

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: Can I use DDT as a spray over my poultry to rid the flock of body lice?

ANSWER: R. E. Greaves, poultry pathologist at State College, suggests that you use the general methods of dusting, dipping, or treating the roost poles with nicotine sulphate until more is found out about the use of DDT. He says that the nicotine sulphate preparations enjoy their wide popularity because of their high efficiency and the ease with which the flock can be treated. Nicotine sulphate is not only good for de-lousing poultry but is also efficient against the tropical fowl mites.

QUESTION: Will a few sheep be profitable on the average farm?

ANSWER: P. E. Swindell of Linger Longer Farm at Fairfield and County Agent J. P. Woodard of Hyde County can answer this question. Swindell keeps from 15 to 20 sheep on his 80-acre farm and his receipts from lambs and wool during the past three years are $631. "They run in the fields in winter after the crops are harvested and go to a grazing crop in early spring," Swindell says. "They are good lawn mowers and I find them profitable. I can shoot straight when the dogs bother them."

QUESTION: How can I make a home-made egg candle?

ANSWER: Take a wooden or cardboard box and bore a one-inch hole in the end of the box about the center. Suspend a 50 to 75 watt light bulb in the box and provide a reflector, say a white piece of paper, opposite the hole bored in the box. It is a good idea to make a small opening in the top of the box at the back side so that you can see how to move about the room. Candles should be done in a dark room where no light other than the light from the candle is present.

Gifts of God

Draw on your imagination for a moment and consider with me an altogether improbable circumstance. Suppose a well-groomed gentleman with an easy flow of language should mount an improvised platform in the public square of an agricultural county-seat town next Saturday afternoon, play a phonograph record through a loud speaker to get an audience, and then should say:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—there is just so much water in the entire universe; so much and no more. Any time you drink more of it than you need to quench your thirst, you are greedy because some unfortunate person somewhere on earth wants water. He is thirsty. His throat is dry and his lips are parching. And it is all for want of the water which you so wantonly swallow."

It Is Not True

Such a speaker would soon lose his audience. People would walk away and leave him. Some of them might think about having his head examined because they know his ideas are out of joint. There is no connection whatever between one man's abundance of water and some far-away stranger's thirst. The need of the sufferer, even if he were a victim of cruelty, is apart from the owner of a good well.

But the speaker might hold his audience if he said something like this: "Ladies and Gentlemen—there is just so much wealth in the world; so much and no more. Anybody with more than he needs for food, clothes and shelter is greedy because there are many people in China and India who never had a square meal in their lives. They are poor because a few people get very rich."

Another Fallacy

This speech is no nearer true than the one about the water. Both have some facts in them but they are not related facts. I am not trying to say that wealth is free and cheap like water, but I am saying this: My neighbor's fine home and big car have cost me nothing. He has more than I have because he (or his father maybe) has more wealth-creating ability than I have.

There is such a thing as oppression of the poor. There is such a thing as exploiting labor. It is a crime which Jesus decried openly. It is also a short-sighted vice because it leads toward poverty and not toward wealth. "Good money in circulation" is a manifestation of prosperity and it occurs only in lands where workers are well paid and thus permitted to maintain good homes and live in comfort.

America's Blessing

Workers are paid well in America, twice as well as in England and six times as well as in Russia, and America is a rich country. Families live on $1 a month per person in China—China is a poor country. Is China poor because America is rich? No! Without the United States as a customer, and supplier, the Orient would be poorer still. The difference is that we have liberty, and they have oppression.

We Americans receive countless benefits from God's hand that people in other countries never heard about. Is God partial to America? Certainly not! Our benefits come through a channel that the rulers of other countries have blindly and selfishly closed by exploiting labor. Our God-fearing ancestors opened it for us long ago. The channel is personal freedom, protected by representative, constitutional government.

As to food supplies for 1946, only sugar and some fats and oils are expected to be short when summer comes along.

What do you see in the woods?

Remember the old saying about the man who "couldn't see the forest for the trees"? Lots of people are like that. All they see is trees. Others look at the forest and see it filled with books, magazines, newspapers. They see the raw materials of many great industries which depend on pulpwood, such as rayon and plastics. They see cartoons and boxes, and many other products manufactured from pulpwood. They see jobs and wealth. Security for the workers and prosperity for the entire community. And if this forest wealth is properly harvested, it will increase in value in the years to come. Let's take another look at our woods. Let's look at the trees and see the opportunities that lie within.
