Last Tuesday the Institute was held but was not well attended. There were very few persons there, but one lady was present.

Prof. R. W. Scott Mr. C. P. Williams and Prof. James P. Kerr Misses Lucy Webb and Mary DeDane. The instruction was very fine indeed and the many questions were answered in a manner satisfactory to the persons.

We wish the farmers had attended in larger numbers as the Institute was a very good one. No lady brought bread for the prize.

When the next Institute comes we hope to see many farmers out. It is true that thrashing is on now and that the farmer is occupied but notwithstanding this we ought to attend.

DEATH OF HOMER J. BROWN

Homer J. Brown departed this life July 4, 1912. The doctors pronounced it meningitis that caused his death. Homer was born in North Carolina about thirty years ago. His father Captain Van Brown of Spring Creek preceded him several years ago. He leaves a wife and four children on Puget Sound in Western Washington and aged mother on Spring Creek N. C., three sisters and two brothers in North Carolina and one brother in Texas, all of who have our heartfelt sympathy. Homer married Miss Minnie Plemmons some twelve years ago they left North Carolina some four years ago first settled in Missouri then came to Washington and lived happily here until a higher power called him away my acquaintance with him has left a sweet remembrance which will never be forgotten a kind and loving disposition even temper nothing he had was too good for his friends who come to visit him, always displaying his generous disposition. The gentleman (Mr. F. C. Willey) for whom he worked often remarked that Homer was the best most trusted man he ever hired, and Homer would always say (if asked) that Mr. Willey was the best man he ever worked for, Homer's standing in our town may be more fully appreciated from the fact the large Methodist Church was filled to its capacity.

To the dear friends whom Homer has outstripped in the love of life we would say live so that when you come to die you will feel that Homer is waiting on the other shore.

To all his friends and relations you have our entire profound sympathy.

B. F. PLEMMONS.

MARS HILL COLLEGE

The Leading Co-Educational Institution in Western North Carolina.

A school that draws 379 students from 58 North Carolina Counties, and from six other States and two Foreign Countries, some coming half around the world to reach it must have merit worth considering by Madison county people.

It drew 132 students from Madison county, and 245 students from the rest of the world. Is this a fair proportion? Its students succeed at higher institutions and in life, out of all proportion to our number.

North Carolina Education says: "There are few schools in the world that do better work than Mars Hill, and make so little noise about it."

The Fall Term opens August 15, 1912.
