FINAL EXAMS

The minister, named Jordan, had a son at college. The son was about to take his final examinations and naturally his father asked the boy to let him know as soon as possible how he got on. In a few days the father received a telegram which read: "Hymn 254, verse five, last two lines." Looking up the reference in the hymn book he read, "Sorrow vanquished, labour ended, Jordan passed."

records. So, the Chairman immediately and personally contacted the Superintendent of Public Welfare and the Auditor's Office, to see if they knew the whereabouts of the records. Two days following, Taylor contacted the Chairman again to ascertain whether the records had been found, then the Chairman personally contacted Mrs. Polly Robinson, the former Clerk, at the home of Harry Rice; he inquired for Rice, and was informed that he was not at home. Mrs. Polly Robinson stated that she did not know where the records were, but that Wade Huey, former Auditor, might know where they were. Huey told the Chairman that he did not know the whereabouts of the records, but possibly they could be stored in the courthouse. Upon searching the courthouse from basement to attic, no records were found. The Chairman then personally contacted William (Bill) Roberts, former Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, and he stated that he presumed the records were in the warehouse, and if they were not, he did not know where they were, and also stated that he would try to find them.

"Why didn't Rice turn the records over to W. C. Taylor, who was a State officer, and also the direct representative of Jay Davis, the State Director, at the time the warehouse and commodities were being officially turned over to the new Board? No doubt, Rice has decided he will turn over the records to the State Officials and then the records will be turned over to the duly elected and qualified Board of County Commissioners as required by law. As to Rice's statement relative to the use by the Chairman, of a rubber stamp, it is none of his business, and the newly elected officials have utmost confidence and respect for each other. However, for the time being, the Chairman, Mr. Cody, personally prefers to sign all documents and checks," the commissioners said.

Welfare Location

America, leading two rooms of the second floor, specifying the space as being 332 square feet. And, the Madison County Selective Service Office, Draft Board, has been continuously occupying this space since paying Madison County the sum of $35.00 per month. And, one of the provisions of the last sub-lease was that the General Services Administration had the option to renew through December 31, 1967. And, a letter from General Services was received by the retiring Commissioners in which the Government exercised its option to renew lease for Draft Board Offices for the year, 1968. Why did County Commissioners sublet two rooms, 332 square feet for Draft Offices if there was not ample space for Welfare Offices?

It is also the present Commissioners' opinion that the present Welfare operation in Madison County should be carefully studied, particularly as to the personnel, thirteen presently employed, including one now taking special training, for a County with a population of some 16,000 exclusive of Mars Hill College. The proposed location, which is owned by Mr. Linton Ramsey, is across Main Street in Marshall, from its present location. In Mr. Ramsey's Lease, dated November 14, 1964, which was drawn up after Mr. Ramsey and the three Commissioners had been defeated in the General Election on November 3, 1964, he is trying to bind six future County Boards, whether they be Democrat or Republican, for monthly rental payments of $225.00 per month for twelve years, plus all utilities for the proposed building. His building is also in one of the lowest places in Marshall, and is prone to flooding by the French Broad River. One such flood was experienced this past fall. We have at the present a warehouse rented for the storage of the surplus food on Main Street at a higher level than Mr. Ramsey's building, and during the flood last fall, it cost the County over $300.00 to remove this food, and later restore it back to the warehouse. It is the opinion of the present aged of the office of Asheville Livestock Market and formerly operated Ramsey's General Merchandise and Food Store at Walnut. She has had farming experience in dairying and raising tobacco.

She received a degree in home economics and did graduate work at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn., and before coming to Madison County taught in Conway College in Arkansas and at Anderson College in Anderson, S. C.

She is a member of Walnut Methodist Church, the Marshall Woman's Society for Christian Service, the Madison County Farm Bureau and is secretary of the Madison County Dairy Association.

She has been active in civic and community affairs.

I'D BE AFRAID, TOO

One day a farmer walked into a bank and asked an officer if he would lend money on a goat.

"Being somewhat nervous and a little hard-of-hearing, the officer thought the farmer said boat. The loan officer said:

"How big is it?" The farmer replied, "About four feet long and 35 pounds in weight."

The loan officer said he would not lend on one under 12 feet. The farmer said, "Heck, I'd be afraid to milk it," and left.

Board of County Commissioners that Mr. Ramsey's building is not satisfactory for the Welfare Department, and that the present offices are fully adequate. It is also the opinion of the Commissioners that a suitable building could be built if necessary to house the Department at a considerable saving to the taxpayers, certainly for much less than the proposed twelve years rental, totalling over $30,000.00. Such a building would belong to the County and be usable for many more than twelve years, and Madison County owns appropriate sites which are not now producing revenue.

Sincerely yours,

He is married to the former Janet Nodine of Campobello, S. C. They have three children, Kenneth, Tommy and Sarah. Sarah, now six, is an adopted Hungarian refugee and was adopted when she was one year old, an event which Norton describes as a "highlight in our family."

DILEMMA

That a certain young man is wise beyond his years was proved when he paused before answering a widow who had asked him to guess her age.

"You must have some idea," she said.

"I have several ideas," said the young man with a smile. "The only trouble is that I hesitate whether to make you 10 years younger on account of your looks or 10 years older on account of your intelligence."
