SHOW YOURSELF A MAN

Memory Selection: "Be strong, and show yourself a man, and keep the charge of the Lord your God, walking in his ways and keeping his statutes, his commandments, his ordinances, and his testimonies."
—(1 Kings 2:2-3)

Lesson Text: 1 Kings 1-3.

Today we ponder the significance that Solomon's prayer for understanding holds for us as we go about the business of our daily lives.

The lesson under study today has for its background the impending death of David, and contains one of the most inspiring admonitions that any man—then or now—can give his son. David's words: "Be strong, and show yourself a man..." will most assuredly echo the desire of every parental heart today, as we watch our children emerge from childhood to maturity and face the decisions and opportunities that life will assuredly bring. And who among us would not feel the sense of pride that must invariably follow should our offspring respond with the sense of responsibility that the young Solomon demonstrated as he approached his kingship over the people of Israel?

That David had made his share of mistakes (and had paid grievously for them) was certainly uppermost in both his and his son's minds. But also Solomon was aware that his father had been a king who had walked in the ways of the Lord the greater portion of his life, and Israel had prospered under his rulership. That he could carry on the form of government instituted by King David and go forward from there, was the innermost desire of Solomon's heart.

Therefore, when God spoke with Solomon in a dream and asked what gift He could give to the young king, Solomon prayed for an understanding heart, that he might rule his people with humanity and compassion. It must be borne in mind that the word "heart" was the seat of the intellect, the will, and emotions. Therefore Solomon was asking for guidance in all that he was, or could ever be.

Solomon was aware that with opportunity comes responsibility. And the greater the opportunity, the greater the responsibility. Life today presents many opportunities — calls for many decisions, not just for the young... but for people of all ages. And whether the decisions we make are large or small, they are immaterial in regard to size when we consider that how we respond to them can have far-reaching effects on the molding of our character. Jesus, in teaching his disciples pointed out to them that the important decisions in life are really the small ones which appear insignificant, for in the aggregate, as made, they are the sum total of the man.

As we go about the business of daily living we are faced with many decisions... decisions in family life, in business transactions, and in community living. And, last — but by no means least — in our attitude towards religion. How we meet these challenges, and how we respond to them, is, in effect, a measure of the man.

For God never forces an issue; He presents an opportunity and a choice — and the choosing rests with us. Would that we always meet our opportunities with the humility of Solomon, who openly confessed that he was but a child and pray for guidance and understanding with the sincerity with which Solomon prayed!

For Solomon realized that he could not solely depend upon himself to always make a wise decision; he realized very clearly that wisdom is a gift from God. Solomon emptied himself of pride, self-sufficiency, and self-righteousness, and dedicated himself to service to his people in God's name. What a lesson his life contains for us!

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.
