What are some of these ideals? But two important once follow:

Firstly, to have a happy, contented citizenship. And how is this ideal to be attained? By providing the best schools in order that every boy and girl may have the opportunity to provide himself and herself with the proper equipment for meeting life's battles. By extending the influence of the churches in order that every man, woman and child may be and becomes a model, upright citizen. By providing facilities by which a person may eajoy himself during leisure hours, and it is meant by this to enable one to have pure, legitiment being heavy.

THE NEW COUNTY

The proposition to establish a new county round about the town of Dunn and in the ounity immediately surrounding facilities by which a person may eajoy himself during leisure hours, and it is meant by this to enable one to have pure, legitiment has for some time been a matter of progress in the people of Dunn and in the ounity immediately surrounding. Within two or three weeks from the biggest and most important projets that has been undertaken for Cumberland County for many years. area of valuable land. The Fle Hill Drainage Company, incorporated under the drainage laws of North Carolina, passed in 1909, have charge of this big project, and will push the work with vigor.

What is called the Flea Hill Drainage District comprises 27,000 screw endon Bridge scross Caps Fear river at Fayetteville and runs north beside the river and east of the Raleigh road to near Wada, a distance of between seven and eight miles. Of this great area 22,000 acres of farming land will be effected and 5,000 scres of swamp land.

It is estimated that the increase production in the rich section of land drained will amount to at least one half million dollars a year. The soil is very fertile and gives splendid returns. One of the men who came to Fayetteville to investigate for prospective purchasers of the bands issued by the drainage company said that the land embraced in the district to be drained was as rich as any he
