

ADMIRAL BYRD TO ADDRESS GRANGE

Raleigh, Nov. 16.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, noted explorer and chairman of the National Economy League, has accepted an invitation to address the annual convention of the National Grange in Winston-Salem on the evening of November 18. Frank Page, chairman of the N. C. State Branch of the League, has been advised. Whether Admiral Byrd will discuss the program of the League or not, Mr. Page said he is unable to say. Presumably the address will be public.

Mr. Page did make public a letter, supposedly written by "The American Citizen" in "20 million homes, United States of America," as follows:

"Dear Veteran:

"Your bill has just been received for pensions, compensation and other benefits for the current fiscal year.

"Your previous bills have always been paid promptly without question, because I was very anxious that those of you disabled in battle or disease in the service, (or their widows and dependents) should be taken care of properly in line with the original 1917 legislation and in keeping with the traditions of our country.

"I did not notice until this year that I am called upon to pay annually $450,000,000, or more than half the bill, to Spanish and World War veterans who came out of the war able-bodied and well, but who later suffered from the usual hazards of civil life. I, myself, am subject to these same hazards, and have to pay the cost of my own misfortunes. Do you think it fair to ask me to pay for yours as well?

"Would you mind thinking it over, and sending me a corrected bill for war incurred disabilities only, and I will pay it with all my heart.

"In grateful recognition of your services to our country, and believing you to be as patriotic in peace as in war.

"The American Citizen."

WRITES ON SCHOOLS OF TOMORROW

(By C. E. Burney)

We all are compelled to agree that our only hope is education. The school must see the importance of living with children. Only as the school is placed on a basis of actual living can certain necessary social, moral habits and attitudes be built.

The school must be a place where life with its real experiences goes on. Modern civilization with its intricate and complex manner of living has made it necessary for the home to accept and cooperate with the many agencies interested in training youth. More and more the school is forced to accept the major share of guidance.

The present crisis is more than economic. Apparently we have created an environment with little thought of the future. The problem now is to meet the present emergency with intelligence and foresight and plan as far as possible a safe and sane program for our children in school which will give them opportunities for a social adjustment that will make possible the good life.

Social adjustment means life. We must begin by keeping in mind the progress made in our schools. Growth must come from what has been accomplished and the school of tomorrow must use as its foundation the school of today.

Education today starts in the cradle, progressive ideas starting in the nursery schools. From kindergarten to high school the child is the center of attention and is recognized as an individual in the making.

Conditions are changing so rapidly that yesterday's education barely covers today's needs. The burden of educating the public falls heavily on the schools of tomorrow. It must recognize the child as an individual in the making and offer not only opportunities of an enriched curriculum but it must also become a place where life with its real experiences goes on, where a child is inspired to participate and cooperate to his fullest capacity.

The most important factor in adjusting a child in his school environment is the teacher. Her influence may be for good or evil. The child learns to respect authority or becomes contemptuous of it. Discipline can come only from leadership. At the present is a time of readjustment of values, of new values, of inventory, let us ask ourselves as another teacher did who felt instinctively that we are weathering more than an economic crisis.

"I wonder if this is not a valley of decision? If we had not been derailed here, would we ever have seen that we were on the wrong track?"

In the past we were asked to understand and teach subject matter, to train for the worthy use of leisure, to develop good citizenship, to instill in the mind of youth attitudes that would result in good character habits. In the school of tomorrow, emphasis will be shifted from subject matter to the child as an individual in terms of needs, capacity, background, spiritual, mental, and physical health behavior, ambitions, in fact all of the factors which affect or play upon him.

In the school of tomorrow, social attitudes may be developed through experiences so that knowledge and skill will result in technique. Opportunities will be offered through student government with its home room organization, its campaigns, its assemblies, its plays; sometimes through its so called extra curricular activities.

We all agree to the ideal school environment for social attitudes, and we know that there are many compromises made in the present school organization.

The same qualities that have brought order out of chaos in time past are needed for "the new education." The task now is to adopt ourselves to meet the present emergency. Let us look to the pioneer of the frontier days—they "learned by doing" and theirs was a changing civilization. They lived history, were a part of a new country with lands to conquer. We are living today the history of tomorrow, we are part of a new era where education must lift the world from its fears, depression and idleness to a new life of hope and opportunity for each individual student in the great schools of tomorrow.

FORCED LANDINGS

TODAY'S NUISANCE: Quoting a front page article in this paper of last week, stating that the Brevard football team was in perfect shape and would give the Waynesville boys a "run for their money", proved unsuccessful. — Evidently Waynesville had no money because the team went down with defeat.

The same old "gag", Mark Orr, was in town over the week-end and as usual was pulling some fast ones. He was approached down on Main drag by a swell looking dame who was a Poppy saleslady and tried to influence him to buy one. Mark told her that he did not want another Poppy because he had one and also had a mother, too.

HEARD AND SEEN in some of the larger newspapers of the State where the Democrats had an election recently.

Archie Kellar is a speedy worker and I have come to the conclusion that he would make a good "unemployment agent." Here lately there has been a new addition made to Brevard by the Williams family moving in and immediately Archie started employing practically all of Mildred Williams time.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: The expense of smoking three five-cent cigars a day, principal and interest, for ten years, is $745.74; for twenty-five years, $3,116.74. The expense of three ten-cent cigars at the end of ten years, is $1,471.56; for twenty-five years, $6,382.47. At the end of fifty years it is $54,162.14.

REV. HARTSELL, I take great pleasure of congratulating you for rendering such wonderful and inspiring sermons Sunday.—"I think that you Baptist people should be proud to have a qualified man like Rev. Hartsell for your pastor. I have been in many cities and have yet to see a minister that delivers the spirit of God in his sermons like Rev. Hartsell.

