determined by population factors; each county would have at least one representative.

The regional system would also provide a pool of highly skilled specialists to assist local library staffs in developing and expanding their services and provide a means through which routine administrative details can be handled at a central location, freeing local staff members from time consuming chores so they can devote more time to the needs of their patrons. Counties still would be responsible for providing and developing library service at the local level. Local county governments would retain ownership of all current library property and any specifically bought for local libraries in the future.

Materials bought by the regional library would be shared by member libraries, and distributed throughout the region.

WCU Accepts Credits From Institutes

Western Carolina University has adopted a new policy, effective with the winter quarter of 1971, of accepting transfer students from technical institutes or community college technical programs.

The more liberal transfer of credits policy will, for the first time, allow students completing "terminal" programs at post-secondary institutions below the four-year college level to be admitted into university programs.

The transfer of credits toward a WCU baccalaureate degree will be accepted from fully-accredited institutes or community colleges and from institutes or colleges that have applied for regional accreditation and met all accreditation standards except age of institution.

The new policy will permit the transfer of up to 45 quarter hours of credit for freshmen and sophomore courses completed at either a technical institute or in a community college technical program that are equivalent to junior and senior level courses at Western Carolina University.
