

Patience is No Virtue!

Be Impatient with Backache!

Too patiently do many women endure backache, languor, dizziness and urinary ills, thinking them part of woman's lot. Often it is only weak kidneys and Doan's Kidney Pills would cure the case.

A SOUTH CAROLINA CASE.
Mrs. Mary West, Spartanburg, S. C., says: "My back was so bad I couldn't get about. My appetite became poor and I felt all worn out and discouraged. Doan's Kidney Pills put me in good shape and now I feel better than in years."

Farms for Children.
Perhaps the smallest farms in the world, each four by eight feet, have been devised by Mrs. Henry Parsons for the International Children's School Farm League, and demonstrated in New York. Each child becomes owner of his diminutive farm, in which he works, grows and harvests seven different kinds of vegetables, and these are borne by him in triumph to his family. About each farm is an 18-inch path, which he keeps in order; under his instructor it becomes a tiny object lesson in good roads.

Not Needed.
While a traveling man was waiting for the opportunity to show his samples to a merchant in a little backwoods town in Missouri, a customer came in and bought a couple of night-shirts. Afterwards a long, lank, lumberman, with his trousers stuffed in his boots, said to the merchant:
"What was them 'ere that feller bot?"
"Night shirts. Can I sell you one or two?"
"Aup, I reckon not," said the Missourian, "I don't set around much of nights."—Lippincott's.

SCOFFERS
Often Make the Staunchest Converts.

The man who scoffs at an idea or doctrine which he does not fully understand has at least the courage to show where he stands.

The gospel of Health has many converts who formerly laughed at the idea that coffee and tea, for example, ever hurt anyone. Upon looking into the matter seriously, often at the suggestion of a friend, such persons have found that Postum and a friend's advice have been their salvation.

"My sister was employed in an eastern city where she had to do calculating," writes an Okla. girl. "She suffered with headaches until she was almost unftted for duty."
"Her landlady persuaded her to quit coffee and use Postum and in a few days she was entirely free from headache." (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.) "She told her employer about it, and on trying it, he had the same experience."

"My father and I have both suffered much from nervous headaches since I can remember, but we scoffed at the idea advanced by my sister, that coffee was the cause of our trouble."
"However, we finally quit coffee and began using Postum. Father has had but one headache now in four years, due to a severe cold, and I have lost my headaches and sour stomach, which I am now convinced came from coffee."

"A cup of good, hot Postum is satisfying to me when I do not care to eat a meal. Circumstances caused me to locate in a new country and I feared I would not be able to get my favorite drink. Postum, but I was obliged to find that a full supply is now here with a heavy demand for it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

A sire is half the herd.

Transplant trees in the fall.

Apples do well in cold storage.

Flow the garden in the fall, if possible.

Tilling increases the acreage without increase of taxes.

Alfalfa hay is a very good feed for the dairy cow, and corn silage is also good.

One great advantage in the poultry business is the quick returns on the investment.

Fine corn meal for the skim milk calf is a good substitute for the more expensive oil meal.

It is easy for one man, with a little help during the brooding season, to raise 4,000 chickens.

To double the amount of milk per acre and cut the cost of milk production in two—build a silo.

The production of green ducks is coming to be a large business, especially in the eastern states.

If from a well-nourished dam and a healthy strain of animals, the pigs rarely need attention at farrowing time.

Hogs should not as a rule be turned into more corn at one time than they can eat up clean in two or three weeks.

In pruning the orchard of diseased limbs and twigs, the pruning shears should be sterilized before and after each operation.

Hogs ought to have all the corn they can properly digest if they are to be pushed along and put quickly upon the market.

The care of the teats should always be observed by the milker, and when they get hard and rough should be anointed with vaseline.

Time spent in cleaning up an orchard in the fall of the year will be amply rewarded with better and cleaner fruit the next season.

When you see the sheep nibbling at their sides take a good look at them. There is something wrong. See if you can't find something wrong. See if you can't find some ticks.

Build silos, grow less acres of corn but utilize the whole crop in its best form, and grow alfalfa on the corn acreage saved for a cheap, palatable, home-grown balancer for corn.

Have a light poultry house, admitting plenty of fresh air without producing direct drafts of air. The germs of most diseases cannot live in fresh air or very strong light.

A yield of 12 tons of silage may easily be obtained from one acre of corn. Allowing 30 pounds of silage as a daily ration, one acre of corn will furnish four cows with silage for 200 days.

