L. HUBBEE POPE, Publisher.

Dunn, N. C. November 2nd, 1915.

The Weekly Review, published at Henson by J. A. McLean, made its first appearance last week. It is an eight-page six-column publication, is neat in appearance, and seems to be well patronized by the progressive merchants of that town. The first issue is highly creditable and a very interesting sheet.

The postoffice receipt here for the past month were the heaviest in the history of the office, amounting to $1,190.22. This is an increase of $220.93 over the corresponding period of 1914, which is strong evidence that Dunn has entirely recovered from the recent period of depression and is enjoying prosperity in the full sense of the word. An optimistic feeling pervades the town and community and everybody seems as happy as of yore. Business is booming and all is well.

The people of Grove township have organized themselves into a body known as the "Good Road Campaigners of Grove Township," and are putting forth every effort to carry the bond election for the purpose of building good roads. They are pursuing a course that will prove to be effective and there is little doubt but that they will accomplish what they have set out to do. They are proceeding along educational lines and will offend no one in their efforts to prove to the people why they should have better roads and the most active workers think they will carry the election without a great deal of opposition. Grove is an excellent township and the people of the county believe the voters will do the right thing on the day of election.

We are publishing an article in this issue, contributed by Mrs. T. I. H. Young, that should be read by all our citizens. "Woman's Work and Social Service" is the theme discussed. The ladies of the town are making an effort to organize a club that will tend to promote the best interests of the town and community and have secured the co-operation of Mrs. Hutt, of Raleigh. A woman of wide experience in this particular line of work, who will deliver an address at the graded school auditorium on the afternoon of Friday, November 10th. The Dispatch is glad to see the women taking a new interest in this work and will be glad to co-operate with them in their efforts to make Dunn a better town in which to live. The people as a whole should encourage the movement and Mrs. Hutt should address a large audience when she comes to Dunn.

Meeting of Harnett County Teachers

The purpose of the school authorities of Harnett county to make Friday, November 12th, a day of instruction and service for the cause of education throughout the county. The teachers and committeemen of the county are urged to be present. Any others who are interested in the educational work of the county should come. A program for the day is being arranged and will be published in full in the county papers next week. Some have already accepted places on the program. The following subjects will be discussed during the day:

"My Program for a Day," by Miss Gertrude Brooks. Miss Brooks is a successful teacher of wide experience in this and other states. She will deal chiefly with the one teacher school.

"Practical Discipline," by Supt. J. Martin of the Dunn schools. Mr. Martin is well qualified to give something that will be of service when it comes to discipline. He has taught in military schools and in towns located in mining sections of our country.

"The Best Plan for a New Teacher in a Rural School," by Mrs. J. H. Withers. Mrs. Withers needs no introduction to the people in many sections of Harnett. She is well trained and she knows the people of the county.

"The Union and Purpose of a Library," by Prof. J. E. Dowd, of Angler. Prof. Dowd is doing his best work in the county but he has already made a success in his work in other places. We are glad to have him discuss this important subject.

"A Successful Night School," by Prof. B. F. Dalton, of Duke. Prof. Dalton has a large class made up of both old and young. His experience enables him to give the people of the county something peculiarly interesting and helpful at this time.

"Bad Problems for Harnett Teachers," by Prof. Owen Odum, of Coates. Prof. Odum has been in the county for a number of years. His success as a teacher and worker qualifies him to be the right man for this subject.

"Teaching a Primary Class," by Miss Irvine Hoyster. Miss Hoyster is teaching in the Lillington Farm Life School and will ask a class of her pupils to be present and will illustrate her methods. Her work will be discussed and it is desired that those who wish to learn more about teaching small children will represent and take part in the discussion.

It is our purpose that those who attend the meeting divide themselves into three or more groups for this program. This part of the program will take place in the new school building in Lillington. The subjects being discussed in the different rooms will be designated so that the teachers can go where they think they can get the most good.

It is requested that all schools of the county close Friday, November 12th and that the teachers, committeemen and patrons come to Lillington for the day. Teachers who attend the meeting will receive their pay for the day. Those who do not attend will not receive pay unless they can give an acceptable excuse. One of the prominent men of the state has been invited to make an address. Notice for the program in full next week.—B. P. Gentry.

