Regret Leaving Of S. T. Hensley

The resignation of Rev. Samuel T. Hensley as pastor of Biltmore Baptist church was accepted by the congregation at a meeting Sunday, and resolutions of appreciation and regret were adopted. Rev. Mr. Hensley has accepted a pastorate in Greenerboro.

"In accepting our pastor's resignation we wish to express our sincere appreciation of his splendid labors of love" according to the resolutions. "It has been Scriptural, eloquent, and powerful." Commendation also was voted Mrs. Hensley, and Miss Ila Hensley for their work in the Sunday School, choir, and in the congregation. The following resolutions were adopted by the church, signed by the following committee: B. H. Mathews, W. A. McGreechay, Clyde Reed, F. C. Lackman, and J. G. Terrell:

- 1st. That the members of Biltmore Baptist church, regret to part with Brother Hensley, because of the strong ties of friendship and love, that have existed during his three years with us.
- 2nd. That the church as a whole believes that he has been true to God the church and the Baptist cause, in Buncombe county.
3. That we recognize the fact that he has taken a decided stand against the works of the evil one in Biltmore, and that eternity alone will reveal what he has done for righteousness, in our town.
- 4th. That his qualifications as pastor and evangelist will give him great success, and our prayers will follow him to the new field to which he has been called.
5. That our benediction prayers, love and esteem of our membership will follow him his wife and family, who has done such great good to our church and community.
- 6th. That these resolutions be placed on our minutes, and a copy furnished Brother Hensley. The Baptist Messenger, the Biblical Recorder, and the Asheville daily papers, for publication."

Grape Vine Items

Everything is about normal here new.

Charlie Cargile who has been very ill is some better.

Mr. Gim Sams one of the prominent citizens of this place is making his home at Mars Hill, he was visiting friends and relatives here last week and looking after his farm.

Saturday and Sunday was our regular meeting time our pastor was present and preached to a large crowd of people several visitors present of which we noticed Mr. Bob Sams and wife. Mr. Bob Proffitt who now lives in Asheville but formerly of this place.

Mr. E. S. Morgan and little grand son Woodrow Morgan, motored last Friday to Mars Hill to visit friends and relatives, was more than glad to find W. P. Jarvis much improved in health and is expecting to teach school again this fall. Many of our people want him to teach our school here again.

Joel B. Morgan of this place who is now holding a job at Sunburst, N. C., with the Sunburst Lumber Company, spent Saturday and Sunday with his family here.

The News

The parent who has never had The News brought to the home is either ignorant or bad. Or both; else it would come.

Not ignorant of everything. "Of course not that is meant."

But of the good the News would bring. If one would have it sent

But few, if any, are so poor They can not pay the price To have the News come to the door. When little will suffice.

Three cents or less per week is paid; That is a sum quite small; That News that at the gate is laid, And may be read by all.

Some parents surely do not know They ought to take the News; Thus giving all the folks a show, And broadening their views.

The growing minds need wholesome food, Just as the bodies do; And parents that are wise and good Will get it to them, too.

The News tells what is going on In places far and near; Its columns children read and con, The News they like to hear.

Some parents know, but will not do; They for the stingy class; A penny they will not let go To learn what comes to pass.

The neighbor may not mind to lend The News to one to read; Yet it is bothersome to send For it in times of need.

The News for wrapping may be used When it is stale and cold; For kindling it will be refused Until it gets quite old.

—WILLIAM WORLEY.

Forester William B. Greeley

"Can we not," asks Colonel Greeley in a letter to State superintendents of schools, "enlist the school children of the country—there are twenty-two million of them—in an effective army to fight a national foe that ravages the land before our eyes?"

"We give too little heed to small fires. They do a vast amount of harm. Our boys and girls should be taught this. They must be made to realize that good citizens are careful not to cause fires.

"The woods are royal playgrounds, for young and old. And they are never more so than in the fall. After school, and on holidays, our young people will have glorious times nutting, tramping, some of them hunting in the woods, and frolicking in the fallen leaves.

"The leaves are dry. Sun and wind and frost combine to cover the ground with potential tinder. It does not take long after a rain for the forest floor to become inflammable again. Then a little carelessness or thoughtlessness, and a fire is started.

"I wish I might tell every boy and girl in the United States of the fires that I have seen, and the terrible results of forest fires when they become big, and the harm that even small fires do. I wish I might ask each one of them to promise me his or her help in keeping the forests green."

THE CHOSEN PRINCE Greatest Part Of All

David returns from battle victorious. The women sing his praises. Saul becomes jealous. David is announced as THE CHOSEN PRINCE OF GOD. He is married to Jonathan's sister with elaborate ceremony. Saul's anger is kindled anew against David, and David flees to the Temple and gets Goliath's sword. Great battle scene.

This section of this great photodrama is immense and it leads up to the crowning one of all—the fourth and last installment, where the final battle scene is staged—Jonathan killed—Saul commits suicide—David's exile ended and he is led to the throne with an elaborate ceremony and crowned as KING OF ISRAEL.

The dominant theme of this section is "JEALOUSY AND ITS EVILS." We will try and preach upon it.

"THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES AND THAT WHICH THEY PROVE," will be the line of thought taken up at our morning service and we will do our best to make it interesting and profitable to everyone.