A bright, intelligent man, a good manager and a close observer will save more than his wages in the amount of work he will accomplish, and in maintaining the condition of his team.

The value of rape or any non-leguminous crop for green manure will depend very materially upon the mechanical condition of the soil and the rotation of crops which is practiced upon the land.

A house to accommodate a single sow does not need a great deal of ventilation, although there should be enough to keep the air in good condition, but where a dozen or more hogs are kept in the same house perfect ventilation is necessary.

Though it is generally conceded among poultrymen that the long continuous poultry house is well adapted to the housing of grown and laying stock, it is a fact that the young growing stock is better cared for in the separate small colony houses.

A little pig, just like a growing plant, needs sunshine. In both cases it seems to be a sort of tonic that makes the best development possible.

Catch the lame ewe and see if she isn't in the first stages of foot rot. Looks like it from here, though it may be that her hoof only needs trimming.

A good plan to give your hens plenty in the winter is to cover the hen house floor with leaves. Then scatter small grain and crushed corn among the leaves when you feed the fowls at noon. The chickens will get the grain and find wholesome exercise in doing it.

To fatten poultry for market, remove from the yards and place, without overcrowding, in a coop which should be provided with a canvas cover to draw down and keep the inmates in darkness. Do not feed for about six hours after placing in the coop, and then feed all they will eat. Feed three times a day, and keep fresh water and a basin of grit always before them.

Keep the hoe sharpened.

A check rein is a cruelty.

Soy beans are rich in protein.

Spread the farm manure in winter.

Tall weeds should be mowed and burned.

Selling the fertility of the soil is a poor way to get rich.

It is important that some grain be fed pigs intended for the market.

Storm windows should take the place of wire screens on the house.

After your crop is made the problem is how to sell it to the best advantage.

The department of agriculture says that rats do an annual damage of $100,000,000.

Feeding chicks when too young and too much at a time are fruitful sources of bowel trouble.

While you are at it, why not get on the track of some better stock than you have ever kept?

The young trees should be banked with earth, which will keep water from settling about them.

Gardens should be cleared from all remains of the season's crops and prepared for the next year.

The heifer bred too early always remains stunted in growth and her milk flow is shortened for all time.

If you'll save a little seed corn earlier in the season, you'll save a little money later in the season.

The leaves of trees that can be gathered in any quantity during winter and spring are very valuable.

The best compost heap is the manure of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, and fowls. All such should be saved.

The cost-saving movement, being an organized effort for improvement, is conducive to better community spirit.

For the amount of money invested in the poultry business, it pays a larger profit than any other farm specialty.

Silage is very nearly as cheap as pasture and in composition is practically the same, pound for pound, as timothy pasture.

Plow the garden this fall and see how it goes to be able to work the soil which, in the early spring, had this fall plowing.

Do not think because a sheep has a heavy coat of wool he will be able to endure cold rains and sleep without a warm shelter.

The yards and sleeping quarters must be kept dry and clean, as impure air and dampness are two things that a sheep cannot endure.

A part of the poultry on the farm is that covey of quail you have observed in the back fields somewhere, and a little attention to those small fowls is worth while.

It is not bad practice to treat the wheat seed to a liquid spraying of one pound of formaldehyde in forty gallons of water. It will prevent the smut damage.

The most important business of the dairyman is to increase the amount of manurial substances and apply them where they are most useful by the growing crops.

There is one big advantage in sowing the winter wheat late and that is you stand a good chance to escape the Hessian fly, which does so much damage to the wheat fields.

In feeding the cows do not give them more than they can use readily. Any feed that is left in the mangers after the cows are through will naturally represent a certain amount of waste.

Brood sows should have a quiet, warm, dry place where their litters may spend the first weeks of their lives without being unnecessarily disturbed by other animals or inquisitive people.

Unleached wood ashes contain from five to seven per cent. of potash and are an excellent fertilizer. As is well known, the ashes from hard wood are much richer in potash than those from soft wood.

The droppings from the cattle will benefit the pasture more if they are spread or broken up with a spike tooth harrow with the teeth set well apart. This prevents the grass from being killed out and weeds coming in where the droppings have laid.

A profitable crop cannot be grown on land deficient in humus, which is the same thing as rotted sod or rotted manure, with fertilizer alone.

Pigs that are allowed to run with the sows until she weans them herself are always more thrifty than those that are weaned early. Of course, this is pretty hard on the sow but if she is full fed on milk-producing feed she will not suffer greatly.

