FASHION ARTICLE

Cire evening dresses which entered the mode rather deprecatingly, are now a great success. Cire satin, as sleek looking as a wet seal's coat is shown in dresses which fit like the paper on the wall. They're very daring and very effective. If you don't go in for quite that sort of thing (and you'd better not if your figure isn't just a shade better than the Venus de Milo's) you'll find consolation in the Cire laces. They have the same richly lustrous surface, but are softer and more flattering. They're just as soft and as easy to drape as the ordinary laces and they're rather newer looking.

Feminine VS. Tailored

It doesn't much matter how you do it, but you must make a type of yourself this year. For example, in your evening clothes. Don't wear just any dress. Choose whether you look best in sports clothes or in feminine things and stick to them. There are evening frocks which are tailored. They are often in beautiful broadcloth. There are frocks that are sporty. These are in fine French wool jerseys, cut along the simple, ample lines of your sport clothes. There are others which are frankly and adorably feminine. And these are made of all the luxurious materials which you have been accustomed to think of in connection with evening, velvets, first of all, satins, laces, chiffons and crepes. More often than not they show the Victorian influence in puffed sleeves, flower decorations and off the shoulder décolletés. Accessories for each of the three types should be in keeping from slippers to perfumes. If you go 1890 you'll probably have a fan or two in your bureau. Your hairdresses will bang and ringlets. Otherwise there will be no "spinach", no ends or curls in the back of your neck, just a clean neat hairline, with maybe windswept ends on your cheeks.

Two-Tone

As this is a year of vigorous contrasts in almost everything, colors go in for contrast, too. The very most 1932 dresses show combinations of shades, frequently ones that have never been used together before. There are strange reds with other strange new reds. There are reds and blues in exotic purplish shades. There are yellows and browns, purples and whites, oranges and browns. Any number of startling and amusing new combines are being promoted and they make for greater individuality in dress and so are to be welcomed. Grey is merged with heaps of other colors. Beige of which there is a limited amount being shown, is also a good team mate for the brighter shades. And in all this riot of barbaric shades, you'll be pleased to hear that black and white is still the good old standby. Not so much for evening as it has been in times past but certainly for the afternoon.

SELICA NEWS

Sunday was a busy day in our burg; we had baptisms, two Sunday school hours, preaching services in the morning and a funeral service and preaching in the afternoon.

As the election draws nigh, some of our folks are getting mighty nervous. A fair example of this was manifested in an incident that occurred recently, when one of our most prominent citizens, J. N. Whitmire, was almost scared beside himself by a 6 ft. harmless blacksnake.

J. W. Dickson is making molasses this week, also Uncle Tom Garren is still on the job and doing some good work.

W. C. McCall, who has been visiting in Asheville for some time, returned home Monday.

A number of our folks are planning to attend the Quarterly conference at Rosman Methodist church next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

The last Saturday evening prayer service was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Breedlove. It was conducted by Miss Annabelle Dunn, who made a splendid talk, followed by a number of other good talks. The next service will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elihu White, the other date having been rained out.

Mrs. Sherman Pearson from the Glad Branch section was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barton, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Sanders were Brevard visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fisher, of Gloucester, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunn, Sunday.

Rev. Yates preached a splendid sermon Sunday from Mark 2:14. His text was "Follow me." He will preach here again the first Sunday evening in November, 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Mull and daughter, Grace, attended the funeral of Mrs. Will Mull, of Brevard, Sunday afternoon.

B. F. Cassell and Ernest Davis, of Sunset, S. C., were visitors in our section Sunday.

Mr. F. D. Clement, of Brevard, was visiting his farm here Sunday. We wish everybody was as interested in their homes as Mr. Clement. What a difference there would be.

Misses Mae and Ruth Cunningham and Rowe Burrell, of Brevard, were visitors of Miss Ruby Whitmire last week.

Our two Sunday schools, of Selica, are going nicely. A canvass was ordered Sunday to try to enlist everybody in one or the other.

Mrs. Ed Ross returned last week from New Jersey where she has spent a few days visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Drake.

It is announced that Ward Breedlove will speak on the cost of Christian liberty next Sunday; W. W. Gal-

DELEGATES ATTEND EPISCOPAL MEET THURSDAY

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Perry, Harold V. Smedberg and Mrs. O. L. Erwin attended the Convention at Asheville, of the Episcopal church as delegates, which met in the Paris house in Asheville Thursday.

DANCE AT CAESARS HEAD

A masquerade dance will be staged at Caesars Head Friday night October 28 beginning at 9 a. m. and continuing until 1 p. m.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCrary entertained Friday evening at their home on Maple street with five tables of bridge honoring Miss Ruth Cantrell whose engagement to Mr. Charles McCrary was announced last week. The rooms used for playing were attractively decorated with a profusion of beautiful fall flowers, autumn leaves and potted plants.

Miss Cantrell was presented with a lovely guest prize and Mrs. Frank Henry, a bride of June was also given a guest prize.

Mrs. McCrary served delicious sandwiches and punch to the following guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kimzey, Mr. and Mrs. Leon English, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trantham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry, Mrs. Jess Picklesimer, Misses Ruth Picklesimer, Mary Sue Jennings and Ruth Cantrell and Messrs. Charlie McCrary and W. T. Evans.

SARA TAYLOR CIRCLE MEETS

The Sara Taylor Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Tuesday evening at the Brevard Institute with an attendance of 29.

Miss Boggs was in charge of the devotional the subject of which was "Finding God In Jesus." The meeting was devoted to a study of Present day missionary work in China.

Following the discussions and the regular session, refreshments were served.

SCHOOL AT PENROSE

On account of a scare from reports of diphtheria in the community the attendance in Penrose school went down low two weeks ago but this week showed many returning and a new month opening up cheerfully. Many have taken advantage of inoculations and have kept in school regularly—the thing to do.

MISS SHUFORD ENTERTAINS

Miss Celia Shuford entertained a number of her young friends with an informal party Monday evening at her home on Broad street.

A number of out of town guests enjoyed her charming hospitality including several teachers in the Rosman school.

A number of interesting games were played and a most enjoyable time was had by all present.

Black leg is killing cattle in Clay County. The farm agent reports the death of 12 animals in recent months.
