To store bowls, platters, and odd dishes without stacking them, remember that a group of "stepped" shelves is useful.

A nut pick should have a place in every kitchen; it may be used to remove corks, to punch holes in sifting-cans, to untie hard knots, and to clean seams in milk pails and other utensils. Cherries or small pickles, too, may be easily removed from their containers with a nut pick.

Tongs are a useful addition to kitchen equipment and are especially efficient for turning meats, cakes, and pies in over, and excellent to use in rinsing dishes.

To prevent pictures from marking the wall — When hanging pictures, place a thumbtack on the back of the pictures at each of the lower corners. This will hold the picture far enough from the wall so that it will not leave a mark. Picture rearrangement is thus permitted from year to year.

When turkish towels have become worn or faded, simply cut them in squares and keep them to use as dishcloths.

A low-pitched, well-modulated voice will rule out all whining, scolding, nagging, and complaining. Sandwiches will keep moist for

Vets Problems

Q—What is vocational advisement all about and why is it required under Public Law 16?

A—The main purpose of vocational advisement is to determine whether a disabled veteran should train for a profession, or for a particular trade or occupation based on his previous education, experience, personal desires and present ability. The veteran is interviewed by highly trained specialists who will consider his desires, but are required to advise him against starting a course for which his aptitudes or physical limitations do not insure reasonable likelihood of success. In short, this advisement is mandatory under the program to insure the disabled veteran's proper rehabilitation.

Q—Under Public Law 16, must I go to a vocational school or may I go to a liberal arts college, a high school, or similar institution?

A—You may enroll in any VA-approved educational institution or training establishment offering the course of training which VA has found you need to insure your proper rehabilitation in line with your own desires.

Q—Will my disability compensation be reduced if I go into training under Public Law 16 or under the G-1 Bill?

A—No.

Q—I am receiving compensation for injuries received during World War II, and would like to know if my compensation check is subject to seizure by creditors or for taxes?

A—No.