A good way to cure a dog of the habit of rushing out at travelers as they pass is to put on an old overcoat or otherwise disguise, fill the garden sprayer with diluted ammonia and give him a dose as he tears out into the road. One dose is generally sufficient.

If the lambs are to be fattened for market start them on a little grain just as soon as they will learn to eat it and feed grain continuously with good pasture until they go to the block. Prune fat ribs cannot be produced by alternate grain and pasture. They must be pushed to lay on fat from start to finish.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

LMERSON says: "I know no such unquestionable badge and ensign of a sovereign mind, as that tenacity of purpose which, through all changes of companions or parties or fortunes, changes never, hates no jot of heat or hope, but swears out opposition and arrives at its port."

THINK you 'mid all this mighty sum Of things for ever speaking. That nothing of itself will come, But we must still be seeking!"

SOME POTATO DISHES.
A potato salad that is not very common is the following: Dice six cold boiled potatoes, add the chopped whites of three hard cooked eggs; rub the yolks of the eggs smooth with a dash or two of mustard, and add a cup of sour cream. Season with salt and cayenne and pour the dressing over the potatoes. Let the potatoes stand in the dressing some time before serving.

Sweet Potato Pudding.—This is a West Indian recipe and makes a nice hot luncheon dish. Grate peeled sweet potatoes to the amount of two cups, add a cup of ripe bananas mashed, a cup of brown sugar, three cups of water, a tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful of ginger and mixed spices, a dash of salt. Mix well and spread about two inches deep in a well-buttered pie dish and bake for an hour and a half.

Savory Potatoes.—Cut two small pieces of bacon into small pieces, and place them in the bottom of a baking dish; slice three potatoes and half an onion over the bacon. Add two more slices of bacon, cut fine, season with potatoes; add another slice of bacon, season again and cover with milk. Cover the dish and bake for half an hour, then remove the cover and bake until the potatoes are soft and the top is brown.

Potato With Nuts.—Chop a cupful of nuts and put them into a basin; add a cupful of hot mashed potatoes, a little salt and pepper, two eggs well beaten, a half cup of bread crumbs and milk enough to make a mixture to roll. Roll in crumbs, dot a few pieces of butter over the top. Add milk to the pan and bake until thoroughly hot. Thicken with milk and serve poured around the loaf.

Potato Doughnuts.—Cream three tablespoonfuls of butter, softened; add three-fourths of a cup of sugar, the yolks of three eggs and the whites of one, one cup of freshly mashed potato and a fourth of a cup of milk, two and a half cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoon of nutmeg and a fourth of a teaspoon of nutmeg. Add the flour gradually; more if needed. Roll all the doughnuts before commencing to fry.

Marshmallows.—A marshmallow dropped in the cup of cocoa takes the place of cream and is enjoyed by the little people.

Meringue cases. may be made at home by piping whipped white of egg and sugar into cup shapes and baking. Serve these filled with ice cream, garnished with candied cherries.

Another nice dessert is chopped marshmallows, a few nuts and sweetened whipped cream.

Lemon Jelly, or any gelatine jelly, with marshmallows stirred in it and molded makes an attractive and effective pudding.

A half of a peach or pear, with whipped cream and a sprinkling of chopped nuts, with nut bread sandwiches, is a most satisfying dessert.

Hot Scotch scones split and spread with butter and orange marmalade are delicious sandwiches which take the place of cake.

A FRIEND in need, my neighbor said to me, A friend in need is what I mean to be: In time of trouble I will come to you. And in the hour of need you'll find me true." —Henry Van Dyke.

WHAT TO EAT.
Let us see what we can do with these inexpensive dishes to make an attractive meal. We are paying now for the cheapest cuts of meat what we paid a few years ago for the best, and it behooves us to use wisdom in buying any of the high-priced cuts.

Savory Stew.—Pieces of tough and otherwise impossible meat may be made tender and tasty by long, slow cooking. The stone dish or casserole has made a great difference in our meat bills where it is commonly in use.

Cut a round steak into cubes and roll each cube in seasoned flour. Put into a frying pan a little fat and fry a minced onion in it until a light yellow. Lay in the meat, fry for five minutes, cover with cold water and simmer on the back of the range for two hours. Season with salt and pepper, add a half teaspoonful of Worcester's sauce and a tablespoonful of catsup. Serve hot with boiled rice or mashed potato.

