Enclosed Is My Check

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, brother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, and outlaws.

Through these laws, I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, sewer tax, sales tax, liquor tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax, excise tax, franchise tax, automobile tax, poll tax, and telephone tax.

I am required to get a business license, car license, operator's license, truck license, and not to mention a marriage license and a dog license.

I am required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life, woman's relief, unemployed relief, and gold diggers relief, also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Salvation Army, Community Chest, Red Cross, Purple Cross, Blue Cross,

White Cross, and Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA and all way stations for wayward girls.

For my own safety I am required to carry health insurance, life insurance, fire insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, compensation insurance and old age insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it. I am expected, inspected, suspected, disrespected, summoned, fined, commanded, reprimanded, and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known deed, need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened I would not have been able to enclose this check. The wolf that comes to so many doors now-a-days just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Give GOD a Change NOW!

ATTEND CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY

HEARD AND SEEN By "POP"

Last week I wrote about what a small world this is — and pointed out some instances — well, here's another "for instance" this week — my wife spent last week-end in Hickory with relatives and friends — on Sunday morning they attended the First Baptist Church and when the service was over who should be in the congregation other than "Bill" but Diana McElroy — they almost fainted when they recognized each other — Diana, who is a student at Mars Hill College, had spent the week-end with college-mates — it's unusual but it happens often — a subscriber from California says she always reads this column but would like for me to publish what kind of weather we're having each week — well, let's see — this week the mornings and nights have been real chilly — enough for a fire in the grate — it warms up during the day — sun's now shining — ideal Fall weather — leaves are beginning to change — mountains beautiful — it's a strange thing — nearly every day the parking spaces on Main Street are full of cars yet it seems very few people are shopping — wouldn't be the employees or employers, could it? — thought they had signed an agreement to park off Main Street so that people wishing to trade could find parking places — oops, they haven't forgotten, have they? — glad the local water has cleared up and is now back to normal — gosh, it was good seeing Mrs. Louise S. Haydon (former Louise Sprinkle) at the ball game last Friday night — Louise is now residing in Oak Ridge, Tenn. — still a mighty pretty gal — and when I greeted her with a "fatherly embrace" in front of the press box, Clive Whitt, J. C. Wallin and the other guys in the press box watched on with great big eyes — shucks, Louise is young enough to be my daughter, fellows — or were you's just envious? — the Tornadoes played a bang-up good game, losing by a mere one point, 13-12, to heavily favored Bakersville — congratulations to Mars Hill Wildcats, Hot Springs Blue Devils, and the Mars Hill Lions for breaking their losing streaks — each won last week — now — Tornadoes, it's your turn — maybe Friday night against Hot Springs — but please remember, you were favored last season and you know what happened — and Roy Reeves would love to do it again — should be an interesting game — hope to journey to Mars Hill College Saturday afternoon for the MHC-Carson-Newman game — and homecoming — glad to see Olga Sprinkle — oops, I mean Mrs. Joseph Malinowski, Jr. — Sunday — she's as cute as ever — says she misses the United States but likes France very much — speaking of Olga, I'm glad to learn that Ron, her father, is rapidly improving and expects to return to his home soon

JUST A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS By DOROTHY B. SHUPE

Had a funny experience while in Durham at the hotel where I was a guest during the Democratic Women's Convention last week. I can usually understand what people say down East, but maybe my hearing is getting bad! I had a dress that needed pressing and when the waiter brought my breakfast to my room, I asked him whom to call for that service. In some hotels it's called "Maid Service," or many other names, you know, and he told me to call "Ba-il Service," I thought. Not being sure of his pronunciation, I asked him to repeat the name and he said plainly, "Ba-il Service."

I could vision, in my mind, some Mr. Ball who probably did the dry cleaning and pressing service for the hotel. So, I picked up the phone, and as clearly like the waiter said, "Ba-il Service," please.

The next voice I heard, as you probably have already guessed, was "BELL Captain!" Went over to Weaverville Monday night to lead a discussion at a school of instruction for the Buncombe County PTA Council and was pleasantly surprised to have Mrs. Jane Landers Arrowood of Oakley come to my group discussion, instead of going to the group on duties of presidents and vice president. When she announced her name in my group as Mrs. Arrowood and said she had no office, but that her husband was a vice president, I told her she should be in the other group. When she said she just wanted to be in my group because we were old school friends, I realized then who she was and I was flattered that she joined my discussion group.

Ann Leake went with me and, to her surprise, her brother, Edwin McDevitt, was on the program to give the devotions. And another Madison person there was the president of the council, Mrs. Dean Carter, formerly of Mars Hill. Ah, it's a small world, isn't it? Or is it just that we Madison people get around?

Was sorry to hear tonight about our President — but to have an operation. Hope he has a quick recovery and I'm sure with all the modern science of today, he will be well taken care of in the hospital. Met Emma Kate McDevitt leaving the Island this (Tuesday) morning and she seemed a bit sad as she was to go into a hospital today for treatment. Best of luck to you, gal, and hurry back home soon.

