HEARD AND SEEN By "POP"

When I published the "whodunit" mystery last week and offered a six-months' subscription to those who wrote in the correct solutions concerning Walter Ward's story, I didn't think the few readers of this column would take off enough time to answer — I was wrong — soon after the paper was mailed I started getting answers — some correct — some wrong — even had phone calls at the office and at home — in other words, I found out that many people read this column and also many people can solve a mystery — many missed the subscription for 6 months by not guessing the three CORRECT clues (published below) — some gave only one clue, others two — some clues were not adequately described — some were so evasive that they could not be considered either right or wrong — anyway, it was lots of fun — and the following persons are among those answering correctly:

Mrs. John D. Edwards, Rt. 1, Mars Hill. Frank Buckner, Rt. 1, Alexander. Mrs. Olive Edwards, Rt. 1, Mars Hill. Mrs. Rosa Lee Sams, Rt. 3, Marshall. Mrs. Enoch Gunter, Rt. 3, Marshall. Reeves Frisby, Rt. 2, Hot Springs. Frank H. Payne, Allen Park, Michigan. Catherine Keece, Rt. 1, Marshall. Mrs. Teddy Fox, Rt. 2, Marshall. Mrs. Perry Bowens, Rt. 6, Marshall. Mrs. Lon Roberts, Rt. 5, Marshall. Avery Ramsey, Rt. 4, Marshall. Mrs. Nadine Aikens, Rt. 3, Marshall. Fred Edmonds, Rt. 3, Mars Hill. Ann Capps, Rt. 1, Mars Hill. Mrs. W. Jack Ball, Rt. 6, Marshall. Buena Friabee, Hot Springs, Rt. 2. Wilson Payne, Hot Springs, Rt. 2. Cleonard Greene, Weaverville. W. B. Freeman, Rt. 2, Leicester.

Mrs. J. S. Holland, Rt. 2, Ridge-way, Va. Mrs. Mary Ponder, Rt. 6, Marshall. Mrs. Raymond Hensley, Rt. 2, Fletcher. Fred Treadway, Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Leon Denier, Allen Park, Michigan. L. Claiborne Addison, Durham. Arlon Massey, River Rouge, Michigan. Mrs. Polk Bryan, Rt. 1, Marshall.

SOLUTION

In the first place, Ward told you that he and Dick Slayton were smoking the first two cigarettes of a freshly-opened package. Yet you found only 15 smokes remaining in a package originally containing 20 cigarettes. In the second place, Ward was a little careless in his description of the two "robbers." After telling you they wore handkerchiefs over the lower portions of their faces, he told you one of the men was unshaven — something he could not have seen through a handkerchief. You also wonder why two robbers would overlook the wallet in the dead man's pocket.

So — those of you who have been wishing for a big snow finally got your wish Saturday — about five to six inches of the white stuff — it was pretty, wasn't it? — but — it cut down traveling to a minimum — it was mighty slick around here — braved it down for Sunday School and church but then hibernated for the rest of the day — watched television until my eyes almost popped out — did you see Exodus on TV? — it was a mighty good picture but I don't like these split movies (one-half one week and the last half the next week) — speaking of television, I wish they'd show Peyton Place for an hour once a week rather than two 30-minute programs per week — outside sports of all kinds, I'd still pick Lawrence Welk's program over all others — who is the vice president of one of the state's largest colleges who rides a bicycle to work? — his children gave him a bike for a birthday present and he prefers it for transportation rather than his car — some people remain the same regardless of honor and prestige — more power to 'em — I had a nice snow crust in my

Just A Woman's Observations By DOROTHY E. SHUPE

Do you ever get mistaken for somebody else? I was, pleasantly, today. I was eating lunch in Page and Price's and this gentleman spoke to me and then came over to my table. He said, "You don't remember me, do you?" I replied, "Why, yes, you are Mr. So and So!" He said, "No, I'm Somebody Else."

I made the proper apologies, and then he said, "You know who I thought you were?" I knew then I'd be called some fat so and so that I probably hated, but I bravely said, "Who?" Here's the killer! He said, "I thought you were Dr. McElroy's wife!" Was I ever flattered, but bless the man's heart, he must need his glasses changed because I could never look so lovely as that beautiful lady! My, that food really tasted good, and I walked on air the rest of the day!

I'm really enjoying these days off from school as I know my students that we weren't ever going to lose any days this year due to snow, but they sure must change their tune now, eh, Linda Redmon and Brenda Bryan.

Had a big time down for Governor Dan K. Moore's inauguration along with Georgia, Marvin, Eldridge, Tom and George. We stayed at the Downtowner and the first night were there a group gave outgoing Gov. Sanford a party there. Also Lt. Governor Bob Scott and his four children stayed at the same motel and they were just like any other 6 and 7 year olds — they had their fun, too! I thought once of giving you a "blow by blow" description of the whole affair, but Pop's salary scale for writing isn't at all attractive and besides, I've had too many mid-term tests to grade to even think of anything else for over a week!

I'm thrilled that we will be out of school for the inauguration of President Johnson. Remember when we were out four years ago when John F. Kennedy was sworn in? Gee, I sure would have enjoyed being out there for the big day, but I guess one can really see more watching on TV than being on one of those $25 seats! Now, if I were one of JBJ's kin, I just wouldn't miss one bit of it! Imagine sleeping in the White House in a cot!

Observed — I forgot to double space this and I can see Coley scratching those two lumps of hair on his head — Gonna run down to Daddy who is now in a nursing home that is new and modern in all ways — Pearl says he really likes it there — Drop him a card if you will; he'd be delighted — I'll put his address in the sick column — will try to write again next week.

but decided last Saturday night — it wasn't the best I've ever tasted, but it wasn't the worst, either — Carl Bowman, just back from Florida, gave me some kind of a fruit — don't know the name of it but it was delicious — sorta an orange-grapefruit combined — thanks, Carl — had a mighty good time at the 4-H Luncheon Banquet here Wed. night — Howard Payne liked the ham almost as much as I did — Barbara Ogoe — she, I mean Rhodes — and Eric White — a good job planning the

The 'Jeep' Gladiator with 4-wheel drive has twice the traction of ordinary pick-up trucks. Can you imagine a truck with 2-wheel drive handling mud this deep? When a 'Jeep' Gladiator gets down on all fours, there isn't much in nature that can stand in its way. The 'Jeep' Gladiator with 4-wheel drive can get through stormy weather and rough terrain that would stop any conventional 2-wheel drive pick-up. That's because it has twice the traction. 'Jeep' Gladiators plow through snow, slash through mud, sail through downpours and give better control on ice. And because it is built to take it, a 'Jeep' Gladiator is worth a mint when you get ready to sell it. It holds its value because it stays versatile. Go to your 'Jeep' dealer and test drive a 'Jeep' Gladiator. Notice its passenger car smoothness. Then find a hill. A steep one. Try it halfway in 2-wheel drive. Now throw the 'Jeep' Gladiator in 4-wheel drive. And hang on. You'll know then what separates other pick-up trucks from the "Unstoppable." KAISER JEEP CORPORATION