Bread and Cheese.—This bread and cheese will be followed by kisses if the recipe is carefully followed. Grease a pudding dish and put into it a layer of slices of stale bread; on each slice place a thin slice of American cheese. Beat one egg very light, stir it into a pint of milk, salt slightly and pour the milk over the bread and cheese. Set into the oven until browned lightly, and serve with a dash of cayenne. Serve hot. This is a nice dish for supper.

Coffee tapioca pudding is a simple dessert. Pour over a cup of softened tapioca a pint of left-over coffee. Cook until clear and serve hot with sugar and cream.

Without His Host.
"And those long, silent pauses in your speech—I didn't quite understand them."
"Perhaps not. Those were the points where I had written 'laughter' and 'applause' into my manuscript."

Mixed Up.
"How could that fellow be indicted for making counterfeit money?"
"Why not?"
"Didn't they say that jury found 'true bills'?"

Superficial Attempt.
Wiseman—I see Englishmen are re-learning the habit of wearing whiskers.
Cynic—Yes. A superficial attempt to revive the ancient virility of the nation.—Judge.

Low Altitudes.
"Mr. Wombat, you ought to go in for aviation. Many of our prominent people are taking it up."
"I suppose I ought. Have you got a machine that will skim along nicely about seven feet from the ground?"

The Finisher.
Counsel (to witness)—What is your husband?
Witness—He's a finisher.
Counsel—What does he finish?
Witness—Well, he's just finishing his time in Penitentiary prison.—London Answers.

The Worm Turns.
"What's new out your way?"
"Well, the other night a few of us voters hired a hall and took turns at dressing an audience of candidates."

For Once It Came True.
Fortune Teller—You are going to have money left you.
Customer—Glad to hear it. I've only got $2 to my name.
Fortune Teller—Well, after paying me you will have a dollar left you.

Appropriate.
"One of the most appropriate actions would be one against a powder trust."
"How so?"
"Because they would go gunning for it."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 24

THE TRANSFIGURATION.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:1-13
GOLDEN TEXT—"A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son; hear ye Him."—Luke 9:35. V.

1. On the Mountain, vv. 2, 8.—Peter's confession is connected closely with the lesson for today. There is no record of the intervening "six days." We are left to surmise that of fear and perplexity filled the minds of the disciples after listening to the words of Jesus found in Mark 8:34 and 9:1. These words must certainly have filled them with doubt and dismay.

As it is to meet this condition of mind Jesus takes Peter, James and John, those three partners in business, who were also present in the home of Jairus, and later went with him into the garden, and withdrew to a mountain, probably Mt. Hermon. Here he was transformed, i. e., metamorphosed, completely changed in appearance; read carefully the parable accounts.

Paul's Inspired Words.
Joined with Jesus there stood Moses the law-giver and Elijah the great reform prophet. With a commentary as to the interest of heaven in a dying Messiah and in the glory of that death.

We need to read Paul's inspired words (Phil. 2:6, 7) in this connection. He who thought it not a prize to be grasped after to be equal with God, yet took upon himself the form of a slave and was made in the habit or fashion of a man. Upon the mountain Jesus reversed the figure and the "servant"—the Son of Man revealed, e. g., showed forth, the glorious appearance of the Son of God. The disciples there caught a faint glimpse of that glory which he had with the Father before the world was (John 17:5). But the work of redemption was not yet accomplished, and so once more he turns back upon that glory. Small wonder, though, that as they beheld these heavenly visitors Peter should exclaim: "Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; let us make three tabernacles (booths), one for thee, one for Moses and one for Elijah." Notice, however, that Peter spake "for he wist not what to say" (v. 6). Mark alone records these words, and Mark largely received his gospel from Peter. Peter should have kept still. Some revelations are too sacred for speech. Paul had such a one. But while the mount of vision is glorious, Jesus knew the need of crystallizing that vision in the lives of those in the valley below. There was work yet to be done (vv. 14, 15). Luke tells us that the transfiguration came "as he was praying." So even yet there is no greater transfiguring and transforming power than prayer. Moses and Elijah appeared "in glory," whereas Matthew tells us that "his face did shine as the sun" (17:2). This was not a reflected glory, but the outshining from within.

