Th' Ole Grouch

YEP, I'M GETTING INTO SHAPE TO REMONSTRATE WITH THAT DIRTY WHELP WHO LIVES NEPT DOOR FOR TH' MEAN WAY HE TREATS HIS WIFE AND KIDS. I FIGGER A GOOD SOCK IN TH' JAW, WITH A LEFT TO TH' SOLAR PLEXUS, AND A LUSTY KICK WITH THE HORNAILS IS WHAT HE DESERVES

The Great Companion

I don't know 'bout the new faiths that are risin' day by day; I only know I'm walkin' in the sweet old-fashioned way! The same old heavens above me—my title clear I see In the valley of the shadow He'll go along with me. I don't know 'bout new gospels—new worlds that swim in light; I know God sends the sunshine, aa' lights the lamps at night; An' if the darkness gathers, His smile my light shall be; In the valley of the shadow He'll go along with me. How sweet that thought forever, when clouds are in the skies, To see the hills of heaven through the tears that dim the eyes! The heaven of sweet child faith is all I want to see, In the valley of the shadow where HE goes along with me. —Frank L. Stanton.

DEPENDABLE

Any used car seen on our floor is good for more than enough satisfactory miles to assure the owner of his money's worth. You can always count on that.

A TREE TOAD VETOED

A tree toad loved a she toad that lived up in a tree; She was a three-toed tree toad, but a two-toed tree toad was he. The two-toed tree toad tried to win the she toad's friendly nod. For the two-toed tree toad loved the ground that the three-toed tree toad trod. But vainly the two-toed tree toad tried; he couldn't please her whim. In her tree toad tower, with her veto power, she toad vetoed him. —The Pathfinder.

BO-BO GETS CREDIT AS FIRST CHEF TO SERVE ROAST PORK

To Bo-bo, a Chinese boy, goes the honors of originating roast pork, if we are to take stock in the Chinese legend. Perhaps we still would be partaking of this meat in its natural state if Bo-bo hadn't discovered (accidentally) that the cooked pork was far superior. It was in the early forgotten ages of China, so the legend goes. Bo-bo had been left in the family's hut by his mother. With him was his pet pig. The boy could not resist playing with the fire and as a consequence the hut was ignited. He escaped but the pig was burned with the hut. Later, in poking about in the ashes the boy found his pig but burned his fingers when he touched it. Putting his fingers into his mouth to ease the pain he was surprised to find the taste quite pleasing. It was only a short time until every hut in the village was in flames that the populace might have some of the delicious burnt pig.

What the Supreme Court calls GOOD WILL

The United States Supreme Court recently defined good will as "the disposition of the pleased customer to return to the place where he has been well-treated."

Here are five ways in which we try to merit your good-will: 1. Quality always the highest; 2. Prompt, dependable deliveries—whether the quantity is large or small; 3. Advice in selection of materials; 4. Helpful suggestions on your building problems; 5. Prices always fair.

We submit our case to the very highest court—the court of Public Opinion!
