FUNNY BONE
A good thing to have up your sleeve is a funny bone.

HEARD AND SEEN By "POP"

Friday night the PHA Chapter of Marshall High School held its Mother-Daughter banquet in the fellowship hall of the Marshall Baptist Church — I'm not a mother and I don't have a daughter but they were kind enough to invite Bill and me — glad they did because it was a lovely affair — to start with, the girls themselves planned and prepared the meal which was "Italian style" — good spaghetti, etc. — understand Emogene Ponder was the quarterback at planning the meal — good going, Emogene — also congratulations to the boys who so expertly served — the fellowship hall was crowded — the girls and mothers looked real pretty — I happened to be in a Sunday School room — or in other words, a "private" room — had a lot of fun kidding "Sandy" Landers, who sat directly back of me — cute girl — so is her sister, Glenda — incidentally, Glenda gave me a carnation after the program and I appreciate it very much — hope Jean and Barbara Edmonds understand Peyton Place better after "Sandy" explained some points — also enjoyed talking with Sandra Plemmons, my favorite "Grit" gal, and Polly McLean, who were also eating nearby — the program was fine and I'm glad Sandy remembered her piece about the "lit" candle — congratulations to all the girls who received degrees and honors — and an extra congratulation to Mrs. Earl Robinson, teacher of Home Ec., FHA Leader and practically everything else you want to mention — a superb job — both meal, program and entire banquet — talk about steaks — delicious steaks — cooked to your personal taste — several of us "lucky" people had just that last Saturday night up at Wade and Louise Huey's home — let's see, there were Wade, Louise, Bill and I, and Katie Powers, Bill and Gloria Rotan and their father, the Rev. Z. W. Rotan, of Granite Falls — Mr. Rotan, that is, Bill's father, is a fine person — full of sound knowledge and plenty of humor.

INVISIBLE STEPS?
Johnnie: How did you break our arm?
Tommy: Do you see those steps over there?
Johnnie: Yes.
Tommy: Well, I didn't!

Bull Creek HD Club Met Tuesday; Mrs. Lela Peek, Hostess

The Bull Creek home demonstration club met Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., in the club house, with Mrs. Lela Peek as hostess. Mrs. Peek also presided. The meeting was opened with the Scottish folk song, "Loch Le-mond," led by the music chairman. Devotions were given by Mrs. Charles Hunter, reading Psalm 119, and Mrs. Gay Merrill reading a poem of inspiration. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Hardy Merrill, followed by the treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Charles Hunter.

Mrs. Ethel Wallin, HD agent, gave the demonstration for evening, which was "How to build better by the building plan," presenting each member with a study plan taken from the original architectural plans and explaining each section in layman's language so the club members could benefit by knowing and understanding the symbols architects use in their plans.

Mrs. Wallin also discussed Homemakers Week, which will be held in Raleigh, June 14-18.

The meeting was closed with a rountable discussion of "Home Remedies" for various ailments, and inspirational organ music. Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Wallin and the following club members: Mesdames Lela Peek, Hardy Merrill, Fletcher Kayker, Zeb Edwards, Charles Hunter, Gay Merrill and Glen Phillips.

The next meeting will be June 22, with Mrs. Hardy Merrill as hostess. Mrs. Arnold Garrison, "Foods and Nutrition" project leader, will present a program on Casserole Cooking.

Too many people look for the rainbow before the shower.
