

Harpichordist Offers Concert In Marshall

George Lucktenberg, a performer and professor of music at Converse College in Spartanburg, S.C., will give a harpichord and piano recital at the Marshall Presbyterian Church on Sunday, May 4 at 3 p.m.

Dr. Lucktenberg will play a program of harpichord pieces from the 18th century and piano works from the late 18th and early 19th centuries. There is no admission charge.

He divides his time between teaching and touring. Each year he leads his harpichord — a replica of an 18th-century instrument — into his specially-fitted truck. "The Harpichord," for tours throughout the central and eastern United States.

"Just preparing the music isn't enough," says Lucktenberg. "You have to be something of a mechanic as well. The instrument is quite sensitive to changes in temperature and humidity, and must be carefully adjusted and tuned before every performance." He carries a set of precision tools and spare parts at all times.

Lucktenberg also gives duo recitals with his wife, Jerrie, who is a violinist. He is chairman of the graduate and piano departments in the school of music at Converse. Each summer is spent teaching piano and harpichord at the National Music Camp in Interlochen, Mich.

He has been the recipient of a Fulbright grant for European study and a postdoctoral research fellowship from the Ford Foundation for a year of study of Baroque violin-sonata literature at the University of North Carolina.

Following the concert there will be a slide program on Marshall. This is the program shown to state judges at the time Marshall won its Community of Excellence Award.

It is narrated by Marshall native Randy Houston of WWNC.

ARE LT. GOVERNORS IMPORTANT?

THAT DEPENDS ON WHO THE LT. GOVERNOR IS.

Most people think that all a Lt. Governor does is preside over the State Senate and seek headlines to help him run for Governor. That's all some Lt. Governors have done. It doesn't have to be that way.

A good Lt. Governor can make a difference in the education our children receive, the help our senior citizens get and the jobs North Carolina depends upon for continued growth.

Carl Stewart's life is proof he will make a difference. As a mill worker he earned a scholarship to college. At Duke, he was elected President of the student body. As a member of the Legislature, he became the first person in over 100 years to be reelected Speaker of the House. The North Carolina Center for Public Policy Research said Carl Stewart was the Most Effective Legislator in North Carolina.

Sure, it's hard to care about who gets elected Lt. Governor with all the problems the world faces now, but it's not hard to care about the things a Lt. Governor can do.

The Lt. Governor's job can be important. . . if the Lt. Governor does his job.
