

"IT'S WONDERFUL" SAYS MRS. WATTS

"It's wonderful, after trying all sorts of treatments and medicines, that Sargon should give that long hoped for relief, but it did, and I just feel that I ought to tell others about it," said Mrs. J. E. Watts, 056 Lawton

MRS. J. E. WATTS

St. S. W., Atlanta. "I was in a badly run down condition for several years; weak, nervous and debilitated. My liver was out of order, and I had been told I had gall bladder trouble. I was so dizzy at times I had to hold on to the backs of chairs to get about, and I was afraid to go to town. "I had severe rheumatic pains in my joints, and was constantly troubled with indigestion. Nothing I ate agreed with me. I had such smothering spells I had to fight for breath. I had three x-rays made of my stomach, and had my gall bladder drained twice. I took other treatments and medicines but they only gave me temporary relief. "I commenced to feel better after the first few doses of Sargon. My appetite returned, and I began to eat anything I wanted without bad effects. Then, my rheumatic pains left me. I commenced to sleep at nights. I am never bothered with weak, dizzy anywhere else I want to whenever I feel like it. I have gained five pounds. "I also took Sargon Soft Mass Pills. They are wonderful. They don't shock or upset the system, but are so natural in their effect, that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken medicine. I could have saved many a dollar and lots of suffering, if I had known about these grand medicines sooner." Sargon may be obtained in Franklin from Perry's Drug Store. Adv.

IN MEMORY OF MR. AND MRS. E. I. LONG

Our thoughts are very sad Underneath an aching heart For 'tis very lonely here With loved ones gone afar. Tho for some divine reason God called Aunt Emma away; Bid her lay aside troubles, All cares along life's way, And dwell where no sorrow Nor heartaches can enter. God makes no mistakes, Yet we miss Aunt Emma, Our sad hearts of sympathy With her loved ones shares For 'twas only three weeks Until Uncle Remus left us here. It's hard to get used to Death and its sad distress But surely it is coming God's will is always best. God's calls are not partial No, not unto any may We see the flu epidemic Calling them on every hand. As they toiled and labored Both in sorrow and cheer Never were they too burdened A worried friend to cheer On bending knees they faltered And to their Savior prayed For all whom duty bound To turn unto His way They often talked of heaven That home bright and fair, She of brother and father She longed to meet there They were both loving parents, As companions they were true Loyal and affectionate to grandmothers Patient with their daughter, too Always there were beside them In sickness, trouble and distress Offering thinking and suggesting Anything they thought best. Grieved was her only brother, Mother, daughter and husband dear Until it seemed that sorrow Uncle no more could bear And in the Cowee cemetery Both bodies were laid there. Grandmother, weep no more You gave them in prayer By faith our Savior promises We'll meet loved ones there. Their daughter's sorrows, how deep She was the only child Always beside her parents A co-worker with a smile. We all realize a vacant place And miss them both here But let's all be ready The Savior's voice to hear. Their loving nieces, MRS. EULA FOSTER MRS. EVA LEE.

BOYS HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

A preliminary hearing Saturday before Magistrate George Mallonee resulted in holding without bond to the superior court, Vernon Stockton and Cecil McClure, boys about 17 years of age, charged in warrants with criminal assault on the person of an old woman who lives on South Skeenah, Macon county. The court house was packed to capacity for the hearing. Attorney George Patton represented the state, while McKinley Edwards, of Bryson City and J. Frank Ray, of Franklin, were the attorneys for the defendants. The evidence showed that the boys named, and Dude Cowart, about 20 years of age went to a home on South Skeenah about three weeks ago, where one of them assaulted the master of the house with a horse-shoe, attempted a criminal assault on his daughter and assaulted the man's wife, a woman 50 or 60 years of age. The woman testified that Stockton dragged her into the yard and that there all three assaulted her. The evidence showed that all three boys had been drinking and that they brought whiskey to the house. Cowart has never been apprehended. Stockton and McClure were arrested the morning after the alleged crime and have been in jail here since that time. These cases will probably be heard at the April term of Macon superior court.

P-T. A. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association will be held at the school house the first Friday in March. These meetings are for the women who have children in school and for those who are interested in the welfare of some child in the school. If you are a grandmother, come, and you will be an inspiration to the mothers and teachers. If you are a young mother, and have no child in school now, come and help make a better place in a better school for your child later on. We need you. Let us get together and work together for the betterment of our children, our school and our community. Don't stand off and criticise your child's teacher and the school in general. Go and see for yourself. Be a booster, not a knocker. In the P-T. A. Bulletin for Octo-who have the same interest, and let us make these meetings a benefit to every member of the club.

The meeting begins promptly at 3:30, Friday, March 1st. "Courage" is the topic of the general subject, "Child Culture," to be given at the March meeting of P-T. A. The following ladies have consented to present the subjects assigned them: "Fear, the Millstone on the Neck of Humanity"—Mrs. C. Noyse "Better Than Slaying a Dragon"—Miss Rachel Davis "Physical Courage, Resourcefulness and Self Confidence Valuable Attributes in the Child's Character"—Mrs. J. S. Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

THE practical value of Ford simplicity of design is especially apparent in the fuel system.

The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel,terne plated to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered.

Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way.

The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine.

The carburetor is specially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service.

Since all adjustments are fixed except the needle valve and idler, there is practically nothing to get out of order.

The choke rod on the dash acts as a primer and also as a regulator of your gasoline mixture. The new hot spot manifold insures complete vaporization of the gasoline before it enters the combustion chamber of the engine.

As a matter of fact, the fuel system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little service attention.

The filter or sediment bulb should be cleaned at regular intervals and the carburetor screen removed and washed in gasoline. Occasionally the drain plug at the bottom of the carburetor should be removed and the carburetor drained for a few seconds.

Have your Ford dealer look after these important little details for you when you have the car oiled and greased. A thorough, periodic checking-up costs little, but it has a great deal to do with long life and continuously good performance.
