

Death of Allen DeHart

Allen DeHart, 77, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. C. Anderson, at Tellico, early Monday morning. Mr. DeHart was one of the pioneer citizens of the county and had hundreds of friends who will regret to learn of his demise. Though along in years the deceased was progressive and always stood for any proposal that would advance the interest of Macon county. He is survived by the following named children: Vance, John and Mrs. R. C. Anderson, all of Macon county; William of Copper Hill, Tenn., and Mrs. F. S. Hollifield, of Gastonia. The remains were interred at Tellico Baptist church Tuesday.

In Memoriam

Miss Zula Bryson, daughter of Mrs. J. L. Bryson and the late J. L. Bryson, the Bryson home where she was reared was a beautiful scene near the Cowee Baptist church, that we hear willing testimony to her beautiful life among us whose companionship it was a pleasure to enjoy. I count it my great privilege to have known Zula. My memories goes back to her school days, often times when I would meet her coming and going from school on the hills of old Cowee the gentle manner she met me and by name she spoke so nice. Also at the closing of the school exercises where she would meet with a host of her young friends it was especially noticeable of how thoughtful she was in trying to make others welcome, in her genial ways, which will linger with us through all coming years. While in her church and community in which she lived have felt the effect of her worthy young life. Her last work in Sunday school was as teacher of one of the Junior classes. The little children of her class all testify to her presence and faithfulness, and her devotion to the class cannot be surpassed. She often times would smile and give repeated clear testimony of her blessed acceptance with her Savior as going home to be with her Father. It has been said that her home life was simple and beautiful. Ministering to others was her greatest joy. Bound by strong cords of love for the large family circle at home, Eula had for each an especial interest and affection. In the midst of her suffering she would smile and express gratitude for any kindness shown her.

untimely,
So full of bright promises;
Gone with the sweetness of the flowers
But God knoweth best.
We know not why God took her
And question not His godness;
Clothed in pure white robe He gives
His own
When the sorrowful mother speaks of Home so lonely since Zula is gone,
A place is vacant in that home,
Her voice is stilled.
Her presence still lingers about the room.
And many attentions that she received
During her illness,
"If love and care could have prevented
Her days would not so soon been spent.
God our Father, He did see
Eternal sweet rest best for thee."
Not now, but in the coming years;
It may be in the better land;
We'll read the meaning of our tears.
But then, up there, we'll understand.
I extend to the bereaved family my most heartfelt sympathy. May God give them abundantly of his grace in this great sorrow and comfort
them as he alone can do.
Funeral services were conducted at the Cowee cemetery by her pastor near her home. A crowded church and bank of beautiful flowers was a fond token of love and esteem of those who felt their loss.
From a friend,
MRS. ETHEL PARRISH.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas, our Heavenly Father has seen fit to remove from our midst Brother W. M. Brown, we the members of the Otto Jr. O. U. A. M. No. 260, do hereby record our sorrow and mourn our loss. We feel deeply our loss for he was a faithful member and a loyal worker, and while our heads are bowed in sorrow we realize he has passed to his reward. Our hearts go out in tender sympathy to the bereaved family while we cherish the memory of the beautiful life he led, we will not forget those he loved and pray that God in His wisdom and mercy will watch over them. Therefore be it resolved:
First, that we bend in submission to God's will thanking Him for the godly life he led and the example he has given us how to live.
Second, that we take this means of expressing to the family our sympathy in their bereavement.
Third, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family and to The Franklin Press.

Simplicity of cooling system is a feature of the new Ford

A COMPLETE water plant is a part of every automobile as it is a part of every modern city.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The purpose of this water plant is to keep the engine cooled to a temperature that will make it efficient in operation. If it were not for this, the cylinder walls would become overheated and the pistons refuse to operate.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The cooling system of the new Ford is particularly interesting because it is so simple and reliable.

The radiator should be kept full, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather, a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

When the radiator is full of water, the engine of the new Ford will not overheat under the hardest driving. Yet the water is so regulated that it will not impair engine operation by running too cold in winter.

As owner and manager of this important water plant you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

The cooling surface of the Ford radiator is large, also need replacement after long service. For those little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

in staggered position so that each receives the full benefit of the incoming air. The fan is of the airplane propeller type and draws air through the radiator at the rapid rate of 850 cubic feet per minute at 1000 revolutions per minute of the motor.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a thorough, competent job at a fair price.
