AS THE PRIMARY APPROACHES

On May 28, Madison County Democrats and Republicans will march to the eight voting precincts to select their candidates for the November elec-

From the list of candidates who have filed, a lively campaign is in the offing. Both Parties have contests and much interest will undoubtedly be shown in the coming weeks.

In addition to the various county offices, with the exception of the register of deeds, voters will have the opportunity to vote for members of the hoard of education. This "added" contest is strictly for the Democrats, however. Republican voters will not be eligible to cast votes for board of educa-

A complete list of candidates and the offices they seek are published elsewhere in this issue.

As the campaign gets underway seriously, no doubt the candidates, either individually or collectively, will use the columns of this newspaper to ask for support. They will appeal, and they will perhaps state their intentions if nominated and elected.

This newspaper urges each candidate to keep the campaign on a high, respectable plain and to refrain from tactics not conducive to a clean campaign.