The esteemed Lumberton Robesonian is an optimist, it sights the rift in the clouds. It denies that the sixth congressional district, which has staged many thrillers, including a series of fake conventions, is longer known as the "bloody sixth." It calls it as the "balmy sixth." But why not the palmy sixth, estimated by the incessant and vigorous hand-shake?—Wilmington Dispatch.

Very Good, let's call it the 'palmy' sixth until after the next primary when at least four good men and true are going to get kicked down stairs; and then The Dispatch may rename it.—Lumberton Robesonian.

A Suggestion to Farmers.

Don't let the immediate high price of cotton divert your attention from sowing some grain, wheat, oats, rye and clovers. For the past two years our section has raised good wheat, many farmers as much as 49 bushels per acre. Now we have three good flour mills in the community and no trouble to get the wheat threshed and ground, so no excuse along that line. Then it pays to rotate the land, sowing grain and following it with peas, insures bread at home and more feed stock and a better way of improving the land without depending on buying of so much commercial fertilizer. Then aside from all these things it diversifies our crops and helps to make the farmer more independent and keep the price of cotton up. The most independent farmers in this section are men who have been raising their corn, wheat, oats, making their meat, and no buying feed stuff. They come to market and have some kind of produce to sell all the year around, and not depend alone on cotton and the money one time a year and that in the few months of the fall. Many of our farmers are paying their attention to improved stock, there are lots of nice hogs and fine cows all around here, but we can learn to keep them better and even have them feed and grain to feed them on. Some raised corn, wheat and oats will keep horses better than the ought kind of grain, that's a fact or I have tried it. Now is the time to get in the grain. Don't let the time slip, sow plenty of wheat and oats and you will be glad later on in the year.

Respectfully,
J. K. GRANTHAM

celebrates Her 78th Birthday. Mrs. Rachael Pearson, one of the oldest residents of the town, celebrated her 78th birthday last Tuesday at the home of her son, Mr. R. M. Pearson. The day was a most delightful one for Mrs. Pearson as most of her children and a number of grand children were present. Those present were: Mr. and David W. Pearson, of Waycross, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pearson, of Rocky Mount; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Pearson, of Med Springs; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearson, of Dunn, in the afternoon Mrs. Pearson left for Waycross, Ga., where she will spend some time with her son, Mr. David Pearson.

Peasants, Pigs and Profits.

"We have just completed a rather interesting experiment at the Edgecombe Test Farm," says Professor Van T. Gray, Chief of the Animal Industry Division. "In the experiment damaged peanuts were fed to determine their value in a ration for pigs. The work was inaugurated on the first of last March and closed on the first of October, the pigs being in the last for 199 days. Two lots were made, one of which was fed on a ration made up of two-thirds corn and one-third damaged peanuts, the other was fed on a ration of two-thirds corn and one-third wheat shorts. At the end of the test it was found that the damage done to the wheat shorts. One hundred pounds of gain was made by 190 pounds of corn and 95 pounds of peanuts, while 246 pounds of corn and 121 pounds of wheat shorts were required to make equal gain. When corn is valued at one dollar per bushel wheat shorts at $2 per ton, and peanuts at 25 cents per bushel, it cost $4.45 to make 100 pounds of pork when peanuts were used and $6.73 to make the same number of pounds when wheat shorts were used. "In the eastern section of the State there is each year a large amount of peanuts that is unfit for market, and this test shows that those nuts can be profitably used with hogs. The hogs fattened in this test sold for 12 1/2 cents per pound dressed. This is somewhat above the market price, but even when hogs sell at eight cents per pound, these damaged peanuts can be used with profit."—Extension Farm News.

Just the Right Present.

Don't take chances in the matter of Christmas presents. You don't want yours, like so many others, to be received with indifference or worse, and ten days after Christmas to be cast aside and forgotten. You take no such chances in giving the Youth's Companion for a year. Did you ever know of a home in which it came amiss, or of one in which it was not conspicuous on the holiday table or in some one's hands all through the year? It is worth while to make a gift of that sort, and it is worth while to receive it, too, for the Companion illustrates the best traits in American life in its stories and sketches, upholds the best standards in its articles and other contributions, and combines the practical and informing with the entertaining and blood-stirring. If you do not know the Companion as it is today, let us send you one or two current issues free, that you may thoroughly test the paper's quality. We will send you also the Forecast for 1916. Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1916 will receive free all the issues for the rest of 1915 and The Companion Home Calendar for 1916.
