Consideration Needed

More consideration is badly needed by a few drivers who make a practice of stopping on Main Street to carry on a conversation with a friend while cars behind are forced to wait until the conversation is completed. This is most irritating. Of course, there are times when one must stop for a second or two but for a driver to remain stopped for several minutes is inexcusable. If a person wishes to carry on a conversation let him park and not hold up traffic.

Another irritating practice is when drivers persist on cruising from one end of Main Street to the other countless times. Several drivers make it a habit, especially on Saturdays, to drive to the depot, turn and go to the lower end of Main Street where they again turn. Especially dangerous is the turning at the Redmon Road intersection. Many wrecks have almost occurred at this dangerous spot, not only for vehicles but for pedestrians.

While on the subject of inconsideration, too many drivers speed along the street when snow, ice and water are prevalent and pedestrians are splattered before they can possibly "dodge". We urge drivers to go slowly, especially on the courthouse side of the street, when water is standing.

One more criticism often heard is the running of red lights at the upper bridge street intersection. This is one of the most dangerous practices of a few.

We urge more consideration, please!

Letters To Editor

Dear Mr. Story,

I would like to tell you a little incident that happened to us in Marshall Thursday. Ruth Woody, Mamie Shelton and I were shopping in Marshall and then went to the drug store to have lunch. All the tables and stools being full we waited

We had been waiting for 30 minutes when one tall lady and a man that works in one of the stores came in and went to a table where two men were sitting. They ate their lunch and still sat and talked awhile. We walked back to the table to get it when they decided to get up. Two of the men got up and left and we started over to the table when the lady got up. She looked back over the house and saw another man that works in the same store with her. She sat back down at the edge of the seat with her feet in the aisle. The man saw her and came up to the table. She got up and told him she was saving the table for him. He sat down. We felt very disappointed as we had already been waiting an hour then. We waited another 15 minutes and then a nice man got up and said we could have that table.

We had already been in the store earlier and bought things where the lady works and she knew we were waiting for the table. Of course they would say he had to get back to his work. We were a long ways from home and wanted to get back before the roads got so bad. It was snowing.

It's no wonder most people go to Asheville to do their shopping, isn't it?

P.S.—In no way do I mean for this to be critical of the drug store. I think it is a fine place and it really has good food. I am only critical of the lack of consideration on the part of a few customers.

Red Cross News

The Asheville Area Red Cross Chapter has reported that during the month of January, five units of blood were donated at the Red Cross Blood Center in Asheville while 37 units were used by residents of Madison County.

The Red Cross Service to Military Families Department assisted with four cases for Madison County. All were for servicemen, two were for emergency leaves, and two cases involved counseling in personal problems.

A Red Cross Water Safety Instructor Course is presently being taught at Mars Hill College by Virginia Hart.

Ed Morton is presently conducting a Red Cross Standard and an Advanced First Aid class at the Court House in Marshall.

HEARD AND SEEN

By "Pop"

Hving been born in Edenton, Eastern who workes with way down on the coast, I my iwfe in the Social Services naturally learned to eat office here brought me some "down East" food and blackeyed peas a few days ago and I had Virginia ham and blackeyed peas for dinner Sunday....delicious....thanks, "Pat"....Bill and I attended the UNC-A-Mars Hill Lions basketball game Friday night and enjoyed the game, altho the Lions lost...I thought the morning service at the Baptist Church here Sunday was outstanding....the special music was exceptionally fine and Coach Harrell Wood delivered another fine sermon....it's nicer to have so many Mars Hill College students attending our services, too....stopped by the Mars Hill City Hall Saturday and visited some of the offices....gosh, Mars Hill should be quite proud of such a fine City Hall....plenty of room, lighting and neatly kept....went in where "Jo" and "Jacq" (Mrs. Bill Zink and Mrs. Glen Phillips, Sr.,) were listing taxes and spoke to them....they wanted to know if I'd come in to list my taxes....I enjoyed seeing them but they were too busy for me to stay long....went out to Mrs. Frances Crafton Ramsey's home Sunday afternoon to shoot some pictures of Mrs. Vance Ramsey, who was being honored on her 90th birthday....the home was beautifully decorated and Mrs. Ramsey made quite an attractive honoree.

Just A Woman's Observations

By DOROTHY BRIGMAN SHUPE

In case you wondered, I got home safely after the ball game last week and had a good time keeping the door with Donna Stines Rice. The reason I didn't have to go home between classes and the game was because Shupe is on second shift and there was no reason to make the trip. Gee, that sure is earth shaking to write, but I had to start some way and I thought that someone would be concerned if I had any home duties to do.

Oh, boy, Valentine's Day is soon and we'll get a box of chocolates! That I need like a hole in the head because I've been gaining weight since the Christmas holidays! But it does give me a big thrill for ole Shupe to sneak in a box and hide it for me. Charlotte and I used to have fun looking for our candy each year. I do think it is sweet for one's mate to remember with any little thing like candy, flowers, money, etc.

Gee, the moon shots are getting to be more of a worry than thrill of accomplishment, aren't they? I was all concerned when I heard of their trouble in docking, but am glad that it has worked out all right as of today, Tuesday. By the time this gets into print, anything could have happened. I still am amazed at our ability to get to the moon. I saw the strange light in the sky the other night that we've been reading about in the paper. Dennis Treadway came up to show it to me and we marvelled at the sight.

Oh, my little freshmen boys and I have been playing "Pig" like I used to play with Richard Wilde, Jimmy Landers, Jerry Adams, Joe Penland, and others. It is an intellectual game, not at all like it sounds! They caught on yesterday how to make me a "Pig" and almost had me out of the game by bell time. Those playing were Jeffrey Hitt, Joey Fore, Joe Gosnell, Clinton Chandler, Dennis Carney, Tim Ramsey, Keith Crain, and I believe Kathy Griffin and Cheryl Wilde played one day with us.

We have been studying about television and movies in senior English and found that things are not always like they seem. Some of the boys have been making some movies on the side, I believe, but not writing the script like one would think! David Windsor and Larry Wright could really write one if the need arose, I'd say.

Can you tell what the little girl says in the commercial about the man going blind? I have wondered for months and just learned today from little Jeffrey. He said she says, "Daddy, can I have a penny to throw in the wishing well like I did last year?" I'm going to listen carefully to see if he is right the next time it comes on. I think the little children talking about how good the milk is cute when the little colored boy says, "It makes me happy!"

OBSERVED—What are we going to do about the penny tax that was taken off?—We certainly need the money, but believe we will find a solution always do—
