SYLVA HIGH SCHOOL DEVELOPING AUDIO-VISUAL TEACHING PROGRAM

In line with the accepted trend in education, Sylva High school is trying to develop its audio-visual teaching program. During the present school year several new pieces of equipment have been bought for the school by principal Ralph L. Smith. Among these are a 16mm sound motion picture projector, a 35mm slide film strip projector, a large beaded screen for the auditorium, and a wire recorder. This last piece of equipment has given rise to a new idea in bringing about appreciative understanding between groups of school children in widely separated regions of our country.

Mr. Smith and the principal of an Oregon school conceived the idea last summer when they worked with audio-visual materials in a graduate course at Peabody college. They planned then to have groups of children from their respective schools correspond with each other in a conversational way through the medium of wire recordings. It was felt that this would be highly educational in a variety of ways, since it would be a vitalized way of exchanging information and ideas.

The initial recording has been received from the Oregon school which is located near Portland. This recording was originated by fifth grade pupils there, and fifth graders from the Sylva school are currently preparing to make a recorded reply. Questions are asked and answered by pupils' own

FIELD DAY PLANS FORMULATED

Cullowhee — Plans for the annual Literary and Athletic Field Day at Western Carolina Teachers College are rapidly nearing completion. This event is under the sponsorship of the Science Club of the college and is under the direction of Professor Gerald Eller, faculty advisor to the club. The Field Day is scheduled for March 17, on the campus of Western Carolina.

All high schools in Buncombe, Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, McDowell, Macon, Madison, Mitchell, Swain, Transylvania, and Yancey counties are invited to participate. All schools intending to enter are urged to contact Tom Grogan, president of the Science Club, before March 1.

Last year a record attendance of 1000 high school students was recorded. This year over 1500 are expected to attend.

Beginning this year a large trophy will be presented to the school winning the greatest number of points in the entire Field Day. The winning school will keep this trophy for a year and will have its name engraved on it; then it will pass to the first place winner of the following year. To gain permanent possession of the trophy a school must win the event for three years, not necessarily consecutive. Smaller trophies will be presented to the second and third place schools and certificates of award will be given to the students winning each of the individual events.

Waynesville Township High School won the first place trophy in 1949; Murphy High School was awarded the second place trophy, while Franklin High School coped the third place award. Individual certificates were presented to approximately 300 high school students.

The purpose of the Field Day in sevenfold: (1) To stimulate a healthy competition on the part of the high schools of this region in both athletic and literary fields; (2) to give to the students of the high schools who may be talented an opportunity for the wholesome expression of their gifts; and (3) voices recorded on the spools of wire which travel between the schools. Thus two regions, the Appalachian Mountain area of North Carolina and the Pacific coast area of Oregon, which are geographically remote from each other, are brought together in a classroom, and pupils, who have never seen each other hear each other's voice, learn each other's interest, and try enthusiastically to understand each other's problems.

to enable high school faculty members to check the results of their teaching and compare their students with the students of other schools.

(4) To stimulate interest in clean sports and to promote a physical fitness program; (5) to enable the college to get firsthand information on the work being done in the various high schools; (6) to strengthen the cordial relationships between the college and the public schools; and (7) to lay the foundation for a fuller cooperation in the future.

The competition is divided into two general fields and completely covers the high school curriculum. Tests on various subjects in the literary field are given by members of the college faculty, musical competition is judged by accomplished musicians, and athletic contests are held. Also, exhibits of student-made articles of home economics, fine arts, handicrafts and other subjects are shown.

It is hoped that all the schools in the 14 Southwestern counties covered by the Field Day will make some effort to enter.
