

Farmers May Get Help In Preparing Tax Forms

Short Course To Be Held Nov. 30-Dec 1 In Asheville

By HARRY G. SILVER
County Extension Chairman

One problem of farmers throughout Madison County annually is that of being able to get assistance in filling out their income tax forms. Three complications make the average farmer's income tax form difficult. (1) The lack of adequate records; (2) special provisions in the income tax laws which change almost annually and (3) the complicated nature of agriculture enterprise as a business.

Each year arrangements are made for regional income tax shortcourses to be held in North Carolina. This year a shortcourse on income tax will be held at the George Vanderbilt Hotel on November 30 and December 1. There are a number of people in Madison County who have been assisting their neighbors and others in filling out their income tax forms.

This shortcourse would be of tremendous aid to people working with income tax forms for farmers and small businesses.

The instructors in the shortcourse are employees of the Internal Revenue Service and N. C. Department of Revenue.

Things of special interest to those who may be interested in taking a course this year will be the Revenue Act of 1964 which contains many provisions that will be of particular interest to farmers. The investment credit provision change in Revenue Act of (Continued To Last Page)

Other recommendations on that topic urged that burley tobacco promotion be on the basis of acreage instead of by farm, continuation of 90 per cent of parity, production or control program be based upon acreage and poundage in the future, that lease and transfer of burley allotments be made effective and that growers be permitted to retain their allotments without penalties for not growing.

District A Football Playoffs

Tolley Leads Mars Hill Over Boonville, 18-14

A Last Period Touchdown Is Margin Of Victory

The Mars Hill Wildcats, behind the running of Charles Tolley, took a giant step toward the Western North Carolina "A" football crown with a hardfought victory over Boonville Friday night, 18-14 before 2,500 fans at Mars Hill.

Two long touchdown gallops and another run to set up the final touchdown gave Tolley and his Wildcats the edge over a splendid passing combination of Boonville's Roger Shock to Denny Hemric.

In the later stages of the first quarter Tolley, running from his halfback position, broke around his right end at his 45-yard line, shook loose from several would-be tacklers and went in for the score. The extra point attempt failed.

Midway of the second period Boonville scored on a thirty-five yard pass from quarterback Shock to end Hemric. Hemric kicked the extra point.

The third quarter saw the Boonville passing combination of Shock to Hemric set up another score for Boonville. Halfback Bruce Clino scored on a two-yard plunge with Hemric again adding the point after.

On the next kickoff the Wildcats drove to the Boonville 40-yard line where Tolley took a handoff from quarterback Ronnie Wallin and literally ran over would-be tacklers to score his second touchdown. The conversion attempt was wide.

Early in the fourth period Tolley shook loose for a 40-yard run to the Boonville 15-yard line. On the next play Wallin faked a handoff to Tolley and carried the ball around his left end for the final tally. The placement was wide.
