Mrs. Lloyd Wade Entertains.

Mrs. J. Lloyd Wade was the charming hostess to the Thursday Afternoon Club, and additional guests, at her attractive home last week. The living room was a scene of spring loveliness with its profusion of beautiful white hydrangeas intermingled with green fern. Mrs. C. J. Smith led the meeting which proved to be very interesting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the roll called by Mrs. R. L. Godwin, each member responding by mentioning some current event. The subject for the afternoon was American Music.

A piano duet, Il Trouvaille, was rendered by Mesdames R. L. Godwin and Lloyd Wade. An interesting paper, "The rise of secular music in America," prepared by Mrs. J. Lloyd Wade, was read by Mrs. Nat Townsend. Mrs. John Fitzgerald, in her usual captivating manner, sang "Because." "A Poem" was read with much expression by Mrs. Clifford, and Mrs. I. Falson Hicks read a most instructive paper on "The growth of the orchestra in America." After the exchange of books, a delicious five course luncheon was served.

The members of the club in attendance were Mesdames J. C. Clifford, Falson Hicks, J. W. Fitzgerald, Jno. Thornton, Horace Freeman, J. W. Whitehead, H. O. Mattox, N. A. Townsend, Chas. Merry Dames Book Club.

One of the most interesting and entertaining social gatherings in town for quite a while was that of the Merry Dames Book Club on the afternoon of Tuesday, February twenty-ninth. The meeting was a guest of Mrs. C. D. Bain and it was at her very pleasant home that all the members of the organization save one and quite a few invited friends spent the very enjoyable occasion. Everything was resplendent with innumerable contributions to the pleasure of those present, all contrived by the "Boss Dams" of the Club, the hostess. It is impossible to convey definite ideas of the many incidents in which the guests participated from which they obtained great big lumps of pure merriment. The Club has the correct appellation, for a more jolly membership no organization possesses. What they can't do for fun, entertainment and instructiveness no other group of women need attempt. After the usual exchange of views concerning current events about the town and elsewhere, and the transaction of the business of the Club, a sweet course and crystallized pineapple were served. Beside the entire membership of the Club save one, the following were present: Misses Breeden and Gibson, of McColl, S. C., honor guests; Misses Viola McNeill, Mamie Stephens, Will Cooper, Balle McColman, Pauline Herring, Iva Pearson; Mesdames H. O. Mattox, H. S. Freeman, B. O. Townsend, J. W. Whitehead Chas. Highsmith.

SPORT CLOTHES FROM DAWN TILL DUSK

An Economical and Comfortable Notion for Summer; Bright Colors Chic and Harmonious.

New York, March 7th.—If all productions prove true the coming summer should be a most economical one for the family with daughters. Fashion says: "Sport clothes from dawn till dusk, and after dark, as simple or as elaborate an evening frock as the fancy demands." Besides being decidedly practical and money-saving, this regime should be comforting and comfortable to a degree; just stop for a moment and consider how many puzzled moments will be saved, and how many times one will be spared that eternal question, "what shall I wear to-day?" A good supply of smart linen blouses, a sport skirt or two, with a chic sport coat, and one's wardrobe troubles are solved during daylight hours after. It is a simple matter to select a dainty dance or dinner dress of net, or one of the exquisite summer fabrics now in favor, and don it in perfect peace.

One must wonder at the sudden enthusiasm for out-of-door sports being shown by the American girl this season; we have been gradually coming to it, but this year it looks as if we were one and all to take up sport for all that it is worth, or at least to look as if we adored tennis, golf, boating, swimming and the numberless other excuses for getting out-of-doors.

Some Charming Effects.

We have been gradually accustoming ourselves to the vivid reds, yellows, greens, and the various startling plaids and stripes which blend so effectively and harmoniously with the blue skies, and green grass of the summer fields, the mountains and aport coats of other materials will be worn with all types of frock this summer; for in spite of the popularity of the plain blouse and skirt, there are any number of attractive tub frocks being shown just now, and I am quite sure that they will be worn quite as much as in seasons more fascinating than for many a year. This is another practical and economical notion.

Charming Sport Blouses.

