HEARD AND SEEN By "POP"

Must congratulate the school officials and students for a wonderful Homecoming parade here Friday afternoon — it was the best overall Homecoming parade I've seen — of course, the Stephens Lee Band was superb, as usual — but — the floats were also well above par — adding to the parade were student clowns, supposed-to-be dogs in the parade and not-supposed-to-be dogs — prancing ponies, beautiful horses — numerous class floats and other floats — dignitaries — 4-H'ers, Cubs, Cadettes, Juniors, Girl and Boy Scouts — it was all fine — congratulations to the Juniors for winning top honors and the Seniors for runner-up honors — also wish to commend those in charge of the Homecoming ceremony prior to the game — instead of each member of the court being escorted slowly on the field in convertibles, they were all atop a beautiful float — it speeded up the ceremony but didn't detract from it — it actually pleased the spectators better, I think — the girls were certainly pretty, weren't they? — and Dora Ann Rice and Margo Roberts, the Homecoming and Football Queens, were thrilled to death at being selected — it was a great night for them — and the members of the court — the only "thorn in the flesh" was the football game — won by Mars Hill, 32-0 — but everyone who saw the game came away knowing that the Wildcats had played far the superior game and deserved to win — I want to take this opportunity to thank Bobby Fisher, J. C. Wallin, Ed Morton and the others for assisting me in the press box this season — I've also enjoyed having Principal Clive Whitt in the press box at every game — he's the kind of person who makes you feel real good even after a "goof" in public addressing the games — and I've made my share of "goofs" this season — even so, I also appreciate the comments of many fans, both at the games and those who stayed home "to listen" — here's hoping the Tornadoes can win their two remaining games away from home — this Thursday night at Brevard against Roman and the last game at North Buncombe — it's been sorta a long season — but it's always long when your favorite team loses most of its games — oh, well, basketball is coming along soon and I've got a feeling that the Tornadoes (especially the girls) will take good care of themselves against all opposition — goosh, the weather surely did change in a hurry — the first snow of the season was visible on many distant mountains last Sunday morning — please, oh, please, don't forget that NEXT TUESDAY is the day to vote FOR the Road Bond Issue and also the Court Issue — we all agree that we want better roads — now let's SHOW everyone that we are interested by voting — went over last Sunday afternoon and heard the U. S. Army Field Band, of Washington, D. C., in concert at Asheville's Auditorium — as usual, the music was fine — especially the closing number, "Stars and Stripes Forever" — goosh, that song always sends goose pimples all over me — I am still getting answers on the question concerning the Lord and the razor — here is one from Mrs. Patterson Frank-

JUST A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS By DOROTHY B. SHUPE

Pop asked me the other day to put in writing my endorsement of the $300 million road bond issue and while I think it's about like endorsing motherhood when you look at our Madison County roads, I now say with full vigor—LET'S VOTE FOR THE ROAD BOND PROGRAM AND SEE HOW MANY OTHERS WE CAN GET TO DO THE SAME! We must not be too apathetic thinking that everyone will just automatically run and vote for such improvement, but we'll have to go bring them in.

We had a lot of fun and did a lot of work in getting the float finally fixed. We certainly appreciate Mr. Theodore Worley's allowing us to use his building. Had more fun teasing Alice about the "No Parking" sign that we had behind our clinic. Don't know if Jerry found about it, or not. Louise had to snage a nail to pull a trick on me — Ah, to be young again! Congratulations, you ole Juniors, for winning and if I can keep Haynie, Wyatt, Cody, and Martha Louise and Debra from rubbing it in by saying that their float was pretty, well, it WAS pretty, but our idea was better! Gee, did the frost finally get here. Did you see the snow Sunday? Somebody said at Sunday School that there was 2 inches at Brevard, but I believe he must have been pulling our leg. I hate to see bad weather come, but I guess it's just around the corner. I nearly froze to death taking money at the gate last Friday night. Eloise Ward had on a new hat and Enloe Boone had on a new one and they got into a fuss about whose was the best looking, and frankly, neither one would have won a prize anywhere! I think the old scarf I had or the ten gallon hat Jack Cole sported was away the better looking. Hattie and Lib didn't get in the row; they just took money and looked pretty anyway.

Observed — Congratulations to the Marshall FFA boys for winning the state championship in tobacco judging — the 4-H team with the two girls on it, Wilma Roberts and Connie Buckner, placed eighth, and that's not bad, in a field of 11 teams of all boys — Bet Mary Ponder and Linda Fox had fun on their trip to Georgia in connection with the polo drive coming up in January — Hear the football boys are going to Clemson this week-end to a football game; that will be nice — Come to the Hallowe'en Carnival Friday night — the kiddies are looking forward to lots of spooks and goblins, and ghosts — whooooo!

