Davidson To Be Here Twice A Month

Beginning January 20, John A. Davidson, Assistant district officer, North Carolina Veteran's Commission, will be in Sylva at the courthouse every other Thursday in the mornings to consult with any veterans or dependents concerning any of their problems.
Mr. Davidson replaces Dave Sigmon with the Veteran's Commission.

Several spring seasons in the early 40's plagued strawberry growers with spring frosts severe enough to almost wipe out the early crops. This experience has made plant breeders start work on frost hardiness of the flowers as a highly desirable quality in a strawberry.

STATE COLLEGE HINTS TO FARM HOMEMAKER

By RUTH CURENT
State Home Demonstration Agent
Wise Waste - 1949 Resolution:
To throw away sometimes is thriftier than to save, household management specialists say. They explain that some articles, likely to accumulate around the house, are accident hazards which should be discarded promptly.

Any chipped or cracked glassware—whether tumbler, canning jar, cooking, or serving dish—should be retired from use to prevent cuts as well as possible waste of food. Chipped enamelware also should go out of kitchen service because it may leave tiny glass-like particles in food prepared or cooked in it. Once china or pottery is cracked or chipped, it cannot be kept sanitary by ordinary dish washing. A cracked cup, therefore, is a health hazard as well as an accident hazard.
Tippy pots and pans have caused many a serious burn. Cooking utensils should stand steady on the stove.

Home medicine cabinets are inclined to fill up. Old pills, prescriptions and remedies are a nuisance and are dangerous to have around. They should never be saved for future use except on specific instructions from the physician. Some drugs deteriorate with age.

Other items which may wisely go out are toys with sharp points or edges or any loose parts which a child can get into his month. Tiny toys also have proved dangerous for young children. If the toy cannot be fixed for safety, it pays to throw it away.
Finally, be sure not to throw items on trash heaps or into open containers where children can find them.

HINTS ON WINTER DRIVING OFFERED

"For safety, winterize your driving" is the advice offered to farmers and other rural residents today by M. L. Snipes, county agent for the State College Extension Service.

Quoting records of the National Safety Council, he said accident rates increase from 24 to 53 per cent during ice and snow months. Some of the reasons for the increase, the agent added, are longer hours of darkness, poor visibility caused by snow and ice, fog and frost on windshield, and slippery roads—all of which add serious hazards to normal highway traffic.

"If you must use your car in severe winter weather, don't gamble against these odds," Mr. Snipes said. "Be prepared. Good winter equipment, extra caution behind the wheel, and slower speed will turn the odds in your favor."

The farm agent offered the following "timely tips" to help drivers win the battle against winter traffic hazards.

"Get the feel" of the road surface when you start out.

When road surfaces are snowy or icy, reduce speed so you can stop in time. At 20 miles per hour, it takes four to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice than on dry concrete. Slow down well in advance of intersections or curves and avoid following other vehicles too closely.

Keep windshields and windows clear of snow and ice on the outside, fog and frost inside.

Use tire chains when snow or ice conditions prevail. They reduce braking distances from 40 to 70 per cent.

Drive with your lights on to combat poor visibility in stormy or foggy weather.

Signal intentions of turning or stopping.
