If you wish to spend an hour of genuine pleasure, and at the same time lend your personal aid to a most worthy cause, do not fail to attend the concert to be given by the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class.

The 14 girls and boys in the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class are representing about 380 children in that splendid institution. Hear them sing and see how you like

Mr. Bob Teague brought his son, Clyde, home from the hospital some few days ago. Clyde was fortunate enough to come back without having to have an operation.

FARM WANTED — Wanted to hear from owner of farm or improved land for sale, for fall delivery. L. Jones, Box 261 Olney, Ill.

Mrs. Still and Mrs. Wallin better known as Miss Nina Bell Still are visiting friends in Marshall for a few days before going to visit Mr. Wallin's parents, Mr. Still and family made their home in Marshall for some time, then moved to Asheville and from there to Spartanburg and are now living in Rockingham.

The Singing Class from the Oxford Orphanage gave an entertainment here Tuesday night and when we say that this was the best program they have ever given in Plymouth, it goes without saying more that it was simply grand.

Mr. W. M. Landers, brakeman on French Broad Railway at Runnion, was practically killed outright Monday night about 10 o'clock. He was doing some work about the train and was supposed to have fallen beneath the car. One arm and leg was cut off and the train ran across his body. He lived about three fourths of an hour. Mr. Landers was a son of Mr. Frank Landers who lives at Hickory Flats.

We wish to say that everybody here greatly enjoyed the concert by the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class and feel that Thomasville will never let a year go by without having them with us.

A Lovely Affair.

On last Tuesday afternoon, at the Hinkle home, occurred one of the most charming and delightful weddings of the season, when Mr. Paul Dinwiddie and Miss Nell Hinkle were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. E. R. Evans, and music rendered by Mr. Davis, Mrs. Edna Morrow and Mrs. Ted Lance. Mrs. Morrow officiated at the piano, Mr. Davis the violin and Mrs. Lance gave a vocal selection entitled, "Oh, Promise Me"

The home was very artistically decorated, and the arch underneath which the contracting parties stood, was a work of beauty indeed

Accompanying the bride, as maid-of-honor, was Miss Anna Kate Ramsey, and as matron-of-honor, Mrs. George Meadows, little Blanche Tweed was "THE FLOWER GIRL."

The bride was dressed in a charming gown of white Georgette, while her going away suit was of grey Canton crepe.

The groom was accompanied by one of his brothers and little Master Billie Ba'ey was the ring bearer.

The bridal march was from Lohengrin and beautifully rendered indeed. The same can be said of the Flower song that was played while the solemn, but yet, at the same time, one of the most delightful of ceremonies, was being performed.

The wedding presents were numerous and valuable ones — also useful, showing the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held by their fellows.

After the ceremony a delightful social hour was indulged in and light refreshments served.

A number of out-of-town friends were present, among whom were two brothers of the groom, and several relatives of the bride.

The young people left at the close of the social hour for Winston-Salem. The best wishes of a host of friends accompanied them.

Automobile Stop Law Is Now Effective.

North Carolina's new stop law requiring all automobiles to come to a complete stop at railway crossings, except where there is a gate or watchman, becomes effective Sunday, July 1, and it is believed will eliminate all grade crossing accidents in the state.

The bill was passed during the last session of the General Assembly as House Bill No. 445 and Senate Bill No 1445.

Violation of the law as a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $10 or imprisonment of not more than ten days or both.

Stops must be made at a distance not exceeding 50 feet from the nearest rail. Failure to stop does not constitute contributory negligence, but is to be considered in evidence, the law cites.

Railroads are required under the law to post warning signs not less than 10 feet high, 100 feet from the crossing, to be 40 by 50 inches and bearing in red letters the words, "N. C. Law. Stop."
