Schools Close

Physical education teachers from more than 200 schools in 15 counties throughout Western North Carolina have been invited.

Bill Swift, vice president of the division, has planned the fitness demonstration using students from Hendersonville High School under the direction of their physical education instructor, Rob Brown.

In addition to the demonstration Miss Lorraine Larson of Lee Edwards will report on a track and field institute.

Just before adjournment the division will elect a new slate of officers to replace Miss Hart, Swift and Mrs. Doris Hester of Charles D. Owen High School, who is the secretary. Lloyd Siewert of the physical education department at Western Carolina College is chairman of the nominating committee.

In addition to Miss Hart, several other Madison County teachers are active in the Western District NCEA and will take part in the day's programs. Wayne Pressley, band director at Mars Hill College, is president of the music division; Robert Rich, another member of the college music faculty, will sing at the meeting of the music division; Miss Collie Garner, retired from the college faculty, will participate in a panel discussion during a meeting of the division of retired teachers; Jim Cox of Mars Hill, a staff member at the Buncombe Industrial Education Center, is secretary of the IE division.

County schools will be closed Tuesday for the meeting.

Precinct Probe

"It was only after I objected to the squalid surroundings that they agreed to move the hearings from the Town Hall to the Community Center," Coker said.

He complained of what he said were "unsanitary conditions" in the Town Hall also.

Others of Madison's 23 precincts under investigation by the county board are Bull Creek, Paint Fork, Meadow Fork, Shelton Laurel and Marshall, Huff said.

It was from the Big Pine precinct that the resignations came, Allen said. Grover Baker was the registrar, Miss Inez Caldwell, Democratic judge; and Ishmael Massey, GOP judge.

"They said they were too busy," Allen reported.

MISS B. FRANKLIN,
 Correspondent

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Banks (better known as Little Kie) gathered at the home of their youngest daughter, Mrs. Jancer Franklin, Sunday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Banks and daughters, Patsy and Zella Rea. Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Ledford of Rt. 5, Mr. and Mrs. John Gaither Ramsey of Walnut, Mrs. Pauline Ramsey and daughter, Margaret Ann of Rt. 1, Walnut, Mr. and Mrs. Manasse Gunter and children, Geneva and Clarence, Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Franklin and son, Miss Dicie Hensley, all of Asheville; Mr. Glenwood Hensley; also friends Mr. Jerry Kent of Asheville; Jay Van Hensley, Mr. and Mrs. Jancer Franklin and kids, Rickey, Brends and Karen. A chinguapin hunt was enjoyed by the grandchildren following a watermelon picnic. Every one had a very nice time.

Mrs. Lucille Hensley and daughter visited her parents Sunday. Miss Patsy Banks of Warren Wilson College, Swannanoa, was home with her parents over the week end.

Most of the people on the sick list are able to be at work again. There will be a business meeting concerning the new church when people are caught up with their work, Mr. Tweed stated.

Mr. Wilson Gentry was home over the week end. He is employed with the state.

Mrs. Lucille Ledford and girl friend of Washington, D. C., embarked a trip to Kentucky over the week end.

Two Minutes With The Bible

CHURCH ON FIRE

The Chicago newspaper carried an account recently of a large church, burned to the ground, at a loss of about half a million dollars. Our sympathy goes out to the pastor and congregation who, at best, will have to carry on for a time under makeshift arrangements.

But the account reminded me of the story of another church on fire. The crowds had gathered to see the fire engines pour water on the burning building, when one man spotted a friend in the crowd. "Hi Bob!" he shouted. "This is the first time I've seen you at church!" "Well," responded the other, "This is the first time I've seen a church on fire."

We write this as a special appeal to true, born-again Christians. Isn't it true that if believer were more "on fire" for Christ, more completely sold out to Him, those who are now disinterested would be more apt to become interested and come to know Him as their Savior? We so soon lose interest or become discouraged and quit. This is why the Apostle Paul, that tireless ambassador for Christ wrote: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord" (1 Cor. 15:58).

This, we repeat, is his exhortation only to believers, for God will not accept our money or our good works, until we have first accepted from Him "the gift of God," which is "eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Rom. 6:23).

Accept that gift; trust the Christ who died for your sins and He'll give you plenty to do - the most rewarding service any man can possibly render.

Warren Report

This combination of interviews, to comprise the first half of "November 22 and the Warren Report," is intended to provide a profile of Lee Harvey Oswald's character and personality, as well as a reconstruction of his movements on the day of Kennedy's death. CBS newsmen will use this framework to point out the contradictory evidence with which Warren's Commission had to contend.

The only major personalities not included in Sunday's report are FBI and Secret Service witnesses, who are forbidden by the government to submit to press interview.

The final report of "November 22 and the Warren Report" will deal with the report, itself, and will consist of a concise summary of a treatise which contains more than a quarter of a million words and 20 volumes of testimony.

CBS White House Correspondent Dan Rather, who covered the assassination story for CBS News last November will be the reporter for Sunday's News Special. As-and supplies of corn, grain sorghum and barley in line with the demand, to increase farm income for the producers and to reduce storage cost to Government. For reducing farm production below their 1959-60 average and diverting such acreage to a soil conserving use, farmers earn diversion payments and become eligible for price support on the feed grain acreage which they do produce on their permitted acreage. Ramsey said that corn is the only one of the grains produced in Madison and that those who took part in the program agreed to reduce their corn production by at least 20 per cent. The maximum acreage which any farmer could reduce his acreage for pay was the smaller of the farm base or 25 acres. Payment

Warren Report

The 388 corn producers who participated in this year's program diverted 1096 acres of corn to a conserving use for diversion payments in the amount of $41,535.00 and price support payments of $1612.00 on the 118 acres which they produced under their permitted acreage. In comparing this year's county record with that of last year, Ramsey said that under the 1963 program 337 farms entered agreements and received $32,315.00 in diversion payments on 972 acres and price support payments of $2,023.00 on 205 acres which they produced under their permitted acreage.

In conclusion, it was pointed out that the number of county farmers participating in the voluntary corn diversion program had increased each year since it was first started in 1961.
