President Roosevelt Cites Responsibility Faced By U. S. Press

WASHINGTON - Following is the text of President Roosevelt's sp.cial National News paper Week message:

"National Newspaper Week again affords an opportunity for us to renew our faith in the principles of Democracy and to reappraise our efforts to sustain that Democracy against our enemies. In this supreme war effort the daily and weekly newspapers of America are charged with great responsibility. It is their task to keep the people fully and wisely informed, to record and publish those sober facts that will steady the helm and even the keel of a nation tossed on the sea of wartime uncertainty.

"Today the war news is better than it was a year ago. We are on the offensive; the enemy has been dislodged in many quarters. Yet the need for a sharp perspective, for a sure balance, for an intelligent exaluation of our gains and a cautious weighing of our future tasks is imperative. The enemy would confuse and disintegrate us with rumors and minunderstandings Our most effective weapon against his malicious falsehoods is the truth, an accurate, full and fair presentation of the news in a free press.

"The rights of a free press are the safeguards of the people the responsibilities of a free press are the commandments of the people."