Three Heavenly Voices Heard.
We have only to read 2 Peter, 1:16-18 to answer any question as to this being a vision in the modern acceptance of that term. We are also told that the word "vision" found in verse 9 of the lesson can be translated, "things seen." Indeed the disciples were "fully awake" (Luke 9:32 R. V.). The question as to how the disciples could recognize Moses and Elijah, whom they had never seen, is not at all difficult for the believer. They appeared "in glory" and when the glory was withdrawn they saw "no man save Jesus."

This also serves to help answer the question, "Shall we recognize in glory those whom we have loved while?"

Three heavenly voices were heard. Jesus' voice in prayer, his companions conversing of that great event yet to be accomplished (Luke 9:31) and the voice of God, "This is my beloved (only begotten) Son; hear him." What matters the opinions of earth's greatest lawyers and prophets, or the suggestions of our dearest friends, "Hear him." That is the crux of the heavenly message: "Hear him," as teacher, observe him as an example, accept him as Saviour and obey him as Lord and Master.

Fear fell upon them and they fell upon their faces in humiliation, but with tender compassion Jesus said "arise and be not afraid." It almost seems like a rebuke to Peter, who had so freely protested against the suggestion of the manner of his death. Jesus' transfiguration and the words of his companion, as well as the command of the Father, were a vindication of his authority and a revelation in advance of the supreme wonder of the cross. Arising they "saw no man save Jesus." It is far better to "see him" than to see, hold converse with, or have communion with, the greatest of earth, past or present.

2. The descent, v. 9:13.—As they descended from the mountain Jesus charged them to tell no man. Very different from our modern method. But the need is clearly shown as we read Peter's words (2 Peter, 1:15-21). Peter places great emphasis upon the importance of this experience, declaring himself as an eyewitness of his "majesty" as well as the "honor and glory." Peter and the others could not talk intelligently of this experience until after Christ's work was "finished" upon Calvary, vindicated at the tomb and glorified on the day of Pentecost. Hence they "kept that saying with themselves," obeying his injunction of silence. On the return they caught some word about his rising from the dead, hence the question about the return of Elijah. Jesus tells them that Elijah had returned in the person of John the Baptist and that he had been rejected (see Matt. 17:11-12). There is slight ground for impostors and insane people to say these words to themselves.

A PENALTY OF AGE

The tendency of advancing years to restrict activity and exercise is responsible for the constipated condition of most elderly people. The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels and the digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands upon them and rebel more quickly. Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in their action and should not be used to correct constipation. A mild, yet positively effective remedy, and one that is recommended by physicians as well as by thousands who have used it, is the compound of simple laxative herbs with pepsin prescribed by Dr. W. B. Caldwell over thirty years ago and now sold by druggists everywhere under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Dr. Caldwell wants everyone troubled with constipation to try Syrup Pepsin and will send a trial bottle, free of charge, to all who write for it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 West St., Monticello, Ill. Adv.

AN ARTISTIC DEVOTE.

Dunn—How pale and careworn Mrs. Brown looks!
Gunn—Yes, she has on her Lenten complexion.

Her Name Was Not Polly Ticks.
During the late campaign an Illinois candidate for the legislature was driving through the country, seeking votes among the farmers, when he met a young man in farmer's garb, walking by the roadside.

Having in mind a prospective vote, he stopped his horse and saluted him in a familiar manner, inquiring: "Are you paying any attention to politics nowadays?"

The young man stopped, looked at him suspiciously, and drawled out: "No, stranger; that don't happen to be my gal's name; but if it was, I wouldn't think it was any of your durned business."

This ended the interview as well as the prospect.

Shop Talk.
The inventor was talking to himself. "What, with my heatless light, my leakless fixtures, my invisible ash-can and my disappearing bed, I have made the life of the urbanite well worth the living."
"Wrong!" corrected the down-weighted Benedict. "You have yet to perfect the footless meter and the vanishing gas bill."—Judge.

Very Humble.
Mrs. Stiles—How do you like my new gown?
Mr. Stiles—Reminds me of a crowded theater.
Mrs. Stiles—Crowded theater! How so?
Mr. Stiles—There seems to be standing room only.—Judge.

A Household Remedy.

Sympathetic Affliction.
"Don't you think Jack ought to feed 'that cold' He is a little hoarse."
"He is—with hay fever."

A great majority of summer ills are due to malaria in suppressed form. Laxative and cathartics are but two symptoms. OXIDINE eradicates the malaria germ and tones up the entire system. Adv.

People are always doing things they would condemn in others.
