

Contract Expected To Be Let In May On $2 Million Structure At W.C.T.C.

Plans Have Been Completed For Library And Science-Classroom Building

Project Is Part Of $3,384,200 For New Buildings At College

CULLOWHEE—Initial plans for construction of a library and science-classroom building at Western Carolina Teachers College here have been completed.

The two buildings are expected to cost approximately two million dollars.

Prof. C. F. Dodson, chairman of the building committee, said the final plans will be completed and sent to Raleigh for State approval this month. Formal letting of the building contracts is tentatively planned for May.

The two buildings will use approximately $2,000,000 from the $3,384,200 appropriated by the 1947 and 1949 General Assemblies for improvements at the college. Six Associates, Inc., and Anthony Lord, of Asheville, are architects for the two buildings.

The full $3,384,200 appropriation for improvements at the college includes the follows items, (1) Science-classroom building $1,250,000, equipment $162,000; (2) two 150 capacity dormitories $790,000 equipment $34,000; (3) library $630,000, equipment $60,000; (4) laundry $27,300, equipment $20,000; home economics practice house $15,900, equipment $5,500; (6) President's home was $30,000; (7) storage warehouse $4,500; (8) convert present classroom building into faculty apartments $50,000; (9) alterations and repairs to present building $75,000; (10) extension of water, electric, heating and sewer services $200,000; and (11) construction of driveways, walkways, and landscaping, $30,000.

Largest of the two new buildings comprising the present two-million-dollar construction program will be the combined science and classroom building. The three-story wing fronting on alternate N. C. Highway 107 will be the science building.

It will contain 11 laboratories, a projection room, classroom and offices furnished with new equipment. The roof of this wing will have an observatory for courses in astronomy and meteorology.

The adjoining four story unit will be devoted to laboratories, classrooms, and offices of the business, English, education, fine arts, history, and home economics department.

Campus radio station WWO will be extended to a modern FM broadcasting station.