The height of dumponess is to see a fellow come down Main drag and want to know where he could locate that new brand of whiskey that Roosevelt was distributing as samples of the future intoxicants, called "Charlie Corn."

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: Bill Laval, coach for the University of South Carolina has never played a game of football. Although he is supposed to be about the best that State.

THANKSGIVING is still drawing nearer and nearer and we are determined to get as many paragraphs pertaining to this day before it passes as we can. The following head is to start each paragraph. WE ARE THANKFUL:

That we cannot have two depressions at one time because we might have to elect another president to keep it from making such a dent in one man's head.

To hear that some people have sense even if newspapermen do not.

To know that Leon English's ear cannot talk because it might cause him to lose his wife.

That newspapers do not print all they hear and see—if they did there would not be as many Christians as are now existing in this old world.

To know that the rest of the world does not know what is going on here. If they did they would hang a crepe on each town and pronounce it "dead."

To know Gee McGee who writes a column headed "Nobodys Business," but sure do hate to see it existing throughout the United States.

That we have so many good-looking girls in our midst, but you boys take a little advice and not tell them this because you will have to put weights on them to hold them down, due to getting the "swell-head." You know what I mean, they will swell up like a balloon and float off to another territory.

That God did pluck a rib from Adam and make women—if he had not done this we men would not have anything to worry over and after all what is life if you do not have trouble. "But nine times out of ten you will find a woman at the bottom of it all."

That the world going around and around does not create the habit of drunkenness.

Messrs Louie Galloway and Haley Zachary of Middle Fork were in this section Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hendrix and son visited Mrs. Hendrix's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morgan of the Holly Pen section over the week-end.

Little Miss Flora Canupp was given a surprise birthday dinner, Thursday, by her aunt, Miss Beulah Rice honoring her seventh birthday.

Eight Caldwell farmers have had 38 cows dehorned so far this fall and others who will keep their cows in feed lots or barns are planning to dehorn their animals.

ANOTHER JOKE

A negro woman was testifying in a church meeting. She stood up and said, "Last night I dreamed sumpin, whum! I saw sumpin dai looked like a mule. It had teeth and eyes like a mule. It had ears like a mule, it had a tail and body like a mule," she was trying to make the other negroes think she had seen a vision. Finally one old negro, getting tired of the story said in a singsong, "Sister, dat musta been a mule you saw."

LEONARD BRAGG, Seventh grade.

We have with us this week Paul Couch, a former pupil of Little River school. He is very fond of baseball and we hope he will be satisfied with our school.

HAZEL GREENE, Sixth grade.

The school house on the hill;
When your friends are gone and left you,
And your days are clear and still,
Remember the days we spent together
In the school house on the hill;
Oh, the school house on the hill,
How sweet is every sound,
With the boys playing ball
And the children running round.

The school house on the hill is the place for me,
And my playmates are so happy
And everything is gay and free;
If I live to be a hundred
And go from east to west,
I remember the school house on the hill.

Because I love it best,
The girls are all so playful
And the teachers sometime, too, so you see
The school house on the hill
Is the gayest place for me.

ALICE LANDRETH, Seventh grade.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. W. P. MULL

On Thursday evening October 20, at the quiet hour of ten o'clock God in his great power and tender mercies called to her great reward our Dear Friend Mrs. W. P. Mull. She leaves a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. Mrs. Mull was a devoted Christian. She was quiet and retiring in disposition, a kind devoted mother and a friend to the sick and needy. She was held in high esteem among her neighbors and friends and was loved by all who knew her. She bore all her suffering and pain with patience and when God called her she was ready to go. We greatly feel the loss of our dear friend but our great loss is Heavens gain. Her presence here will be missed in many ways and we cannot bring her back. Her memory will go on as long as time shall last. There is one thing we can look forward to if we walk in the footsteps of Jesus we will someday meet her in Heaven.

A precious one from us is gone
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in a home
Which never can be filled.

A Friend,
CARRIE HOLDEN.

BIRTH

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boggs, November 10, a nine-pound son, named John Wiley.

COMPENSATION ACT SAID JUSTIFIED

now receives 60 percent of his average wage for varying periods of time commensurate with his disability, permitting him to carry on while readjusting himself to his changed condition. To assist him in this rehabilitation the very best medical and hospital care is furnished. Thus the over-burdened charitable organizations of the counties during the depression have been relieved of the care of the worker injured in industrial accidents. The total compensation paid or approved for the year 1930-31 was $979,978.00 and for 1931-32 was $710,849.00.

The medical profession and hospitals have not had the "charity charges" and both the doctor and the hospitals receive prompt cash payment for services, which it is pointed out was not the practice before the Act was adopted. They do not have to await the "settlement" or the obtaining of a judgment by the worker from his employer with attendant delay and the possibility of charging the bill up to charity. The medical and hospital costs for the year 1930-31 was $532,728 and for 1931-32 was $431,658.00.

The employer and employee have been made conscious of "Safety First." The Commission has conducted three annual state-wide safety conferences. On the 3rd and 4th of this month there was conducted at Winston-Salem, N. C. one of these annual safety conferences with 1200 employers and employees in attendance. In making studies of causes and prevention of accidents the Commission is rendering a real service to the workers of the State and the results obtained more than justify the adoption of the Act since a life or limb saved by prevention is better than compensation after the occurrence of the accident.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the love and kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our mother and friend, Mrs. Addie Stamey, and for the good attention shown by Dr. Chas. Newland. Also for the beautiful floral offering.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

To break up a cold overnight and relieve the congestion that makes you cough, thousands of physicians are now recommending Calotabs, the nameless calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of sweet milk or water. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish, no danger.

Calotabs are sold in 10c and 35c packages at drug stores. (Adv.)
