"HOW D-Y, Blue Cloud. — No, there is nothing at all the matter with me — except — well, let's see if we can illustrate by telling you what Kenneth Bargin said last Sunday morning in Sunday School. You see Sunday was the day after Christmas. And Kenneth said let's sing THERE IS A

PLACE OF QUIET REPOSE.
 We'll, that's what we seem to need this bright Tuesday morning, December 28, 1965. We would like to go home and sit in front of that beautiful open fire and just sit."

Sorry folks, but we just can't get ready to bring Clue Cloud out to see you in January. We are ready but Blue Cloud isn't.
 It takes more time than we figured to get the shelves put in, and the books in the shelves. If the weather keeps on being so good for this time of year we are almost sure that we can make it in February. Blue Cloud says she sure is sorry, too.

We need to get back in the groove. No, we didn't lay out. But if it is a rut, we still like our rut.
 So we will wind up now, take this in to Pop, so he won't hold us for being late.

Once again all of us who work for the Madison County Library join our hearts and hands, and raise our voices in chorus to say

HAPPY NEW YEAR! ! ! !
 EVERYBODY! ! ! !

We cordially extend to you the season's greetings and our best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.
