THE PRAYER CORNER

(From the files of long ago)

AN ABIDING COMFORTER

"He abideth with you, and shall be in you a Comforter"—what a word of bliss, if we only could realize it. Let us repeat it over and over to ourselves, until its meaning sinks into the very depth of our being. And an "Abiding Comforter" too, not one who comes and goes, and is never on hand when most needed, but one who is always ready to give us "Joy for mourning, and the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

The very words "Abiding Comforter" are an amazing revelation. Try to comprehend them. We think ourselves when we are in trouble, if we can have a human comforter to stay with us for only a few days, but here is a Divine Comforter who is always staying with us, and whose power to comfort is infinite. Never, never, ought we for a single minute, to be without comfort; never for a single minute ought we to be uncomfortable.

I have often wondered whether those early disciples at all realized what this glorious legacy of a Comforter meant. I am very sure the majority of the disciples now do not. If they did, there could not possibly be so many uncomfortable Christians about.

But you may ask whether this Divine Comforter does not sometimes reprove us for our sins, and whether we can get comfort out of this. In my opinion this is exactly one of the places where the Comfort comes in. For what sort of creatures should we be, if we had no Divine Teacher always at hand to show us our faults, and awaken in us a desire to get rid of them?

"If," said a woman writer whom I highly esteem, "I am walking along the street with a very disfiguring hole in the back of my dress, of which I am ignorant, it is certainly a very great comfort to have a kind friend who will tell me of it, and similarly is it indeed a comfort to know that always abiding with me is a Divine All-Seeing Comforter who will reprove me for all my faults, and will not let me go on in a fatal unconsciousness of them." Emerson says: "It is far more to a man's interest, that he should see his own faults than any one else should see them, and a moments thought will convince us that this is true, and will make us thankful for the Comforter who reveals them to us."

"I remember vividly," said the above writer, "the comfort it used to be to me, when I was young, to have a sister who always knew what was the right and proper thing to do, and who, when we went out together, always kept me in order. I never felt any anxiety or responsibility about myself if she was by, for I knew she would keep a strict watch over me, and nudge me or whisper to me if I was making any mistakes. I was always made comfortable and not uncomfortable by her presence. But when it chanced that I went anywhere alone, then I would indeed feel uncomfortable, for then there was no one to keep me straight."

The declaration is that He "comforts all our waste places," and He does this by revealing them to us, and at the same time showing us how He can make our wilderness like Eden, and our deserts like the garden of the Lord.

You may object, perhaps, that you are not worthy of His Comforts. I do not suppose you are. No one ever is. But you need His comforting, and all the more you need it, because you are not worthy. Christ came into the world to save sinners, not good people, and your unworthiness is your greatest claim for His Salvation.

A PRAYER
 Father of all Mercies, God of all Comfort, we bring before Thee the record of our lives, stained with the memories of sin and failure. Be patient with us, for if Thou turn Thy face from us we are lost. Cast us not from Thy Presence, and take not Thy Holy Spirit, The Comforter, from us. Here we would remember before Thee the wants and sorrows of our fellows. Unto those, O God, who feel the pain and mystery of life, let the Sun of Righteousness arise with healing in His wings. Remember in pity, the sick, the distressed of body or of mind. Many and great are the disorders of our mortal nature, but the medicines are mightier. Open the souls of all who be on beds of weariness to the inflow of Thy Divine Life. In the silence may they hear Thy voice saying "I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears, behold I will heal thee."

For the burden bearers, the tempest tossed, the afflicted and not comforted, we pray. Thy consolations are greater than all the sorrows of the world. Bind up the broken hearted, and with Thy touch heal all those wounds of the soul that bleed and will not cease. Give a spirit of endurance and of trust to those whose thorn in the flesh must remain. Save them from despair, from the indifference of the heart without faith, and perfect Thy strength in their weakness. Comfort all men everywhere with Thy light, and guide them by Thy Comforting Spirit, for Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

PUT SURPLUS FEED INTO BEEF CATTLE

The two main advantages of fattening beef cattle for market are to provide a market for surplus feed-stuffs and to secure manure that will cut down the fertilizer bill.

"Whether it will pay any farmer to feed some cattle this winter will depend largely on the amount of feed he has on hand and the need for manure in his farming operations," says L. I. Case, beef cattle expert at State College. "Every man who grows a surplus of feed each year will also find it profitable to feed a given number of cattle each year. If he will follow this system year in and year out, he will usually be ahead over a period of years."

Mr. Case makes it clear that the best feed for fattening cattle is corn. If this grain is fed with dry roughage and a proteind concentrate, it will produce gains. The practice generally followed in the main cattle feeding sections of the country is to feed broken ear corn, allowing the hogs to follow the steers and consume any waste.

With present prices for beef cattle, it will not pay to buy feed, except cottonseed meal or some other such concentrate for balancing the corn. When cottonseed meal is low in price, it may pay to buy both meal and hulls. However, heavy rations of cottonseed meal are not safe over long periods of time. When using the meal, feed out mature animals weighing from 900 to 1100 pounds. These may be finished in from 90 to 100 days which is close to the limit of safety.

Low grade roughage is fine for wintering steers and dry cows but animals being fattened for market should receive only the dry roughage which they will clean up after the concentrates are fed, Case says.

have no sympathy for folks who will not work, nor for thieves, and we hope Mr. Reid will catch the men who stole his cabbage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Nicholson and son, Claude, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McCall and T. B. Reid attended the political speaking at Rosman Monday night and report a jolly good time.

Jones county farmers ordered 183 bushels of Abruzzi rye seed this fall through the local mutual exchange.

DON'T FUSS AT YOUR CAR BECAUSE IT WON'T START

These cool mornings have a decided effect upon your automobile. It is NOT always the fault of the Battery when the car starts slowly and lazily. Often the trouble is in the Starter, or maybe it is because of a bad Spark Plug or something like that. The proper thing to do is to bring the car here and have the
