"Gentlemen, It Is Spring"

There is an interesting story told about Santayana, the philosopher. One glorious spring day he was seated at his desk reading to his students. Soft breezes drifted in through the windows. The magnetism of the warm sunshine was exerting its power to lure the students away from their classes. They sat or reclined in various attitudes of lazy inattention. Santayana's eyes traveled out over his students fixing themselves on a tree which grew outside the window. The tender buds were just opening. A bird sang in its branches. Santayana's voice trailed off. He closed the book. A short silence elapsed. Then he rose and said very quietly, "Gentlemen, it is Spring."

He took his hat and never returned.

Whether the story is true or not, I do not know. But one likes to think that it is. That Santayana went out along the Open Road in search of his ideal. That he felt the cosmic tug and pull of something greater.

Springtime stirs the better man within us. It is then that the shadow of the man we might have been walks beside the man we are. Growing things inspire us to grow. The renewing of life is a stimulus to renew our dreams and hopes and ideals.

In the springtime Nature starts all over again. The fading and dying of old flowers are forgotten in the brilliant blossoming of the new. Now is an ideal time for us to start over again, too. To forget old failures and to make new victories bloom in our lives.

Gentlemen, it is spring!—Package Engineer.

Egg production during 1949 increased about 4 per cent over the previous year in the major producing countries of the world. Continued favorable egg prices throughout most of 1949, and more abundant feed supplies at declining prices in almost every country, have encouraged poultrymen to keep more birds and increase the rate-of-lay in their flocks.
