 tion's industries into other countries and has caused other nations to retaliate by raising similar tariff walls thereby tending to paralyze all foreign trade.
 Contrasting Governor Roosevelt with President Hoover, Mr. Galloway described the former as being fearless and courageous and willing to "try things out."
 Speaking on the conditions existing in the state of North Carolina under the present Democratic administration, he said that during their tenure of office the expenses of operating the State government have been reduced by one-third.
 Mr. Galloway, in concluding his remarks, spoke in highest praise of the Democratic candidates who are running for the various offices in the state and county, especially mentioning Robert R. Reynolds and John C. B. Eringhaus, M. W. Galloway and others and urged that these men be given the whole-hearted support of the voters in the coming elections.
 Hon. William E. Breese presided over the meeting and T. Coleman Galloway introduced the speaker of the evening.

FREE CLINIC TO BE OPERATED HERE FOR DIPHTHERIA CASES

 tions, business men and individuals throughout the county. It was originally planned that the Kiwanis club should sponsor the move without asking aid but a survey revealed that there were between 600 and 1000 children in the county who would be forced to receive the free treatments because of the inability of their parents to pay, therefore it became necessary to secure this additional assistance.

Several very substantial contributions have already been received from various individuals and firms and a committee from the Kiwanis club is calling on others in order to secure the amount necessary for the medicine. The work of administering the two doses, two weeks apart, required for the treatment is being done gratis by Dr. Newland, a member of the Kiwanis club. A great deal of assistance is being given by the Parent-Teacher association.

The necessity for providing these treatments becomes readily apparent when it is known that two deaths, in the past few days have been caused by the disease in the county and number of children have been taken to it. It is with this in mind preventing an epidemic of the disease which would likely result in hundreds of deaths in the county, that the clinic is being provided and that parents are urged to have their children vaccinated at once, either in the clinic if they are unable to pay, or by their family physician if they are able.

Those who were vaccinated under the auspices of the State Board of Health last summer will not need to receive the treatment again, according to Dr. Newland, County Health officer.

Those who have taken a temporary or immediate preventative dose in the past few weeks are reminded that this will only furnish immunity for a few weeks at most and that for permanent immunization the full treatment, or two shots, must be taken.

The school board has made provisions for those who have no means of transportation in order to get to the clinics. The school buses will cover their regular routes; the Brevard buses starting at the regular weekday hour, and over their regular routes. The Rosman school buses will start at 12:30. Many people in the various communities have offered to use their cars in transporting the children to the clinics.

It is urged that the people in every community advertise the clinic, stressing the fact that it is being provided only for those who are unable to pay. Remember the date; Saturday November 5, at 8:30 in Brevard and 1:30 in Rosman.

GREAT INTEREST IN REVIVAL SERVICES LED BY DR. DENBY

 their numbers. Just as David would not offer sacrifices to God on Ground that was not paid for and with animals that were not paid for so the people of this time must be willing to pay for their worship, not only in money but in time and in labor.
 Rev. Dendy showed that it is not God who has changed, for He has said that His arm is not shortened that he cannot save—it is the people who have drawn away from God feeling secure in their numbers. They need the spirit of the "old days of the Methodist camp-meetings and the stirring revivals" when people were willing to sacrifice to attend the services. He urged that during this series every one do his part and attend and together get the message he hopes to bring to them.
 Meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were also well attended and some splendid sermons were heard. The series will continue until ten of them have been preached. Those who have not attended are urged to do so.

BOONE D. TILLET IS HEARD IN BREVARD ON STATE ISSUES

 assist the Banks, railroads, insurance companies and other big enterprises of the nation in order that it might not become necessary for them to suspend operation and thereby cause millions to be thrown out of employment. In order to protect the small home-owner and the farmer he later created the Home Loan banks, through which it became possible for these persons to avoid the loss of their homes and farms. Then, in order to provide immediate relief for the jobless of the nation he ordered the distribution of the flour which had been bought by the Farm Board in its effort to stabilize the price of wheat.

Mr. Tillet severely criticized the stand of Franklin D. Roosevelt on the tariff proposition and the record of John N. Garner as speaker of the House of Representatives.

Since they have had charge of the affairs of the state government, Mr. Tillet continued, the Democrats have brought the state from its rank as the 47th state in the union, at that time to present place as the third as regards its highways, school system, etc. During their administration the state has become 2nd in total state indebtedness and 1st in per capita indebtedness. This indebtedness has increased from 7 million dollars in 1920 to 889 million in 1932. They are borrowing money at the rate of 50 millions of dollars per year above the state income taxes and other sources of revenue.

And now the people of the state are being told that the Democratic administration has saved the people some 30 million dollars—this amount is what the people have not been able to pay and for which their homes are being sold, Mr. Tillet said. He quoted a statement from A. J. Maxwell, who offered for Governor in the primary, in which he said that the people of the state when they think they are paying their taxes in full are not doing so, for the state is still borrowing and the children and grand-children of these taxpayers will be paying on the present taxes.

