smoked glass. It was beautiful. The sun looked red. The shadow of the moon was over part of the sun. That part was dark. The sunlight looked like a moonlight night.