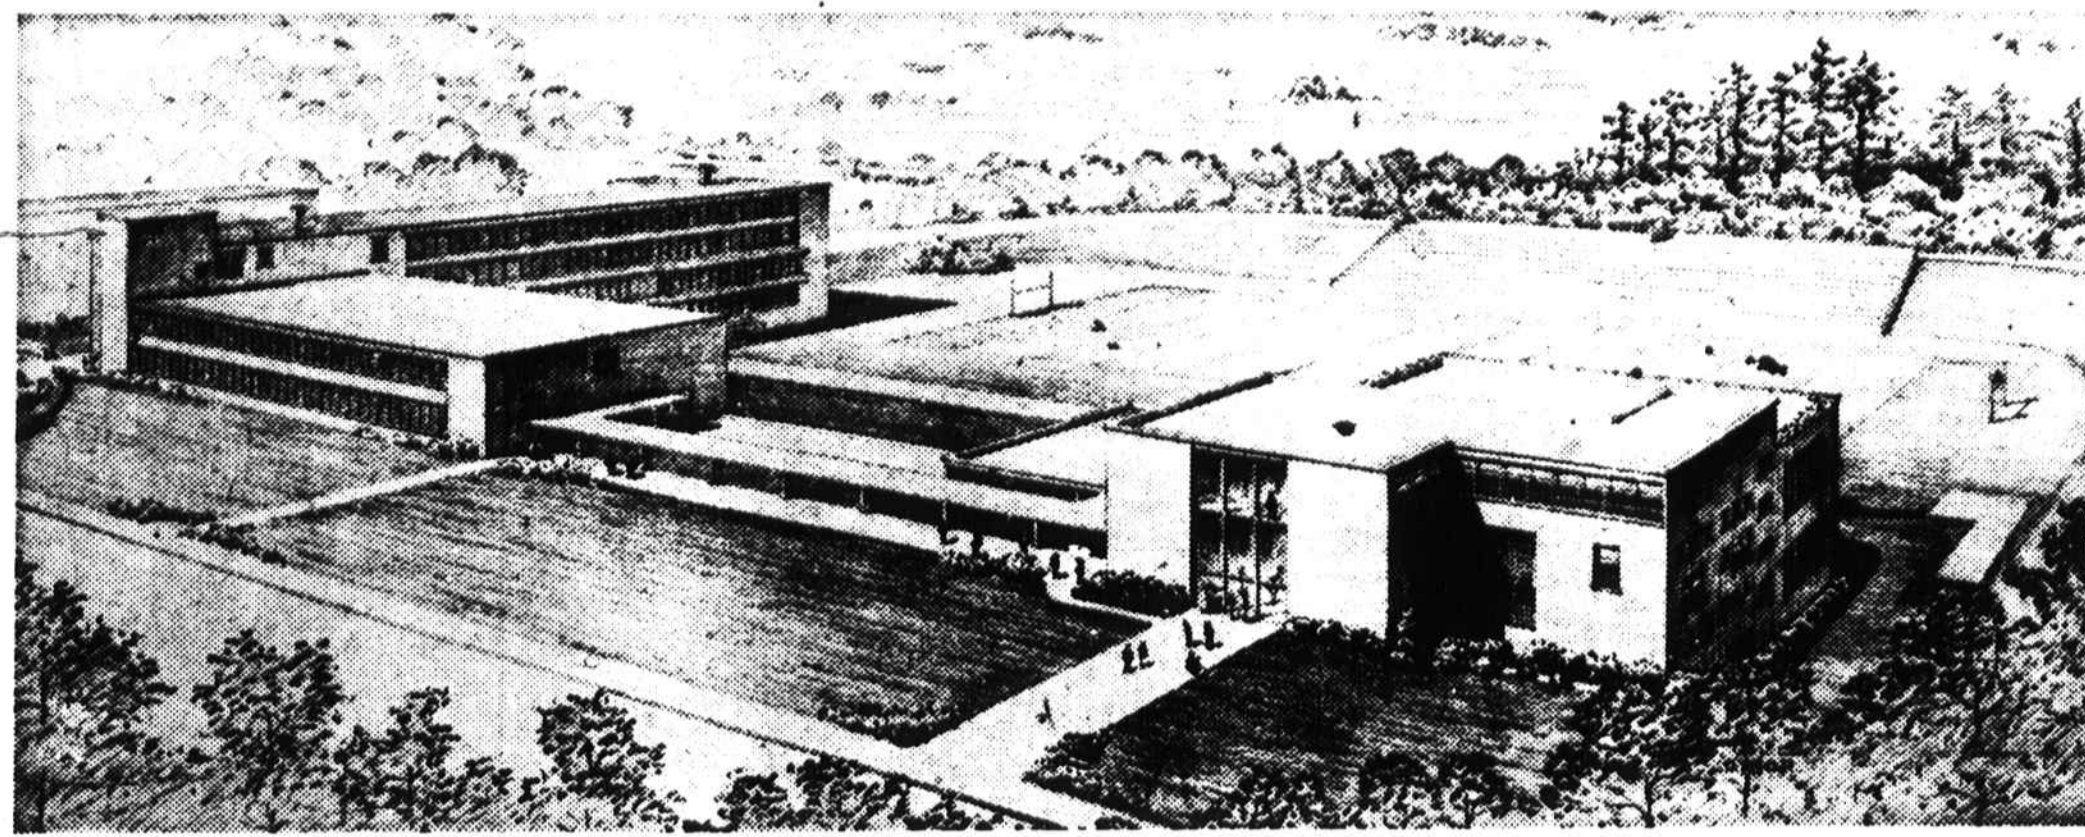

In addition to serving the campus needs, the station will broadcast educational programs to nearby high schools. It will have modern studios, control rooms and equipment.

There will be new equipment for the psychology courses, including a one-way vision screen for the observation of child behavior. The present testing, reading, guidance, and audio-visual clinics will be enlarged.

The home economics department will be equipped with all leading types of household furnishings in order to familiarize the students with their operations.

The industrial arts department will have a large shop area. A "Little Theater," seating 150, will be included in the back wing of the building. This wing also will house the dressing rooms, showers, sleeping quarters, and offices of the athletic department.

A modern herbarium and a museum of biological specimens will be located in the science wing. These will house a collection of the plant and animal specimens of the Western North Carolina Shown above is the architect's drawing of the proposed new Library, Science-Classroom building, estimated to cost $2,000,000, for which plans have been completed and bids will be called for some time in April. It is expected that contract for the modern building will be let some time in May. The building will face old highway 107 and run back to the Memorial stadium.

GLENVILLE 4-H CLUB TO SPONSOR 'HEAVEN BOUND' MARCH 24

"Heaven Bound" will be given at the Glenville school Friday night, March 24, at 8 o'clock.

This program is being sponsored by the 4-H Club of Glenville in cooperation with the Glenville Home Demonstration club.

"Heaven Bound" is to be directed by Medvick Love and members in her cast will be singers among the colored people of Jackson county.

The public is invited to see and hear this program.

Receipts will be divided between Glenville 4-H club, Jackson County cook book fund and the cast.

Receipts of cooperative frozen food lockers the country over are, generally speaking, increasing, but not increased income is more than offset by mounting operating costs.

Approximately 250 agricultural leaders from foreign countries will come to this county during 1950 to study United States farm programs and methods.

every activity pertaining to this organization whether it concerns livestock, homemaking, or agriculture. You are dedicating this week's edition of The Sylva Herald to the Jackson county 4-H club program. Therefore, I think you should be given recognition for your loyal support to this great organization.

Again in behalf of the Jackson County 4-H club members I express to you our thanks and appreciation.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. Johnnie V. Watson.

area. A history museum will also be started. It will feature Western North Carolina history and will specialize in frontier and Cherokee Indian relics.

The Library will be the culmination of a study made by Librarian Lillian Buchanan of the leading libraries in the nation. It will contain individual study cubicles for student use and roof garden for recreational reading purposes. Among the furnishings will be record players equipped with ear phones for undisturbed study.

An all-purpose room will connect the library with the classroom building. This gallery will be used for small concerts, lectures, forums, art exhibitions and banquets. It will have a seating capacity of 300.

It will be equipped with a 35mm projector and screen for educational and recreational purposes. This room is being designed for the benefit of the adjoining area as well as the campus.

In addition to Prof. Dodson, the building committee members are Dr. Ashbrook, Dr. W. Newton Turner, R. C. Sutton, Dr. H. P. Smith and Professor R. L. Leftwich.