Well-Known Salesman and Weather Observer Passes Wednesday

J. A. Dennis, 73, of Marshall Route 6, died early Wednesday morning in an Asheville hospital after a long illness. Mr. Dennis was a native of Cosby, Tennessee, but had lived in Marshall since 1916. He was employed by Wiley M. Nelson, dry goods and grocery merchant and later operated a grocery business in Marshall. Until ill health forced his retirement in 1960, he was a grocery salesman for Sprinkle-Shelton Wholesale Company in Marshall for 40 years. Mr. Dennis was recently awarded a "Certificate of Service" by the United States Department of Commerce marking 45 years of service as Weather Observer in the Marshall area. He had served as Sunday School Superintendent of the Marshall Methodist Church for more than 45 years.

Services will be held at the Marshall Methodist Church Friday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. W. C. Clark, pastor, and the Rev. E. M. Hoyle, former pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in the Madison Seminary Cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be J. Fain Sprinkle, David McElroy, Robert Davis, T. F. Sams, Fred (Bud) Sprinkle and W. Z. White. Honorary pallbearers are J. H. Sprinkle, Jr., J. H. Sprinkle, Jr., O. C. Rector, Ron Sprinkle, Howard Hoyle, Jack Boone, Dr. J. L. McElroy, Ron Wilson, Lloyd Slagle, Riley Rector, Frank Rynnion, Steve Wallin, all of Marshall; Hal Wells, of Leicester; and Bruce Harrell, of Hendersonville.

In addition to the widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert C. Peacock, of Muncie, Indiana, and Mrs. Overton A. Gregory, of Marshall; one step-daughter, Mrs. Betty A. Thompson, of Asheville; one step-son, Maj./Sgt. Robert A. Ammons, with the U. S. Army in Viet Nam; one half-sister, Mrs. S. H. Horne, of Knoxville, Tenn.; one half-brother, Rufus W. Landrum, Atlanta, Ga.; four grandchildren, one niece and three nephews.

The family suggests that in lieu of flowers, memorials be made to the Building Fund of Marshall Methodist Church. The body will remain at the Bowman Funeral Home until taken to the church where it will lie in state 30 minutes prior to the service. Bowman Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Wednesday night, September 29, Locust Grove Baptist Church members surprised their pastor and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Clell Fisher, with a reception in honor of their 26th wedding anniversary, in the Fellowship Hall of the church, presenting them with a sterling silver set consisting of tray, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, and butter dish. A green and white color scheme was used throughout. Presiding at the punch bowl and coffee table were Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, Mrs. Wilda Bartlett, Mrs. Eddie Hamlin, and Mrs. Robbie Wildes. About 50 guests were present.

Observed — Last week, I was complaining — this week, I'm happy — prefer this week type of living — Feel so sorry for the family of the young girl killed in the bus accident last week — Hope Joe Eads is enjoying his retirement, feel like I could take a year off — Congrats to Pop on being chosen to lead the drive for the road bond issue — I made the move for the N. C. Democratic women to endorse it — We'll need a road between here and Marshall soon with Rayburn, the two Haynie Boys — Ralph Candler, and others wearing the present one out — I'm getting as long winded as Pop.

Shupe Tells—

(Continued from Page One) had law and should be amended or abolished, but my plea was to give the governor and commission a fair chance to do something. After all, the bill was passed in 1963 and Governor Sanford, an excellent educational governor, did nothing about it and he, at that time, had been in office for over two years.

"Every one did, however, support my resolution for our convention to go on record as supporting the road bond issue," she added.

"After the meeting ended, I was pleasantly surprised when State Superintendent of Public Schools, Dr. Charles Carroll, came by and said I had presented the right approach about the Speaker Ban Law and he commended me for my stand. Representatives from several counties did also," she said.

The glamour of the convention, Mrs. Shupe said, was the banquet speaker the first night, Mrs. Hale Boggs of Washington, D. C., wife of the Majority Whip in the House of Representatives. She spoke on President Johnson's beautification program. Also in the glamour area was a fashion show by a Durham store.

"The highlight of glamour for many was the tea that Mrs. Moore gave for us at the mansion in Raleigh. Greeting us with Mrs. Moore were Mrs. John Robinson, national committeewoman who did an outstanding job at presiding at the convention; Mrs. L. Y. Balandine, state executive committee secretary; Mrs. Bob Scott, wife of the Lt. Governor; Mrs. Lina Stout, convention chairman; Mrs. "Lib" Johnson of state headquarters office; the congressional directors and assistants — ours were Mrs. "Bobby" Hall of Asheville and Mrs. B. J. Romeo of Hendersonville, both of whom were very attractive; wives of former governors; wives of our state council; and others," Mrs. Shupe concluded.

RICE-MURRAY VOWS SPOKEN ON SATURDAY

Miss Julie Ernestine Murray, daughter of Mrs. Moody Murray, of East Fork section, and the late Mr. Murray, became the bride of Charles Grady Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karo Rice, of Marshall, in ceremonies performed in Peek's Chapel Baptist Church Saturday, October 2, 1965. The Rev. Dearl Ammons performed the ceremony.

RURAL ELECTRICITY helps America grow...

Placing power lines where they are needed is fun for a child, but it is a big job for the nation's power industry. Demand for rural power doubles every seven years. Today, consumer-owned electric systems such as ours serve more than 2,700 of the nation's 3,100 counties. They pay more than $110-million a year to commercial power companies for wholesale power. Meeting the ever-increasing demand and preparing for tomorrow, takes the best efforts of the entire power industry. In our area, we are proud to be carrying our share of the load.
