HEARD AND SEEN By "POP"

One of the best things about New York is actually getting back home — not that I didn't enjoy my trip — in fact, I enjoyed every minute of it — but — those people up there are always rushing at top speed trying to get nowhere it seems — the plane trip on the United DC-8 Mainliner was most delightful — we landed at Tri-City Airport (Bristol-Johnson City-Kingsport) and at Charleston, West Virginia — from there it was straight to Newark, N. J. Airport — breezing along at 350 mph and some 15,000 feet in the sky, the scenery was gorgeous — looking down on the vast landscape is intriguing and exciting — more beautiful, however, is when the plane lifted above the clouds — above was clear blue sky and beaming sun while below it seemed we were riding on white, glistening snow banks — thrilling — you bet — arriving on time to the minute at Newark Airport, our party secured a station wagon with driver who took us to the new, beautiful Americana Hotel just off Times Square — the 16-mile trip from the airport to the hotel was exciting even if traffic was backed up for miles along the New Jersey Turnpike — space does not permit me to write up all the interesting experiences and sights but the entire trip was thrilling and pleasant — the Panel Session, in which I participated, was successful and I enjoyed the experience — wasn't used to five microphones, top executives of Red Cross and newspapermen and women, plus recorders, etc., but I got through okay — those of you who have been to New York know what I mean when I say New York, alone, is a place to spend weeks and weeks without "touching the surface" — but throw in the World's Fair and only three days to "see it all" and it's just too much for a small-town country editor — the Fair is fabulous — gigantic — stupendous — too great for words — although I didn't have time to begin to see but a very few exhibits, I did ride the Swiss Sky Ride and shot up to the top of the observation towers for an overhead sight of the entire layout — also visited Billy Gosham's great building — couldn't get in General Motors or Ford — too long-a-line — hope to get back up there for a longer spell later this year or next — saw the Minn-Yankee 13-inning masterpiece at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night — also visited United Nations — we left Newark Airport Wednesday at 5:15 p. m. (EDT) and landed at Asheville Airport at 7:30 p. m. (EST) — came back by Greensboro-High Point Airport — too much to write, believe me — but if you're planning on going to the Fair, I'd be glad to give you a few "tips" on what NOT to do and what TO do — you can spend a fortune or you can "live" very reasonably — it just depends on where you eat — and what — although I had a great time, getting back home always is a thrill — where people aren't in such a rush from sun up to sun down — New York, for a visit, FINE — but I wouldn't want to LIVE up there.

Grant Reed Is Improving After Freak Car Wreck

Grant Reed, 66, of the Shutin community, remains in critical condition in the Memorial Mission Hospital following a freak car accident last week near his home. Reed started to get into his car at his home some two miles north of Hot Springs when the car started rolling, pinning Reed between the car and a building. He was crushed so severely between the car and building that it required a truck to pry him loose. He sustained a crushed chest and internal injuries but is showing improvement according to latest reports.

Mrs. Thomas Lynn Cowan

Miss Leta Jo Ramsey Becomes Bride Of Thomas Lynn Cowan

Vows Spoken At Marshall Baptist Church Monday Evening

Miss Leta Jo Ramsey of Marshall became the bride of Thomas Lynn Cowan of Greensboro at 8 o'clock Monday evening, May 25, 1964, in the Marshall Baptist Church. Dr. Paul Keller, Religious Director of Tusculum College, Greeneville, Tenn., performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy K. Ramsey, of Marshall, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cowan of Asheville.

The church was decorated with greenery, baskets of pink gladioli, and seven-branched candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. Musicians were Mrs. John O. Corbett of Marshall, organist; and Mr. Corbett, soloist. Mrs. Corbett played "Poem," "Salut d'Amour," "Cantilene Nuptial," "Wedding Bells," "Ave Maria," and "O Perfect Love." Mr. Corbett sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg and "Whither Thou Goest" by Singer prior to the ceremony and "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap as a benediction. The "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner was used as the processional and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organdine taffeta with re-embroidered Alericon lace outlining the scoop neckline. The controlled skirt repeated the lace pattern to form a sweep train. The waist-length veil of imported illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Cecil Clark of Waynesville, high school classmate of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of ice mint peau de soie satin with white Chantilly lace overskirt and matching veiled pillbox hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and babies' breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Ann Bass of Rice, Va.; Miss Sue Gray of Cape Coral, Fla.; Miss Jean Hirsch of West Milford, N. J.; Miss Patricia Edwards of Pompton Plains, N. J., all college classmates of the bride; and Miss Franklin Shelton of Greensville, Tenn., cousin of the bride. Leta, Daniel of Raleigh, niece of the bridegroom, was maid of honor.

They all wore dresses of mist asple fleur de sole satin and matching veiled pillbox hats made like those of the bride attendant. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Donna Sue McDevitt of Marshall, cousin of the bride, was flowergirl. She wore a dress similar to those of the bridesmaids and carried a basket of flower petals.

John H. Daniel, III of Raleigh, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

C. A. H. Coleman of Asheville was the best man. He wore a suit similar to those of the bridesmaids and carried a basket of flower petals.

in-law of the bridegroom; Ashley W. Ball of Alexander, cousin of the bride; Worley Bishop of Kingsport, Tenn.; Kenneth Collins of Westminster, S. C.; and Michael McEwan of Syracuse, N. Y., all college classmates of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Cowan is a graduate of Marshall High School and Tusculum College and has accepted a teaching position in the Greensboro City Schools.

Mr. Cowan is a graduate of Lee Edwards High School, Asheville; Mars Hill and Wake Forest Colleges and now holds a position with Capital Finance Company of Greensboro.

The bride's mother wore a dress of pink silk with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of aqua silk with matching accessories and both wore corsages of white carnations.

Mrs. E. C. Teague had charge of the reception which was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. She was assisted by Mrs. E. Y. Ponder, Mrs. Eva Sams and Mrs. James Story. The five-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Edgar Morgan, Mrs. Clarence Joyner, and Mrs. Ned Ramsey, all aunts of the bride. Punch was poured by Mrs. A. E. Leake, Mrs. Oscar McDevitt, Mrs. Fred Redmon, and Mrs. Albert Rees, all aunts of the bride; and Mrs. Bill Hunter, cousin of the bride.

For a southern wedding trip the bride wore a blue rayon cotton suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bouquet. Upon their return they will reside in Greensboro.

Mrs. John H. Daniel, Jr., of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom, kept the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cowan, parents of the bridegroom, entertained at a dinner at Plemons' Restaurant Sunday evening prior to the rehearsal. The tables were decorated with arrangements of roses. Thirty members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests attended.

Among those from out of town attending the wedding were Thomas Jaros of Bellmore, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. McEwan, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. McEwan, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y.; John Nunnally of Raleigh, N. C.; Joseph Simpson of Garfield, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Brown of North Plains, N. C.; the Rev. C. H. Russell of Miami, Fla.; Kenneth Hellyer of Closter, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stevens and Mrs. Paul Keller of Greeneville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morgan of Spartanburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Joyner of Black Mountain; and the Rev. James Kirstein of Fairview.