Dear Mr. Story: The question in your Oct. 14 "Heard and Seen" was, "Can you tell me where in the Bible the Lord USED a razor?" If you will examine the answer in the Oct. 21 issue, you will find that it DOES NOT say that the Lord USED a razor. As you will see, Isaiah was a prophet and in this Scripture (Isaiah 7:20) Isaiah was only prophesying that the Lord WOULD use a razor, not that He already had. Please check it out and tell me where in the Bible it says the Lord actually USED a razor. Thank you!

Yours truly, MRS. PATTERSON FRANKLIN NOTE: I agree, Mrs. Franklin. However, I believe Mrs. Price used the wrong tense in asking the question.

Mrs. C. J. Newman Is Honored With A Stork Shower Here

Mrs. Troy Reid and her daughter, Miss Becky Reid, entertained at a stork shower Saturday evening at the REA building honoring Mrs. Reid's sister, Mrs. C. J. Newman, of Newport, Tenn.

Contests were enjoyed and prizes awarded to Mrs. L. B. Ramsey and Mrs. Charlie Tipton.

Those attending were Mrs. L. B. Ramsey, Mrs. James Story, Mrs. Alice F. Rector, Mrs. Kate Webb, Mrs. Charlie Tipton, Miss Deborah Peek, Mrs. Reid and her daughter, Miss Becky Reid, all of Marshall; Miss Sandra Caldwell of Asheville, niece of Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Newman; and Mrs. Newman and her daughter, Martha Jane, of Newport, Tenn.

Mrs. Newman is the former Miss Virginia Robinson.

Sprinkle At Home

Ron Sprinkle, local businessman and county commissioner, returned to his home last Friday from Memorial Mission Hospital where he recently underwent surgery. His condition is greatly improved.

Garden Club Hears Talk On Flemish Floral Art Oct. 21

Members of the Marshall Garden Club were treated to a demonstration of Flemish Floral Art when they met last Thursday in the home of Mrs. S. C. Rudisill by Mrs. Rudisill's sister, Mrs. Charles McDonald, of Newton, N. C.

Mrs. McDonald illustrated the various steps in treating artificial flowers for the Fleming Floral arrangements, so popular in today's decorative scheme.

Those attending were Mesdames J. L. Baker, C. D. Bowman, John Corbett, O. A. Gregory, Delmar Payne, A. J. Ramsey, C. M. Roberts, W. A. Sams and Margaret C. Hood.

Female Disorders To Be Discussed In Asheville

Chapel Hill — A University of Florida specialist in women's diseases will be the final speaker for an 11-county series of weekly medical meetings in Asheville on November 2.

Dr. Hugh M. Hill, an obstetrician and gynecologist at the University of Florida School of Medicine since 1959, will speak at 5:30 p. m., about functional ovarian tumors, growths occurring in the ovary and sometimes leading to the production of male hormones in females.

Dr. Hill will speak again at 7:15 p. m., on gram negative septicemia, an infection of the uterus and frequently associated with miscarriages.

The meetings will be held in the medical library at Memorial Mission Hospital.

The Asheville meetings have comprised a postgraduate course in medicine for the more than 300 practicing physicians in the counties of Buncombe, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Madison, Mitchell, Polk, Rutherford, Swain, Transylvania and Yancey.

The course has been sponsored by the Buncombe County Medical Society, the University of North Carolina School of Medicine and the UNC Extension Division.

Dr. Hill is a native of Columbia, S. C., and a graduate of Greensboro High School and Davidson College. He received his medical degree from Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and was an instructor in gynecology there before coming to the UNC medical faculty in 1957. He was here for two years before going to the University of Florida.

He is assistant dean and dean of students at the medical school in Gainesville.

County CB Club To Meet Nov. 11

Madison County CB Club will meet Thursday, Nov. 11, at the American Legion Building. All members and interested persons are urged to attend.

Shower Given In Honor Of Shirley And Richard Wild

A miscellaneous shower honoring Shirley and Richard Wild was given by the Walnut Creek Community last Saturday night, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Wild.

The occasion was opened with prayer by Lee Price and the guests enjoyed a piano solo by Richard Wild. Mrs. Diora Rice presented a beautiful corsage to Shirley. In the absence of Misses Diana and Linda Ball due to illness, games were directed by Mrs. Rice, which were enjoyed. Prizes were won by Vernon Bannion, Geneva Ramsey, Maye Reese, Bobbie Griffin and Richard Wild.

Gifts were presented to the honoree by Mrs. Lucille McDevitt and Mrs. Dollie Ramsey. After all the many useful and pretty gifts were opened, refreshments were served by ladies of the community to the following:

In Loving Memory —of— HOWARD BANKS, JR. Who Passed Away October 4, 1963

From our midst you are away. We think of you every day. We miss you, oh, so very much— Your sweet smile, your gentle touch.

Listen for your footsteps in the evening; They don't appear — leaves us dreaming. Our tears still flow for you, son; There's pure love in every one.

You went away two years ago. Miss you still, want you to know. When we cross over, gate will open wide. We'll be happy to meet you inside.

Look down, Howard, from above. We'll meet again where all is love. We know you're happy in your home. Keep watching until we come. Your loving Mother, Family and Friends
