

Flu Shots Urged For Seniors

State health officials are urging senior citizens and people with chronic illnesses to get their flu shots now. Flu usually arrives in late fall and early winter, but immunization must be given well in advance for the immunity to have time to develop.

"It's particularly important people in the high risk group, generally people over 65 or those with chronic illnesses such as diabetes, heart, lung or kidney disease, to get their flu shots now," said Dr. J.N. MacCormack, chief of the North Carolina Dept. of Human Resources' Epidemiology Branch.

Flu is usually mild in children, young adults and middle-aged people who are healthy. It can be a life-threatening disease, however, for older adults and those with chronic illness because it lowers the body's resistance, making a person more susceptible to infections like pneumonia, one of the leading causes of death among people over 65.

DO IT FOR THE MONEY AND MORE.

BUY A NORTHWESTERN C.D. DO IT FOR THE MONEY. DO IT FOR YOUR SCHOOL. DO IT FOR A CHANCE TO GO TO THE FINAL FOUR.

It seems logical to most of us: you invest your money where it will earn the most.

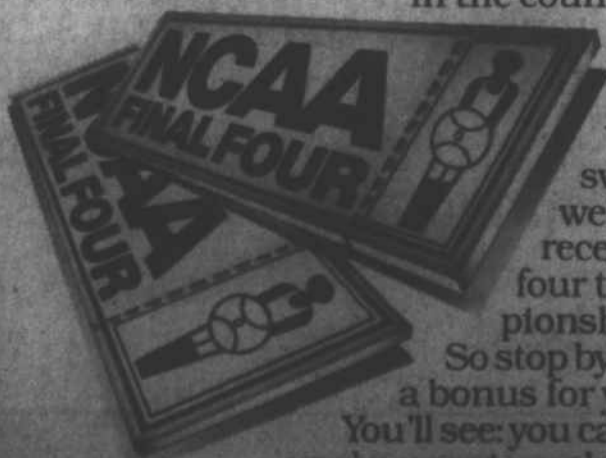

But, puzzling as it may seem, some people invest their money where it earns them a toaster. Or a TV set. "Gifts" that they end up paying for. In lost interest.

Northwestern customers, on the other hand, have always invested their money with us for one good reason: high interest. Interest so high that they can use it to buy their own toasters. Or TV sets. If that's what they want.

It's the same on Northwestern Certificates of Deposit. People who buy our C.D.'s get a great return. They get high interest and, on one-year to 10-year C.D.'s, interest that's compounded daily.

But it seems there are some people who still don't know — or perhaps care — just how well Northwestern's C.D.'s pay. So, for them, we came up with a couple of extra incentives. (Incentives that don't cost them a thing.)

Extra Incentive #1: Buy a new Northwestern C.D. and we'll give up to $50 to the college of your choice. Any college, anywhere in the country.

Extra Incentive #2: Buy a Northwestern C.D., and we'll enter you in our "Win Your Way to the Final Four" sweepstakes. On December 11 we'll have a drawing. The winner receives an all-expense-paid trip for four to the N.C.A.A. Basketball Championship in Lexington, Kentucky.

So stop by Northwestern. Ask about our Three-Point Play on C.D.'s: high interest, a bonus for your favorite school, plus a chance to go to the N.C.A.A. Final Four. You'll see: you can buy a Northwestern C.D. for lots of reasons. But, whatever your reasons, you're sure to make lots of money.

NORTHWESTERN'S HIGH-YIELD CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT.
Term	Minimum Deposit	Annual Rate	Annual Yield
91 Days	$500	9.25	9.576*
182 Days	$500	10.00	10.250*
1 year	$500	10.25	10.792
2 years	$500	10.50	11.069

Rates effective 11-6-84. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. *91 and 182 Day C.D. annualized yields assume reinvestment at indicated interest rate and are not compounded daily. 1-year through 10-year C.D.'s are stated with daily compounding.