Have had one on a doctor and a preacher, so I guess it must be the lawyer's turn now, don't you think? So here goes:—

A stone had been thrown through a window, and a young fellow was on trial for it all. A witness on the stand was being examined by a rather fractious attorney. He did not seem to be getting anywhere so he said, in a rather cross way:—"Now, look here, was that stone as large as my fist?" "Yes, larger," was the reply.

"Was it as large as my two fists?" "Yes, larger."

"Well, was it as large as my head?"

The witness looked at the lawyer's head for a moment or two and then replied very deliberately indeed—"It was about as long as your head, Mr. Lawyer Man, but not quite so thick."

Come to see me Sunday.

Good-by,
EVAN RIDGE EVANS.

Why Europe Hates Us.

By William Willard Howard

Let us set aside for a moment the ghastly plight of the Russian refugees in Eastern Europe. Let us consider, briefly, the plight of Europe itself.

On my return home from Europe recently the daily press published an interview in which I said, in part:

"Europe is a dreary expanse of hunger, hatred and suspicion. Each country hates some other country—usually its next-door neighbor. All hate the United States. The hatred felt toward us is the hatred of the debtor for the creditor.

"During the war and immediately afterward Uncle Sam was unbelievably lavish in his financial assistance to impoverished Europe. Naturally, he was looked upon as a credulous and open-handed relative who could be expected to shovel out money in carload lots indefinitely. He was a never-failing source of easy income.

"When Uncle Sam stopped shoveling and suggested some arrangement looking toward repayment Europe was shocked to discover that Uncle Sam was a hard-hearted callous, selfish, mercenary money lender, who actually believed that he should have his money back. So Europe hates us with a debtors' hate.

"Europe does not want us in her conferences; does not want us to give advice; does not want us to help or direct in any way. All that Europe wants is our money. My own belief is that we should keep out of a place where we are not wanted—and keep our money out. If we take a hand in Europe's mess we shall regret the action with much bitterness of spirit.

"Men in Europe told me that they blame Woodrow Wilson for the present condition of the continent. Wilson promised Europe fourteen kinds of millennium, and then failed to produce even the semblance of a millennium when put to the test.

"France went into the Ruhr not to obtain coal, but to get a stranglehold on Germany. She has it. If France and England do not strangle Germany, they will be strangled by Germany. Even in her present crippled condition Germany is driving English commerce from the seven seas. Foreign trade is England's life-blood. Without it England cannot live. Yet to-day Germany is selling textile goods in Manchester in open competition with Manchester-made goods. That tells the whole story.

"If Germany once gets on her feet she will cut John Bull to ribbons. One would suppose that John Bull would realize his peril, yet he actually is selling to Germany the coal that will enable German factories to drive English goods out of the world's market.

"If present trade and traffic conditions continue Germany will close every factory and work shop in the United States. Official statistics just published in Germany show that the average wage in twenty staple industries is four and one-half cents an hour. Can we make shoes are anything else in competition with that scale of wages?"

"When I left New York last November longshoremen were getting sixty-five cents an hour. When I landed at Hamburg I found longshoremen working at five

Walnut News.

Prof. and Mrs. E. N. Jones spent last week end in Walnut with friends.

Miss Verna Rogers from Alexander spent Sunday in Walnut.

Rev. Mr. Hennisee preached a splendid sermon at the Methodist church at the 11 o'clock service last Sabbath.

A short program for mothers day was rendered at the Methodist church last Sabbath. Mrs. Arthur McDevitt sang very beautifully and in an impressive manner, "The Best Friend after all is Mother," "Tell Mother I'll be There," softly played for the offertory. Several short talks of appreciation of mother were made.

A bible school that is to continue for four weeks for all denominations is being held in the Presbyterian church. They have two teachers from Knoxville. They are teaching the children from six to sixteen.

Dr. W. J. Weaver and family are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark.

Mr. David Roach has returned to his daughters (Mrs. Ed Ramsey's) home after having spent the winter in Florida.

Lieutenant Sensabaugh who has been in the army for 22 years and was in service in France, has just returned from France and is visiting his mother Mrs. Sensabaugh and his sister Mrs. Kinzey.

Miss Carrie Henderson has returned from Asheville.

Death Angel Enters Home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Worley.

Twice within the last month has the death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Worley, on April 25, 1923, Mr. Worley received a telegram that his son, Epp, who was in Detroit, Michigan, was very sick. Mr. Worley at once made preparations to go but when he reached Detroit Epp was dead. The body was brought home and buried in the Worley cemetery at 10 o'clock on April 30. The funeral services were conducted by Mr. Perry Sprinkle pastor of the Baptist church of this place. Epp was 25 years old and leaves a wife and two small children.

On the night of May 4th, Abe, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Worley passed into the Great Beyond. He was buried near his brother on May 6th. The services were conducted by the pastor and a former pastor, Mr. Plemmons. His wife survives him.

Both Epp and Abe were influential members of the Baptist church of this place and were always ready to do their bit for any who needed help. But while we shall miss them here we know that they are waiting on that other shore where parting comes no more.

cents an hour. Can American ships compete with German ships on that basis?

"I sailed from New York grumbling at the exactions of the Fordney-McCumber tariff. I thought the tariff wall too high. I returned prepared to urge that the wall be built still higher. We cannot compete with Germany.