The cost of a session of the legislature in 1909, the speaker continued was $16,000. That cost has increased to the extent that the last session cost the people $116,000. This increase is largely due to the employment of clerks and secretaries who have no important duties but are merely on the payroll because they carried a certain precinct Democratic, and to the creating of some 92 commissions many of which are absolutely useless. The Democratic party in the state is at present "grooming" their prospective candidates for governor in 1936, Miller of the State Relief commission and Jeffers of the State highway board are paying them and they are getting acquainted.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS TO BE AT TURKEY CREEK

Republican candidates for county offices will meet the voters of the Turkey Creek section at the Turkey Creek School house, Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock. All candidates will deliver short addresses, outlining their platform and plans for carrying on the county's business, if elected.

They will also hold a meeting at Rosman school house Saturday night Nov. 5th at which all candidates will be present and deliver short speeches. The public is cordially invited to attend both these meetings to hear the candidates.

MOTOR CAR OWNERS ACTING WISELY NOW

Local Firestone Dealer Finds Owners Are Spending More For Upkeep.
 That motorists are beginning to increase their expenditures on proper care of their cars was indicated by McCrary Tire and Battery Service, local Firestone distributors.
 "We have noticed during the last few months that many motorists are having their cars lubricated oftener, changing the oil oftener and checking the performance of the car and especially the safety factors," said Mr. McCrary.

"Oil should be changed at least every thousand miles, as running the car too long with dirty, diluted or poor grade oil leads to expensive repairs and increased fuel consumption. "Faulty brakes have been the cause of a large portion of accidents. Drivers have now learned of this fact, and they are having their brakes adjusted regularly.

"Proper care of the battery keeps the lights and electrical operation up to safe standards and prevents one of the most costly and troublesome hazards of motoring—battery failure. More people are buying the extra power and superior types of Firestone batteries even though they cost a little more than other types in the line. This is proven economy.

"It is also false economy to run spark plugs over 10,000 miles or not to have them inspected at least every 5,000 miles—especially since the general use of testing apparatus by dealers and the developments for increased performance such as the remarkable new electrode perfected for Firestone spark plugs.

"Statistics and experience show that the most damage from freezing comes with the early cold snaps, so don't put off safeguarding your car for all winter with a permanent antifreeze such as Firestone's new scientifically perfected liquid."

W. A. LYDAY

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

If elected, I do solemnly swear or affirm that I will execute the office of the Sheriff of Transylvania County, to the best of my knowledge and ability agreeably to all and that I will not take, accept or receive, direct or indirectly, any fee, gift, bribe, gratuity or reward whatsoever, for turning any man to serve as a juror or for making false return on process to me directed, so help me, God.

Yours truly,
 W. A. LYDAY.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS TAKEN TO TASK FOR DESERTING CAUSE

Life-Long Democrat Flays Mr. Daniels for Leaving His Own And Joining the Ras-kob Wet Crowd.

(Greensboro News)

Raleigh, Oct. 27.—Attacks on Robert Rice Reynolds at various more or less strategic points in the state, but particularly in piedmont and western North Carolina, disclose the fact that there is a big "drive" in the hope of electing Jake Newell United States senator over Mr. Reynolds.

Mr. Newell believes that he is going to be elected. He has exhausted what little money was available for his hard campaign. He has kept easily within the law and could spend a good deal more without any sort of violation. He could not get money from the national organization if the reasons for the hope that is in him could be as cogently carried to the national headquarters as he presents them to his own people. Democrats have been declaring all the summer and fall that Mr. Reynolds will lead their ticket. Republicans do not think so.

The most vehement of these attacks from Republican sources comes down from Hendersonville where the western North Carolina Tribune carrying the name of James F. Barrett managing editor, issues. The Tribune asks all and sundry supporters of Mr. Reynolds to consult the clergy as to how they feel toward Mr. Reynolds. The paper taunts the Asheville dailies with their significant silences as to Mr. Reynolds. It suggests that they are wise since they could not say much.

The paper does not specify as to unfitness, but lets fly the suggestion that it can furnish all the material needed to make up a voter's mind. The biggest point made against Mr. Reynolds is his attitude toward prohibition. The partisan character of the prohibition issue is not introduced. It is not vouchsafed what the Tribune will do as between candidates for governor, both men being politically and personally dry. The onslaught is against Mr. Reynolds.

The challenge does not stop at Senator Bailey. There is a pathetic plaintive note on Josephus Daniels. The Raleigh editor is pilloried for running the navy dry when advocating Franklin Roosevelt, a wet. Mr. Daniels is spared one of his own utterances in which he declared that the south will never vote for a wet. The Tribune recites the great Daniels record in the war, but leaves him to smart under the accusation of selling out his principles to the wet Democracy.

While the lambasting goes on up west there are shots from the interior. Yesterday from Sanford came an open letter to Editor Daniels. The missile hurled at him is signed by Paul Barringer. Down in Harnett, the daddyship of the epistle is ascribed to Dr. John A. Campbell, head of Campbell college, and redhot Hoover and anti-Smith, man of 1928. Why Dr. Campbell gets credit for writing this letter Harnett people do not say. It is a very seemingly dignified address to Mr. Daniels.

