Robinsons Feted On Anniversary

ville, were honored on Aug. 26 with a golden anniversary celebration in the fellowship hall of Piney Mountain Baptist Church. They were married on Aug. 28, 1929, in Greenville, S.C.

The celebration of love was given by their children and grandchildren. The couple have four children: Carolyn Jamerson, Asheville; Joyce Ingle, Clifton Robinson and the Rev. Dale Robinson, all of Weaverville. They have 10 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, the former Lucy Buckner, lived in the California Creek Community of Madison County for many years.

Over 200 relatives and friends came by to visit with the couple and extend their best wishes. The highlight of the afternoon was a ceremony performed by their son, the Rev. Dale Robinson, with the couple renewing their marriage vows.

Public Health Workers To Convene Here

Citizens of Madison County will have the opportunity to learn more about prepaid health plans as a possible method of holding down health care costs at a public hearing Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Mountain Area Health.

The hearing is one of six scheduled for September across the state by the N.C. Commission on Prepaid Health Plans which has been studying the issue for the past year. The purpose of the hearings is to familiarize health care providers, consumers and employers with the commission's findings and recommendations.

Most prepaid health plans, or Health Maintenance Organizations (HMO), provide most basic health services to those enrolled for a fixed prepaid monthly fee, regardless of how many services are used. Individuals opting for such a plan are assured of medical care on a 24-hour basis and often avoid costly hospital visits.

According to Commission Chairman Glenn Wilson, evidence from other states indicates that savings occurring from reduced hospital use can be utilized to provide more ambulatory care. "Whether these and other aspects of prepaid plans would offer workable alternatives to existing insurance coverage in this state will be under continuing study by the commission," Wilson said.

"These hearings are an excellent opportunity for citizens to learn about health maintenance organizations and their potential for cost effective health programs, Gov. Hunt said. "I requested the commission to hold these hearings and I urge you to attend," he added.

A THIRD FAUCET
LOMBARD, Ill. (AP) — A separate faucet for drinking and cooking water is seen as the new look in kitchen sinks by the Water Quality Association.

This "third faucet" would be served by a special filtration system to remove any organic and inorganic contaminants in the consumer's water not removed by the municipal treatment system.
