WEEK OF OCTOBER 1-7 WILL BE OBSERVED AS NATIONAL EMPLOY PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

"Not pity, not charity, but equal opportunity for the handicapped worker!"

That is the year-round theme which will be highlighted in concerted community drives October 1 through 7 in observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

The Veterans Administration rehabilitation program for seriously disabled veterans has been in a large part responsible for demonstrating to business and industry that a physical handicap is not a job handicap when rehabilitation is coupled with suitable placement.

During the week October 1-7, VA personnel experienced in the rehabilitation and job placement work will be participating actively on each of the State's community NEPH Week committees in order to help North Carolina take a leading role in the nation's effort to use every ounce of its manpower to build the productive strength necessary to its all-important role of world leadership.

In North Carolina, the VA's role in discounting the disability and "stressing the ability" of the State's potential labor force is reflected in its record of having rehabilitated close to 5,000 disabled veterans under Public Law 16 who are now gainfully employed in an occupation for which they are fitted in every respect. Another 2,650 disabled veterans in this state are pursuing vocational rehabilitation training in nearly as many different businesses and industries over the state.

During NEPH Week, every ef-

New Faculty Member

Mrs. Louise Edwards Cowan, native of Bryson City, is a new member of the Sylva Elementary school faculty this year, teaching in the 5th and 6th grades. She is a graduate of Western Carolina Teachers College of the class of 1947 where she majored in Primary Education. She taught two years before coming to Sylva, one at Oakley in Buncombe county and one year in Bryson City.

She married Mr. Oliven Cowan, principal of Webster high school and they make their home in Webster. Mr. and Mrs. Cowan have one child, a son, Ronnie Mack, six months old.

fort will be made to acquaint both employers and handicapped persons with the employment services made available to him the year round. The State Employment Service will assist the employer in analyzing the job to determine what physical equipment, experience and skills, if any, are required for it. Then, the SES will analyze the available handicapped worker to determine the factors which may bear on his placement and retention. These findings are then matched for the good of the employer and worker.

Agricultural Divisions Merged At State College

The Extension Service, the Experiment Station, and the School of Agriculture at N. C. State College are being merged into the School of Agriculture and coordinated under the dean of agriculture at the college, effective Oct. 1.

Announcement of the major reorganization of the agricultural training, research, and extension programs of State College was made this week by President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina and Chancellor J. W. Harrelson of State College.

Cope Creek 4-H Club Plans For Achievement Day, Studies Forestry

The Cope Creek 4-H Club met Monday, September 11, at the club room in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson. Gail Painter presided in the absence of the president, Joanne Wilson. Plans for Achievement Day were discussed, and after discussing various projects some of the girls choose cooking, while the boys decided on plane modeling and lamp making.

Paper was distributed among the groups for a test on Forestry. Twenty-five cents was awarded Nell Robinson for having the most answers correct. Booklets on forestry were then distributed and a discussion on leave and forestry was enjoyed.

After enjoying refreshments the meeting was adjourned. A definite date was not set for the next meeting.
