CORSICA LOOMS AS U. S. AIR BASE

THE ISLAND OF CORSICA, taken from the French by the Axis, will make an excellent base for Allied air operations against northern Italy should the Germans set up a defense line along the River Po. Sardinia would have to be taken before Corsica could be occupied and used for that purpose, but Allied bombers taking off there (1) would fly only 200 miles to Turin (2), Milan and the Po. Brenner Pass (3) is only 320 miles northeast from Corsica and planes heading there could carry heavy bomb loads. (International)

Two-Day Family Fued Ended In Fatal Shooting

shooting Mrs. Daves and son, James, and that he then shot McCall with a shotgun.

The investigation made by officers and a reporter from The Transylvania Times at the scene of the shooting revealed that trouble between the McCalls and Daveses had been brewing since last Sunday afternoon. The first controversy, it was stated, developed over a matter involving a son of Harley McCall, Walter and James Daves. Another argument was said to have been over a question of "dividing blackberries." Between Sunday afternoon and Tuesday afternoon several fist fights between various members of both families are alleged to have taken place.

Wounded members of the Daves family said that Harley McCall went to their home late Tuesday afternoon "dead-set on having a racket," as the 13-year-old Lonnie put it, and that McCall and James became embroiled in an argument and then the shooting started with McCall firing the first shot from a .32-calibre pistol.

Funeral service for McCall was held Wednesday afternoon at Shoals Creek Baptist church. He is survived by his wife and 10 children.

Ira Daves, who was said to have left home after the shooting ended, told officers he walked four miles before catching a ride to Rosman where officers found him about midnight Tuesday. He was shot in the lower abdomen.

"No, but there's a MacPherson who is willing to try," was the reply from a dark corner.