This grand assault assuming considerable proportions finds state Chairman J. W. Winborne in bed fighting influenza. The Democracy is giving Mr. Reynolds all that it has. Until this week there had been no doubt in the lines. There have been messages sent here within four days from Democrats indicating a considerable apostasy from regularity, and this synchronizes with these attacks. It seems, however, that the disaffection beat the letters and papers here.

In Mr. Barringer's letter there is almost a hint to Mr. Daniels that he may wake up in the niche left for Benedict Arnold. The statement does not do to Mr. Hoover. It says nothing for his more or less nebulous record on prohibition. It does not give Mr. Daniels a chance to give to his tormentors a kick. It teases him for voting for Bob Reynolds. Here is that queer document:

"As the matter in this letter not only refers to relations between you and me but between you and thousands of others, I am making it public and giving it to the press.

"As a child I was reared in a family of Democrats of the strictest sect. I can yet remember

"Cleveland is elected
 Just as I expected
 Climbing up the golden stairs."

"A little older I recall the fusion legislature, the little redback book put out giving a verbatim report of its activities, the fight for the grandfather amendment and the joy of its accomplishment.

"Later the fight against whisky, the four-mile law for whisky stills, the prohibition amendment in North Carolina, the Supreme court decision that the place of delivery was the place of sale.

"I grew up under the influence that Josephus Daniels stood for the best interest of the people and was willing to fight for their rights and for their moral betterment.

"As a young man my first experience in a state convention was at Charlotte when your liberal views had so thoroughly taken hold of me that I went against my associates and stood for Kitchin for governor against the reactionaries of our party.

"As a county chairman, I followed your light, convinced beyond question that you stood for a respectable state, a high morality, a sober people. As you put the navy dry, I gloried that a man from North Carolina should take that stand in face of the sneers and jeers of a morally corrupt people. At West Point, I am told, there are a large number of marble slabs and engraved on these are the names of the great American generals. One of these is blank, a man who deserted his country and his ideals. It is blank there, but stamped with a heavy black border on every American heart is the name Benedict Arnold.

"I am glad that you have stood for prohibition until it is a part of the law of the land. Whisky has been our most devilish fighter and our most insidious campaigner. Long years ago the campaign was on rum, Romanism and rebellion. Romanism and rebellion are of the past, but rum still rears its head leading the fight against morality and happiness. Rum, Reynolds and ruin. I am told that you are out fighting for Reynolds, a man whom I heard make the statement that he wanted to repeal the 18 amendment, Robert R. Reynolds. From his speech I believed that rum was his middle name. Now I hear that he has changed his position, that he has adopted in toto Hoover's liquor platform and you are supporting him.
 "Mr. Daniels, have you deserted the moral forces in old age? Are you a friend of morality and soberness.

W. H. GROGAN

Republican candidate for State Insurance Commission.

leaving the ideals that have made your name great in North Carolina? Must those who have become imbued with the ideals which you have implanted lose your leadership? Come back to us; come back to your ideals. I cannot become reconciled that you, the great moral leader, have been persuaded to leave the ideals and have gone after strange gods. Robert R. Reynolds—Robert R. Reynolds—running in the primary on a whisky barrel. Listen to his new speeches as people are becoming nauseated with his decayed ideals. He jumps from the whisky barrel into a $45 spittoon and sitting frightened there, hopes that the stream will not become dry until he floats into the United States senate.

"Our retiring senator used a spittoon for its natural and legitimate purpose.

"Mr. Daniels, come back before it is too late. Help make and keep North Carolina respectable.

"You are chairman of the Temperance and Social Service committee of the Methodist church in your conference. How, Mr. Daniels, are you going to explain your action in supporting Reynolds? What would you think of the pastor of your church if he came out for the repeal of the 18th amendment?"

"You are well enough informed to know that the 18th amendment has not caused the moral breakdown. You know that it is inflation, money going where it was not earned, power given and no responsibility taken. It has been possible that one could get rich on his wits and not earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. Work the moral forces in old age? Are you a friend of morality and soberness.

CRITICISM OF THE TRIBUNE EDITOR IS NO EXCUSE FOR WET

 people, who believe in decent society and the integrity of the home and the marriage vow, vote for Mr. Reynolds they will have to shut their eyes and gulp him down as a bad dose.
 "God give us men a time like this demands,
 Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
 Men whom the lust of office does not kill,
 Men whom the spoils of office can not buy;
 Men who possess opinion and a will,
 Men who have honor, men who will not lie;
 Men who can stand before a demagogue
 And face his treacherous flatteries without winking,
 Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
 In public duty and in private thinking.
 For while the rabble, with their thumb-worn creeds,
 Their large professions and their little deeds
 Mingle in selfish strife, lo freedom weeps,
 Wrong rules the land, and waiting justice sleeps."
