Walnut Men
 all seventh and eighth grade students to Walnut and all high school students to Marshall.

Last week most of the Marshall students and Walnut students through the eighth grade attended classes. Walnut High School students, for the most part, have stayed away from Marshall School.

On Monday only 111 of a student body of about 600 showed up at Walnut. About 85 of those on hand were from Marshall.

Most were in Marshall at 4 p. m., Monday for the hearing as the court room was filled to capacity and scores of people were left standing outside.

Solicitor Robert Swain questioned seven witnesses during the hearing. He was assisted by school board attorney Eldridge Leake.

School bus drivers Floyd Wallin and Leroy Gossnell told the judge they had been threatened by one or more of the defendants last Wednesday, opening day of school. Wallin said he gave the keys to his bus to Thomas and Gossnell said Jack Guthrie lifted the hood of his bus and pulled loose an ignition wire.

The drivers said a crowd of 200-300 persons was at the school when they arrived on Wednesday.

On Thursday three drivers, Ruben Gossnell, Leroy Gossnell and Gene Roberts, were arrested and charged with carrying concealed weapons. All were released under $100 bonds.

The other seven men were picked up on a bench warrant signed by Judge Campbell and were not allowed to post bond until a hearing.

Other witnesses at the hearing included three women who work in the Walnut lunchroom: Mrs. Inez Chandler, Mrs. Carrie Tipton and Mrs. Georgia McClure.

They told the judge that a group of Walnut women tried to keep them out of the lunchroom. They also testified that outsiders aroused students during school hours and caused disturbances.

Arthur Chandler, who attended some of the protest meetings held in the community, named the defendants as being among the leaders in the meetings.

Final witness was Roy Ramsey, who testified that he had been warned to leave the school since he did not agree with the protest group. He said he saw Ballard and other adults among gatherings of students in the school auditorium during school hours.

He charged that having Walnut High School students occupy their old rooms was Fowler's idea. For the better part of two days mass confusion reigned in the school as many of the grammar students found themselves without a place to go.

After hearing the evidence Judge Campbell asked the defendants if they had any evidence to present. The men, who were not represented by an attorney, declined.

The judge reminded the court that his only course of action was to determine whether or not probable cause was shown for violation of the statute prohibiting interruption or disturbance of public schools.

"This is a most unfortunate situation you are faced with in Walnut... but you can't take the law into your own hands... In this state the duly constituted authorities can operate the public schools as they see fit so long as they act within the law... I'm sure the statute was aimed at folks other than the type of people you appear to be."

The judge, after giving an opinion on students who stay out of school when they have an opportunity to better themselves, said, "I don't know where Walnut School is—and I don't care."

"But I do care about who violates that statute and I think they should be punished under the severest penalty the law allows—and that is a fine or imprisonment."

around 4 p. m. The candidates have been invited to a luncheon at the Mansion by Governor Sanford.

In preparation for the session which will be held at the Hall of the House, Bennett has asked each candidate to return a questionnaire suggesting subjects and particular areas that should be discussed. He stated that each candidate will also be provided with a kit containing detailed factual information on subjects not planned for discussion as well as those to appear on the agenda. Basic information on statewide campaign plans will also be included.

He adjourned court on this note but the defendants were given a rousing cheer as they came down the steps to the office of Clerk of Court Herbert Hawkins. More than 50 property owners crowded into the office and milled about in the hall outside the door asking to sign bonds for the seven men. The final bond was signed at about 6 p. m.

Walnut residents would make no firm statements on further maneuvers to fight the consolidation but a continuation of the boycott was mentioned as the most probable weapon to be used immediately.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery
 Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
 For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to remove pain—without surgery, to ease after care, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that surgeons made astonishing statements like "It has ceased to be a problem!" This is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynal)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in proprietary or patented form called Preparation 29. At all drug counters.

 the governor and to the State Board of Elections, stated that the vote count in the precinct was fraudulent in the 1959 election.

Each suit asks for $75,000 actual and $75,000 punitive damages for each of the letters—a total of $800,000.

The civil case joins two criminal actions recently transferred from Madison to Haywood. One is a larceny charge against a former Mars Hill vocational agriculture teacher who played an important role in the 1961 school dispute and the other is a murder case.

When the libel suits are called in Haywood, an attorney for the plaintiffs explained, it will be an entirely new trial. No evidence introduced at last year's trial will be admitted unless the witnesses are there to take the stand.

"We feel that the jury should have the opportunity to see each witness and decide which ones he will believe," he said.

This will apply to about 800 persons who took the stand during the last trial to tell whether or not they voted in the 1959 bond election. Many of these have since died or moved out of the county.

Witnesses for both sides included many prominent business and political leaders from outside Western North Carolina—and they, too, must take the stand again if their testimony is to be entered as evidence in the new trial.

Date for the trial will be set by Haywood court officials.
