BAKING PIES

When I was little I went to grandma's house one day, and she was baking berry pies. I watched her for a few minutes, and I decided I could make pies as good as she could.

She had a pie fixed in the pan almost ready to be put in the oven. She turned her back just a minute for something, and I picked up a fork and stuck the pie all to pieces. "Why Eva," Grandma said, "You have stuck the blood out."

TASTING MOTHER'S CAKE

One day when I was little, mother made a nice cake and iced it. Then she set it on the table. When I saw it I climbed into a chair and got some of it. When mother saw me she put me down and told me not to get any more.

After a while I climbed into the chair again, and when mother saw I guess what happened.

AUTUMN

Autumn will soon be here. Then the leaves will turn red, gold and brown. Later when the wind begins to blow they will start whirling from one tree and another; then they will go on their journey to the earthy bed to cover the little plants from the cold of winter.

WHY THE DENTIST IS A FRIEND TO ME

The dentist is one of my best friends. He keeps my teeth cleaned and repaired well, in order that I might be healthy. He teaches me how to take care of my teeth—to brush them at least twice a day, and let a dentist examine them at least once a year.

GATHERING WILD FLOWERS

A few afternoons ago I went over in the pasture to get some grapes. On my way home, seeing so many lovely wild flowers, I decided to pick a bunch for mother.

Down near the little creek I picked purple ironweed, queen of the meadow, jewel weed and yellow evening primrose. After gathering some of each kind I found that I had a very to the house I could not resist picking the pretty white and purple asters, the tall golden rod, and snowy white clematis.

My mother thought the flowers were very beautiful. I counted them and found that I had picked eight different kinds.

This section of North Carolina is noted for the great variety and beauty of the wild flowers.

THE DEER

In July 1926 the department of Conservation and Development sent several of the different county wardens to Pink Beds to capture small fawn, to restock a state reserve on Mount Mitchell.

Experience has taught that it is a better plan to catch the small deer and rear them in the place they are to live, rather than trying to capture the large ones. Daddy caught six and we kept them several days. We taught them to take milk from a bottle. After they learned how to get milk, we children would hold the bottle for them. There were lots of people that had never seen a fawn, so we had company most every day until they were taken away.

CLASS LAWS AND OFFICERS

The fourth grade decided that as we were all citizens of the fourth grade, we would make a few laws so that we would not disturb each other. These laws are printed on our bulletin board. These laws were made by us, and we thought that we would elect our own officers to see that we did not forget. Miss Anderson was made chief, and then we elected an officer on each row. They are: Tom Vance McCall, Clyde Sutton, James T. Galloway, Ernest Raines and Bertran Cassel. The basement officers are: Ruth Rice and Joe Bert. The chapel officers and Kathleen Wilson and Gladys Clark. The officers have deputies, and each one has some duty. All of us salute our officers. When we march out Miss Anderson goes in front of the line and turns toward us. At the minute the bell rings Miss Anderson salutes us and we salute her.

Society News and Club Activities

TO ORGANIZE DAHLIAH ASSOCIATION

Plans are being perfected for organization of a Dahliah Society, and it is believed that a meeting will be held on Saturday, October 8, in the High School building, when a permanent organization will be effected. Many ladies of the county are interested in the movement, and some of the men express keen interest in the promotion of the growth of dahlia.

Waynesville had a dahlia show last week that was declared by many people to have been one of the most successful civic projects undertaken by the citizens of that town. A show is in progress this week at Asheville, and many ladies here express belief that organization of a society here would result in great beautification of the entire section.

Ladies in charge of the preliminary work of organizing the dahliah association will have more definite information about the movement next week.

DANCE AT CAMP ILLAHEE

An interesting event of Monday night was the square dance given to a large number of Brevards' younger social set at Camp Illahee, at which Misses Helen Marr and Louise Barclay acted as joint hostesses. Music for the event was furnished by Fisher's String band. Delicious refreshments were served.

B. Y. P. U. HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held Monday evening at the Baptist church with the largest attendance of the year, 37 being present. This was a slight increase over the attendance last month and each month for the past several months has shown a similar increase.

The regular routine business was taken up and plans were laid for the future activities of the organization, especially the annual general organization social to be held in October. The committee appointed to make preparations for this consisted of Miss Mary Nicholson, Miss Mary Aiken, Miss Lucy Galloway, Miss Geneva Neil and Mr. Charles Morgan. The senior class won out in the regular attainment contest and were treated ice cream by the losers. The intermediate leader has left for Cullowhee. As yet she has not been replaced.

WEDNESDAY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Brevard Wednesday club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. M. Allison. The new books were passed out and a report of the treasurer stated that the club now has $22 to its credit in the bank. Program for the year was announced.

Following the regular business session, a musical program was given by Walter H. Watson, of Charleston, that was greatly enjoyed by all present. Mr. Watson's program was as follows:

Fantasia in C minor Mozart
(Second Piano Score Composed by Greig)
Invention (3 Part) No. 8.... Bach
Prelude Op. 28 No. 15..... Chopin
Etude Burgmuller
Etude Leybach
Hunting song Mendelssohn
Waltz in G. Flat Chopin
Romance Rubinstein
Impromptu in C Sharp minor Reinhold

It was announced that the next meeting of the club will be held October 12 with Mrs. P. N. Simons.

INSTITUTE STUDENTS ENJOY READING.

The students and faculty of the Brevard Institute received a rare treat Monday evening when Marget Bruce LeCompte gave a splendid rendition of Sir James Barrie's play "The Little Minister." This play is in three parts in Scottish Dialect, and required about 65 minutes to recite. Miss LeCompte is an artist of rare ability and gives these recitations throughout the country.

Miss LeCompte is from Brooklyn, N. Y. and is spending her vacation in Brevard.

Mrs. Joe Neely, Miss Willie Mae Neely and Mrs. P. W. Jenks have returned from a visit to friends in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Scott, of Greenville, S. C., were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Mary H. Mills.
