OPENING OF PEARL HARBOR, HONOLULU

FTER ten years of dredging. Pearl Harbor, one of the greatest strategic points in the world, midway between A Occident and Orient, was formally opened the other day by the entrance and departure of the U. S. Cruiser California, with Rear Admiral Thomas in command. There was a general celebration in Honolu'u, including a banquet attended by ex-Queen Liliuokalani. Our photograph shows the California returning the salute from Camp Cowles, and coming to anchor just opposite the dry dock.

Submarine Link Between England and France Was American Scientist's Invention-Prof. Pupin's Inspiring Work.

Chicago,-Twice within comparative ly recent times has the feat of telephoning across the Atlantic ocean been pronounced not only feasible but within the probability of almost immediate accomplishment. The first prophecy was made thirty-five years ago by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, soon after he had invented the telephone. But in a recent letter to Popular Mechanics Dr. Bell said: "I may say I am a little more skeptical now I have no doubt, however, that it will be done some day." The second prediction was made by a former president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in an article on the important researches of Prof. M. I. Pupin of Columbia university, by which the problem of long distance telephony over land lines of hundreds of miles in extent was made practical, and many other authorities also concurred in this view. Now, as Dr. Bell has said in his case, they are more skeptical.

But, after, all, the difficulties in the way are only of a practical nature and probably will soon be overcome. Only few months ago the telephone enineers succeeded in adapting Pupin's improvements may be made both in ket.

invention to a submarine telephone cable across the English channel, betelephone conversation can now be carried on successfully between the two countries. And this was in the face of hostile criticisms by eminent European and American telephone engineers, that the practical difficulties in the way of this accomplishment could not possibly be overcome. Yet the thing was done in spite of the doubting Thomases of the telephone profession. Then why not a transat-degree, and as the problem is theoretically possible it is quite likely that eventually a solution will be found. Maj. W. A. J. O'Meara, engineer in chief of the work of connecting England and France by telephone, is confident that transatlantic telephony will come with continued advancement in the means of increasing the range of telephonic speech. In a letter to Poplantic submarine telephone? It is, of course, a much more difficult proposition, but the obstacle is one only of ular Mechanics Magazine he says: "As to my views on the possibility and value of establishing a telephone across the Atlantic, I may say that such a service would of course, be of considerable value, but such a desirable consummation does not at present appear to be in immediate sight. "Existing means or devices for increasing the range of speech, both in submarine and subterranean conductors, may be very considerably improved in the near future and further transmitting and receiving apparatus. "In view of the enormous strides made in recent years in the direction of increasing the range of telephonic speech. I think the prospect of transatlantic telephony is full of hope. and I confess that I have great faith tween England and France, so that i. the ability of engineers to provide eventually the means for closer intercourse of peoples separated by obstacles which may be considered insurmountable nowadays." At first blush the layman will point out that transatlantic submarine cable telegraphy has been in successful operation for many years; so why not transatlantic telephony? The answer is that while telegraphy is possible as long as the receiving station is able to discern the difference between a short and a long electrical impulse, the impulse that constitutes an electrical telephonic message must be transmitted and received with little or no alteration in order to be recognized as articulate speech at the recelving station.

Cable telegraphy differs from land telegraphy on account of the fact that a submarine cable possesses in a high degree what is known as "capacity; that is, before it will transmit electrical impulses in measurable amounts it must be electrically charged in a manner similar to a Levden jar.

Surgeon Deflects It in Head by Ligation of the Internal Cartoid.

Philadelphia-Demonstrations in advanced surgery were made in many Philadelphia hospitals by famous surgeons for the benefit of delegates assembled in this city, who attended the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.

An operation considered fatal until modern surgery lent its aid was performed at the University hospital to deflect the flow of blood from one part of the injured head of a patient. Its purpose was accomplished by Dr. John H. Deaver by the figation of the internal cartoid, the principal artery of the neck supplying blood to the greater part of the brain, the orbit, internal ear and the forehead and nose. The operation stopped the supply of blood to the brain through this channel, relieving the congestion. A sufficient amount, however, to maintain life is still conveyed by the external cartold and its branches, and as the injured portion of the skull heats nature will adapt itself to the changed condition and the arteries which have been forced to do added duty will gradually dilate until the normal supply of blood is distributed in all parts of the bead.

The dominie adjusted his glasses, sniffed, smiled and looked at the expectant couple. Then he looked again, smiled more,

"This is all right. It will permit Mr. Snelson to go gunning for a year, but it will not give him sanction to

"Wha-t-t-'s that?" gasped the oride elect, as the bridegroom-to-be noked bewildered, not hearing. The preacher shouted his discovery, and the couple nearly collapsed. They re-ceived a gunner's license from the bor

Dress Catches Fire as Her Mother Is Cooking Cake for Birthday.

New York .- The parents of little Bertha Wollendorf of 1468 Brook avenue, the Bronx, had been planning for a week to give her a surprise party on her third birthday. Secrecy had been imposed on Bertha's two brothers and three sisters and they had promised not to tell.

The children became excited as the nour for the party drew near, and for fear they couldn't been the secre they were sent out to play. Bertha came in about five o'clock and was curious to know why the dining room door was closed. Instead of telling, Mrs. Wollendorf dressed Bertha in her best frock and gave her a doll and carriage, her birthday present.

The mother then hastened to the kitchen to watch the cake that was baking. Bertha was so excited over her gift she had to follow her mother to the kitchen, wheeling the carriage, in which was the doll. Near the range the carriage was overturned, and while stooping to right it Bertha's pretty dress caught fire.

In a second the flimsy garment was ablaze. With a cry of terror the mother drew Bertha close to her in an effort to smother the flames. The woman's clothes were ignited, but despite this she beat out the fire in her child's dress before she considered herself. Bertha, shockingly burned, was taken to the hospital, where the doctors said she would likely die.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman is the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, is a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women appealsiats in the treatment of women's diseases.

Revery sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absorbards. All replies are mailed, scaled in perfectly plain cave any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Buffalo, N. Y.