Simplicity of cut, combined with the daintiest possible of linen, voile, organza, or tub silk is the recipe for the most popular of the summer blouses, to wear with tailored suit, sport coat, or separate skirt.

the shores, where some of us are fortunate enough to dream the summer through, and others are privileged to spend a playtime week or two.

Among the smartest of the new sport suits are many of silk jersey, or as it is perhaps more generally known, Italian silk. These suits are often made with coat of a plain color, emerald green, for instance, worn with a smart short skirt of black and white stripes. White or cream serge is a favorite, combined with the coat of scarlet, emerald, or bright blue. The coat is usuallyuffed, colored and belted with the material. Sometimes one sees a suit of silk with bits of plain material. The silk jersey coats are

BARNES & HOLLIDAY ROBBED

The Barnes & Holliday stores were broken into and robbed last night. The burglar entered at one of the alley windows after he had cut the iron rods protecting the window with plyers stolen from June Johnson's blacksmith shop. The plyers were not removed from the scene and were recognized this morning by Mr. Johnson. More than a hundred dollars worth of pistols and cartridges were taken from the store. The street lights were not burning last night and the town was in total darkness with the exception of the light furnished from stores and residences, which gave the burglars an excellent opportunity to do their work. No one has been arrested yet.

ISAC WILLIAM TAYLOR

Whereas, our Supreme Grand Master in His infinite goodness and wisdom has seen fit to summon to that Celestial Lodge above our worthy and esteemed brother, Isaac William Taylor, therefore, be it resolved:

That while we bow in humble submission to the will of the Supreme Architect of the universe, we do not the less mourn for our brother. He was ever faithful and true to his lodge, active and zealous in his work as a Mason and always ready to advance the interests of the order. We cherish his memory for his noble qualities of heart, his true friendship and his faithfulness to his brethren.

We sympathize with the stricken family and the mourning friends and commend to the Great Comforter above who doeth all things for the best.

And be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this lodge; that a copy be forwarded to the family of the deceased; and also to the Orphan's Friend and Masonic Journal with a request to publish same.

of their honeymoon at the Hotel Hazard in this city and will depart for Dunn this morning. The bride, formerly Miss Marjorie Debnam, 18, daughter of L. D. Debnam, banker, and prominent business man of Selma, N. C., about 25 miles from Dunn. When Mr. Debnam went to Washington on Thursday he was accompanied by his pretty dark-eyed daughter, Mr. Archibald R. Hooks, 22, cotton buyer of Dunn, N. C. had in some mysterious way learned of the journey and arrived in Washington about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. In an equally strange manner Mr. Hooks learned where Mr. Debnam and his daughter were stopping. The rest seemed easy, but it was not so easy as it seemed. While the Selma, N. C. banker was engrossed in business affairs the young couple "slipped over" to Alexandria. Under the laws of Virginia both parties to a marriage contract must have arrived at the age of 21. The license clerk was sympathetic, however, and suggested Rockville, Washington's other Gretna Green. When the young couple returned to this city late in the afternoon and the bridegroom proudly wrote on the hotel register "A. R. Hooks and Mrs. Hooks, Dunn, N. C.," it was evident that a newly wed held the pen and the romance soon unfolded.—Washington Post.

Large Amount of Available Funds For Street Improvement.

Mr. D. C. Fussell, president of the Bank of Cape Fear, appeared before the commissioners at their regular meeting last night and offered to lend the town $50,000 for twenty years, to improve the streets of the city. He told them the money was ready to be placed to their credit at any time, the notes to bear 5 1/4 per cent interest. It seems the proposition of the Bank of Cape Fear is liberal enough, provided the town wants to spend the money in this way at this time. It is a big proposition, however, and speaks well for a banking institution in a town the size of Dunn.

WHAT MANNER OF TALKERS ARE THESE?

Smithfield, March 5.—Spectacles at fifty and one hundred dollars each are being offered for sale in Johnston county, by a couple of men who pretend to be expert oculists. They are from some town north and travel through the country in any suitable conveyance. There are two and from the way they have talked to some of the people they are not only experts in oculism, but also in talking. One man was taken in for $50 dollars, and another one was on the point to be taken for one hundred dollars when he thought that one hundred dollars was too much to put in a pair of spectacles, and refused to buy the objects. The people are debating what kind of men these are and it is possible that some measures will be taken to prevent them from traveling any further.
