Program For Pastor's Conference Announced

The program for the regular weekly Tuckasee Baptist Pastor's Conference, which will be held in the Sylva Baptist church, Monday Mar. 28, will begin at 10:30 o'clock with worship service conducted by Rev. T. F. Deitz. At 10:45 business announcements will be made and disposed of and at 11 o'clock a message by Rev. C. E. Parker, will be delivered. While these conferences have been held regularly each Monday for a long time only a few of the ministers of the county have attended regularly. These conferences are for the benefit of all the pastors and as many as will are urged to attend the meeting Monday.

North Carolina now has 41 artificial breeding associations serving 50 counties. The associations have a membership of 7,450 farmers who have signed up 35,708 cows under the program.

Bryson Of Glenville Has Purebred Herefords

A herd of purebred Hereford cattle is being started by Frank and Clayborn Bryson of Glenville. They not only have some good livestock to begin with but they have some feed crops in the making. Ladino clover and orchard grass will be seeded and fertilized in accordance with recommendations of the State Soil Laboratory. You cannot have good cattle without good feed.

Turpin Plans Summer Pasture

John Turpin, a new dairyman of the Qualla section, is planning ahead to have plenty of feed during the hot months of July and August. His plan calls for seeding about two acres of sweet sudan grass around the first of June. This crop thrives in hot weather and dairy cows like it. It is a crop that milk producers can use to relieve permanent pastures and keep the cows in top production.
