What Is A Tin Can?

THE oldest riddle the writer knows is: "When is a door not a door?" And the answer is: "When it's ajar." One might ask the same kind of conundrum about a tin can because a tin can is not really a tin can at all, but simply a steel boiler with a tin coating.

Tin cans are made of tin plate, and tin plate consists of about 98 per cent iron and 2 per cent tin. Bessemer steel or open-hearth steel of the highest grade and very low in carbon is rolled into flat sheets, then coated with tin, and finally shaped into tin cans.

Every Element Safe There is nothing in the composition of a tin can which is detrimental to human health. The tin coating of a can is never perfect, but the tiny amounts of tin or iron which get into canned foods in solution have absolutely no ill effects. America's foremost scientists who have been testing canned foods in every conceivable way for many years are sponsors for the truth of this statement. The interiors of cans of many kinds of foods are coated with a special gold enamel, but this is not a health measure but merely a means to insure better appearance. Highly colored fruits and meats are packed in plain tin cans, but retain their color in enamel lined cans. The old superstition that food should not be stored in open cans has long since been reduced to the level of a myth.

THE SWEET POTATO IS A BOON TO HOUSEWIVES

By CAROLINE B. KING Culinary Expert and Lecturer on Domestic Sciences.

THE sweet potato stands very close to the top of the list when it comes to vegetables that can be prepared for the table in a wide variety of ways, and that blend well with practically all meats, fish and fowl.

To the housewife, therefore, this tasty tuber is a boon and a blessing when she is at her wits' end for a dish that will go with the roast, steak or cutlets, and that will escape scathing comments from the family regarding her alleged habit of feeding them on the same old things on an unvarying schedule. So far as food value is concerned, the sweet potato excels the white variety, due to its sugar content.

Sweet Potato Volcano is pretty nearly guaranteed to elicit a compliment from both friend and husband and the children. Boil the sweet potatoes, and peel and mash while hot. Beat until creamy, mixing in cream or rich milk to molsten well. Add butter, salt, pepper, and one tablespoon of sugar. Then form into a mound on a dish that will bear the heat. Make a deep indentation in the top and fill with a sauce made by creaming together two tablespoons of butter, one tablespoon of chili sauce, a dash each of salt and pepper. Sprinkle the mound generously with granulated sugar and place in the top of a very hot oven to glaze and brown.

Sweet Potatoes and Pineapple—Parboil and peel the potatoes. If very large, cut in one inch slices and place each slice on a slice of pineapple. If the potatoes are small or of medium size, cut them in half and place each half on a slice of pineapple. Place the slices in a shallow baking pan, dot with butter, sprinkle generously with brown sugar, and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes—Cook six medium-size sweet potatoes. When cool, peel and cut in halves lengthwise. Place in a buttered baking dish and pour over them a syrup made of one-fourth cup of water, one-half cup of sugar, and two tablespoons of butter. Baste frequently with the syrup while baking, and bake until the sweet potatoes are tender and a golden brown.

Scalloped Sweet Potatoes and Apples—Parboil four medium size sweet potatoes. Cool, peel and cut in slices. Peel and slice four sour apples. Place the sweet potatoes and apples in alternate layers in buttered baking dish. Dot each layer with butter and sprinkle plentifully with brown sugar. Add one-fourth cup of water. Place bread crumbs over the top layer and bake until the apples and sweet potatoes are tender.

Sympathy is all right in its place, but there are times when a kick would be far more effective.

Some people waste a lot of energy climbing mountains before they are even in sight.

Before giving advice a wise man prepares to dodge the consequences.

Revenge is sweet only to the very small individuals.

Never judge a man's greatness by the opinion his neighbor has of him.

Despair is the blighted fruit of hope.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST The Word of God BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

THEY SHALL NOT BE WEARY: They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint.—Isaiah 40: 31.

PRAYER:—O Lord, our God, enable us to wait on Thee, and be of good courage for Thou wilt strengthen our hearts.

What promise is given to those who remember the poor?—Psalm 41:1.

Funeral services were held Monday, following afternoon, at 3 o'clock at Mountain View church, Rev. J. R. Owen of Mars Hill officiating, assisted by Rev. J. B. Grice of Calvary Baptist church of West Asheville.

Vernie was laid to rest amid floral offerings that were many and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which she was held. She had many friends at Mars Hill College, where she was a student. She would have graduated with the Class of '29 if she had lived, but she was called to the Great Beyond after an illness of about three months.

Vernie, as she was affectionately known, was a fine student and a girl of an excellent character, and was very popular among a host of friends.

She leaves to mourn their loss a father and mother, one sister, Hazel, and one brother, Ellis all of Alexander N. C.

Riparian Rights

A number of Maryland short-sports have been disputing the right of President Hoover to two miles of a trout stream on the ground that the waters were originally stocked from a public hatchery. The matter came to an issue in Frederick county and the citizens took positive action to prevent trespassers upon the land.

That will be used by President Hoover. The incident shows that there are people still living who pay more attention to their "rights" than they do to their manners, or their respect for the President of their country.
